BOAST NOW ABOUT PROHIBITION POLL, WILL WARNS WETS

(Special To The News)
BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., March 14.—The wet papers better get their edit orials in this week.

I see this morning by the "American Ballot Box Weekly" that the national poll from just a few states shows the "repeal of the amendment" leads by 38,000. Thirty-one thousand of this is due to New York City and the other to Hoboken, New Jersey and Chicago.

But boy, wait till the returns from America start coming in. Yours.

WILL.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

On the bill board of the Y. W. C. A. there is a poster which certainly is a good suggestion. The poster is headed "Welcome, friend, to New Castle, Penna." Then, there is this paragraph—"I live in New Castle because I like it. Because it is a good town, with rich future prospects. Because it has fine churches, schools and people. Because work conditions are excellent. In short, I am proud and happy to be a resident of New Castle, Pennsylvania."

Sol Davis told us of a very interesting sight Thursday. There was a black cat and her two coal black kittens on one side of North street and the mother very anxious to get across to the other side. Traffic was rather heavy but the wise old mother took one over first, that is, guided it over in safety. Then her problem was to keep the one taken over from coming back while she took the other. She finally succeeded. There was one thing she did, however, that might be a lesson to some people, whenever a car came she always piloted her offspring in a hurry back to the starting point instead of going on across the street.

The birds are coming in flocks now. It seems, a half dozen robins were holding a jamboree in Pa Newc's back yard this morning. Singing for their breakfast, I guess.

A lovely red bird was singing in a tree in front of Pa Newc's last evening. Several red birds have been reported about town. Seems as if the birds know it will soon be warm here.

There was a beautiful sunrise this morning—looked a lot like spring had arrived even though the atmosphere was cold.

Just take a squint at Will Rogers' philosophy today, before you get too enthusiastic about this wet and dry poll business.

A rather peculiar incident happened in front of The News last night. Two young ladies riding in a large car were looking for parking space on Mercer street. Not finding space the two stepped from the car and attempted to push a car to make room for their vehicle. They found the car locked. Finding this futile they got in the car again and backed into another car and in this way managed to find a parking space until they came back. Women are certainly clever these days.

Pa Newc observed a chic looking young lady sitting in a car bearing a

VERDICT IN GRIMM CASE; FIRST DEGREE; LIFE IMPRISONMENT

Jury Brings In Verdict At 12:30 O'Clock This Morning

TOOK CASE ABOUT 2:45 P. M. THURSDAY

Three Other Youths Face Same Charge As That Against Grimm

"Guilty of murder in the first degree with life imprisonment," was the verdict returned by the jury in the case of William Grimm, charged with the murder of Clark Rea, Neshannock township bachelor. The verdict was returned in Court Room No. 2 shortly after midnight this morning.

The case was given to the jury about 2:45 Thursday afternoon after a charge by Judge Chambers in which he pointed out the law relative to murders committed during the commission of a robbery. Judge Chambers' charge was very clear, particularly as to the point that all persons concerned in a robbery where a murder is committed, are equally guilty.

All Equally Guilty

It does not matter under the law, whether the person on trial actually fired the shot that causes death, he pointed out. The mere fact that he is with others in the commission of a robbery, places the responsibility upon him for all that happens during that robbery.

In the case tried the testimony for the commonwealth and the testimony of the defendant himself, showed that the murder was committed during a robbery.

From reports heard this morning it appears that the jury was unanimous on the point of first degree murder, only difference of opinion being over the life imprisonment or the death penalty.

Ten For Life

It had been learned that after the jury retired the case was discussed for a short time and then a ballot taken. On the first ballot it is reported there were ten for murder.

LONDON, March 14.—Thrown overboard in a frantic attempt to save the five-power naval disarmament conference from failure, the 1,200,000-ton parity agreement between the United States and Great Britain went into the discard today.

While the principle of parity between the two English-speaking naval powers will be maintained, the level will be considerably higher than that agreed upon tentatively some weeks ago.

According to present indications the figure will be nearer 1,300,000 tons, representing an increase over the ten-

Sheriff Says Error Made In Printing Of Juror's Cards

Through a typographical error, the jury cards sent out by Frank Johnston for the jurors of March 17th, were printed as March 10. These were yellow cards. Immediately upon finding the error the sheriff sent out a second set of cards properly printed, these being dark blue. Jurors who have been sent two cards will understand why the second set.

Hoover Is Told Tariff Work Is About Finished

Leaders Inform President Hoover Tariff Bill Should Be Enacted By End Of Next Week

Insurgent-Coalition Ready To Admit Defeat In Jousts With Grundy Alliance

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Battered and groggy from repeated impacts of the new Grundy high tariff alliance the remains of the Insurgent-Coalition in the senate prepared today for their last stand—an attempt to reduce the duties on hides and leather.

So confident is the new alliance that Senators Watson of Indiana, Republican floor leader, and McNary (D) of Oregon, assistant leader, last night informed President Hoover that the long pending bill would be passed by the end of next week.

Machine Rides High

Even the most optimistic of the old Insurgent-coalition see no chance to stop the Grundy machine in the hides and leather battle.

Yesterday was one series of defeats for the old Insurgent-coalition, starting with sugar and cement and going down the line to rayon, the last measure voted upon. An attempt to reduce the duty on rayon from 45 to 40 cents a pound was lost by a 32 to 30 vote.

Prior to the rayon vote the Grundy machine had voted 32 to 29 to place a 15 per cent ad valorem on all cotton cloth containing more than 15 per cent wool under the higher wool tariffs. This had been bitterly fought by Senator Walsh (D) of Massachusetts.

Although Grundy's two amendments—pig iron and aluminum—were beaten on the floor he steam rollered through all the others that he was interested in. Administration and coalition leaders alike pointed out that the Pennsylvania still had an ace in the hole for when the bill goes to conference he is more than likely to see his amendments inserted.

SPECULATE ON STOCK COLLAPSE

Expect About $2,400,000 To Filter Into Treasury From Citizens Of Nation

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 14.—American taxpayers have until Saturday midnight to get their returns on 1929 incomes into the hands of internal revenue collectors or in the mail.

Treasury experts today were relying on an increase of more than ten percent in the corporation tax to offset a possible loss in individual taxes resulting from the collapse of speculative stock values.

Information obtained indicated that corporations had an exceedingly prosperous year in 1929, despite the recession in the closing months, and exceeded income records of the year before.

WITNESSES SHOW CAR ON GARDNER VIADUCT; LATER IN MONACA, PA.

Two Men And Boy With Irene When She Stopped in Restaurant at Monaca on December 27. Second Man Believed Tom Crawford — Dague and Mrs. Schroeder Again Identified by Witnesses — Westerners May Take Stand Today.

With the case against Irene Schroeder for the murder of Brady Paul, going into the last day of the first week of the trial, the commonwealth seems to have its case in chief about in. The main pegs upon which they hope to hang a first degree conviction have been driven, and while there is much more testimony to be offered it may be classed as secondary or buttressing evidence.

Friday evening's session brought to the stand witnesses who identified the defendant, Irene Schroeder and Glenn Dague at various points on their flight from New Castle, one on the viaduct leading out to the Beaver Falls road, one in Monaca, Pa., on the trip towards Wheeling, W. Va. Another witness, E. H. Methady of St. Louis, testified that the car in which they were riding when Brady Paul was shot, was his car that had been stolen. The balance of the session was taken up largely by the introduction and admission of exhibits in the case.

Western Witnesses Next.

The indications are that today's testimony will include William Kiessling, St. Louis policeman who escaped death in a gun battle with Irene and her pals, Sheriff Charles Wright of Phoenix, Arizona, Hans Kuhr of Phoenix and the two cell mates of Irene.

Friday night's testimony lacked the color and dramatic tinge that former sessions did, but it was most important to the commonwealth's case. One fact was developed that seems to have located the missing second man in the party, thought to have been Tom Crawford, brother of Irene.

He was in the car on the Butler road on December 27th, when Brady Paul was shot and between there and Adams street where Ray Horton's car was stolen he disappears.

Solomon Waldman's testimony was not quite definite enough to establish the fact that Crawford was in the car when it passed over the Seventh ward viaduct, but Mrs. Beryl Miller, restaurant keeper of Monaca testified that Irene, Donnie and two men were in her restaurant between four and five o'clock on the afternoon of December 27th. Her description of the second man tallies with the description of him in Butler and on the Butler road, and either he was picked up at Irene and Glenn's or he slipped into the car while Horton's back was turned as he was being relieved of his money.

The loss was estimated at between $600,000 and $1,000,000.

Dague was brought into court and was identified by Horton.

Miss Elsie W. Nickum was called and testified as to the theft of Ray Horton's automobile.

She described how she was on her way home for lunch on December 27 with Mr. Horton, leaving from the Blair Strip Steel Company. About 12 o'clock they pulled out of the driveway, a chevrolet coach passed them.

Women To Keep America Dry

Raymond Robins Says Women Will Keep 18th Amendment Intact

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Men put the 18th amendment into the constitution and women will keep it there.

Col. Raymond Robins, social economist, declared today before the house judiciary committee that he appears as one of the dry witnesses to refute the mountain of testimony concerning prohibition's failure yet to be presented by the committee by the wets.

All indications seem to point to the defense getting started about Monday afternoon. It is doubtful if the witnesses yet left for the commonwealth will be able to get all their testimony in by adjournment this afternoon and it probably will not be concluded before Monday at noon. This is purely conjecture and may not be borne out by the subsequent events.

The testimony presented on Friday evening follows:

INTERESTING TALK
FOR L. A. B. CLUB

One of the most delightful parties of the season was held at the Elks Thursday evening when Mrs. Betty Sturdy entertained at a 6 o'clock dinner in honor of her officers of the year. The New Castle Chapter No. 105 Order of the Eastern Star, Mrs. Capitol Biles, Mrs. Anne Melvin, and Mrs. Anna French Dr. and Mrs. J. V. Flaherty, Mrs. Anna Wagner and Mrs. Elizabeth Wigand were the special guests of the occasion.

Dinner was served in the private dining room, at a table beautifully decorated in pastel hues, with a specially designed tulip forming the centerpiece. Miniature tulips of the same artistic design in delicate pink were placed at each guest's place, and tall silver "rock-cut" crystal candle sticks trimmed with sterling silver held in the same kind of holders tied with bows. Tulle made a most attractive setting.

After dinner, Mrs. W. H. Martin, in behalf of the officers presented Mrs. Sturdy with a shower of beautiful handkerchiefs. Miss Anna Jenkins, a bride of recent date, received a beautiful bridge lamp. A period of bridge followed, which was highly enjoyed, with prizes for honors being awarded to Mrs. Margaret Gibson, Mrs. Anna Wagner and Mrs. Margaret Brinton.

EPPWORTH CLASS MEETS.

Members of the Eppworth Bible class were entertained for their March meeting in the home of Mrs. F. H. Cypher, 411 Boyles avenue, Thursday evening. Mrs. J. C. McMichaels presided at the business session after which an entertaining program was presented, with Mrs. A. G. Marshall presenting a number of readings and novel games were played.

A dainty lunch with clever appointments carried out in tones of green and white was served to 42 members by the hostess with Mrs. G. M. Lusk, Mrs. A. C. Lusk, Mrs. N. W. Calderwood, Mrs. L. D. Nelson and Mrs. C. M. Cypher as aides.

Mrs. R. A. Stitzinger, Croton Avenue, will be hostess to the members April 10.

O. & P. CLUB.

The O. & P. club was entertained Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Edward Ward on East North street. The guests of the occasion numbered 26 and the diversions of the evening were cards and games of various kinds. At a seasonable hour dainty refreshments were served by the hostess, who was assisted by her daughters, Mrs. Vanus and Miss Lenora Ward.

WEDDING NUPTIALS

A pretty wedding was solemnized Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Abe Levine of Leasure avenue, when Hazel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Rosenblum of Butler, Pa., became the bride of Lawrence Marks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Marks of New York City, with Rabbi J. B. Menkes officiating.

The home was beautifully decorated with palms and ferns banked around the room, presenting a pleasing background.

The bride was attractive in a gown of ivory chiffon trimmed with duchess and rose point lace, carried an arm bouquet of orchids.

The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Abe Levine.

Following the ceremony, a tempting buffet lunch was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Marks left immediately for an extended motor trip.

East Side Social Club.

Mrs. George Black, North street, was a charming hostess to the members of the East Side Social club Thursday evening when they entertained their husbands. Music and 500 featured the evening hours, four tables being in play and high scores were held by Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Nicinolson, Mrs. D. H. Warnock and Earl White, for which they were awarded lovely prizes. Mrs. Cecil Gordon was received as a new member.

A sumptuous repast was served by the hostess at the close of play and she was assisted in serving by Mrs. Carl Black and Mrs. Earl White. A color scheme of green and white was cleverly carried out in appointments and menu.

Mrs. C. S. Black, Sampson street, will be hostess to the club April 3 at a chicken dinner.

Open Door Class Entertained.

The Open Door class of the Third United Presbyterian church was entertained Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Nowak 1019 Beckford street.

During the business session officers were elected for the coming church year. Merritt Reynolds was chosen president; George Kuder, vice president; Merritt Reynolds, secretary; Mrs. Edward Millison, assistant secretary, and Mrs. Carl Nowak, treasurer.

At the conclusion of the business session games and music were enjoyed and at a late hour a dainty repast was served by the hostess.

Mrs. Anna Rowland and Mrs. May Young were special guests of the team.

C. S. C. Club

Members of the C. S. C. club gave a St. Patrick's party in the Duca Deli Abruzzi hall Wednesday evening. About seventy-five guests were present. Dancing was the pastime of the evening. Vocal selections were rendered by Francis DeSantis, Helen Ross and Andy DiLorenzo.

At a seasonable hour refreshments were served, green and white tones were carried out in serving as they were used effectively in decorating the hall. Refreshments were served by the hostesses with Mrs. Clyde Kennedy, Mrs. Ralph Lerner and Mrs. J. P. Prioletti as their aids. Those in charge of the affair were Miss Ida and Clara Prioletti, Marie and Rose Pavia, Mrs. Arthur Prioletti, Anna Morgan, Lena Malls and Alice Massaro.

There were 12 members present and the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Burdette and daughter Phyllis of Sharpsville, Pa.

MISPLACING THE BLAME

WHEN Senator Wagner, of New York, attacked President Hoover for the government's failure to have at hand statistics on seasonal unemployment, he was shooting at the wrong bird. Congress is his prey.

Recent governmental history vindicates the executive branch while placing full responsibility upon the legislature. In 1921 Herbert Hoover, as chairman of the national conference on unemployment, named a committee to draft recommendations to investigate "business cycles" and their cause and control.

Chief among the recommendations of that committee was a proposal that congress pass the necessary legislation for the compilation of data on unemployment.

Nine years have passed and what has congress done? Nothing. In fact the executive branch of the government is the only one that has done anything about the present siege of unemployment.

As usual, congress has adopted the philosophy of the man whose roof leaks. When it rains he cannot fix it and when it shines there is no need to fix it.

Shortly after that 1921 report was made business began to recover and congress blindly assumed that prosperity had become perpetual. The present slump found congress asleep with the job untouched.

THE PRESIDENT TO THE BOYS OF AMERICA

In his address at the dinner given by the Boy Scouts of America to inaugurate a five-year expansion program, President Hoover developed part of his philosophy of life. He asserted that the scout ideals furnished the solution of what we want to call "the boy problem," and that they were a powerful agency in guiding the first steps of democracy. His tribute to the organization, which is now twenty years old, was well merited. All will agree with him that it has opened the portals of adventure for the boy, has taught him the joys of nature, the value of discipline and of unity of effort and the democracy of play. Mr. Hoover well says: "The priceless treasure of boyhood is his endless enthusiasm, his store of high idealism and his fragrant hopes. His is the plastic period when indelible impressions must be made if we are to continue a successful democracy."

The importance of this and similar organizations lies in the fact that the boys of today are to be the men of tomorrow. If they begin right, they are apt to end well. The president feels that, if the principles which dominate the Boy Scouts would animate all, we should have a better class of citizens and consequently better government. In the course of his remarks he said: "The idea that the Republic was created for the benefit of the individual is a mockery that must be eradicated at the first dawn of understanding." This bare statement is likely to cause some controversy. The republic and the people are synonymous terms; and in any successful form of government, particularly in a democracy, there must be concessions; but it can hardly be urged that it is necessary for the individual to give up all his rights. Everybody, of course, must give up something for the general good. The old slogan puts this expressively, "One for all and all for one."

President Hoover performs a public service in his encouragement of the Boy Scouts. They now have a membership of one million, and the distinguished speaker was correct when he said we had the raw material for ten million more.

BETTER BUSINESS ETHICS

It is a wholesome sign of the times that business and professional men are much concerned over the ethics of their own particular occupations. Many trade associations, service clubs and other commercial bodies have committees on business standards and printed codes of ethics to guide their members. Colleges and universities offer lecture courses on the subject, books are being written on it and there are organizations dedicated to the improvement of the standards of business conduct.

However, the public is not overly impressed by mere organization or printed codes, standards and platforms. It judges the ethics of a business by the ethics of the individual members of that business. It does not buy goods from trade associations, but from individual concerns. What really matters is not the publicly announced and purposely high-sounding and sonorous code of an impersonal association, but the actual everyday conduct of the individual business man, firm and corporation.

But there is not a consumer who has not convinced himself by actual experience that merchants, especially, are doing more than talking about service. Modern business has learned that "honesty is the best policy" and that "he profits most who serves best." And it matters little to the consumer whether business is rendering better service for purely selfish reasons or because it has become morally conscious.

Profits are a worthy, honorable goal, but if they are the only aim of business, then the commercial system is doomed. And it follows naturally that, since the commercial system shows no evidence of decay, profits are not the one and only goal of modern business.

Still, the word "sweetie" sounds about as good as "sulter."

No, psittacosis isn't the same disease as Chicago politicosis.

Progress is a great thing, but it certainly messes up the streets.

The ideal man, it seems, is always married to some other woman.

Don't exercise on a full stomach. If you must exercise, do it standing.

All About Wheat.
Something About Goats.
Rye And Corn.
And Uncle Sam's Experiment.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 13.
The government worries about prohibition, about what England, France and Japan will do in the way of permitting us to build ships and about some other things. It ought to worry about WHEAT.

It is no longer a question of pleasing the farmer or holding farm votes for the Republicans. It is a question affecting the business of the United States, interests of all the business men, the welfare of all the workers.

Facts and figures follow from reliable sources. Government and business men are invited to consider them and predict the final result of the government's attempt to corner wheat, buying it for more than the world's market price and storing it.

This country, last week, exported 360,000 bushels of wheat. Canada last week exported 4,700,000 bushels.

Canadians have turned their wheat into cash. Our government takes the farmer's wheat and turns it into the grain elevators to be stored, to increase the unsold "carry over".

The government fears that a serious slump in wheat prices might have a bad effect on general business.

More important is the possibility that artificially holding up wheat prices may in the end produce disaster.

If government continues to buy at prices that make wheat exportation impossible, July first, with the crop of winter wheat ready for storage, will find no empty elevators to hold it.

The grain elevators in the United States are practically full now.

Nobody will buy wheat from the farmers in July when he has no place to store the wheat, and those that are really pessimistic say that when July comes it won't be a question of price, but a question of wheat being UN-SALABLE.

May wheat sold in Chicago Wednesday at a price a fractionally higher than Liverpool's price which controls the world's wheat markets.

Between Chicago and Liverpool there is a transportation charge of from 15 to 18 cents a bushel.

The government is holding back American wheat is turning over the wheat markets of the world to the Argentine, Russia and Canada.

Unless government can get rid of the wheat it is storing, and others are storing, what will be done with the July crop, where will it be stored, how will it be sold?

Some men that understand grain, invited to join the grain board, declined. They knew what would happen.

In Minneapolis the government buys from farm cooperatives for $1.25 a bushel, against a normal price of $1.01 a bushel. In Kansas City the government is paying $1.15 a bushel, normal price $1.

United States elevators now hold 155,000,000 bushels of wheat, biggest storage in history.

Russia thinks she can abolish all bread from farm cooperatives for $1.25 a bushel, against a normal price of $1.01 a bushel.

Considering how often one bumps you from behind, it's strange no one is named Nemesis. Nemesis got you in the end.

Fire Season In Forests Nears

March Winds, With Absence
Of Snow, Dry Up
Ground Fast

HARRISBURG, March 14.—Drying March winds and the general absence of a blanket of snow throughout Pennsylvania are a reminder that the spring forest fire season is just around the corner and may open up earlier than usual this year, according to a statement by Charles E. Dorworth, Secretary of the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters.

The forest fire season in Pennsylvania ordinarily gets under way in March, although most of the spring fires are encountered in April. "Regardless of how early or late the serious period of fire hazard may be," said Secretary Dorworth, "it is the function of this department to be prepared to meet it, and aside from plans to intensify and improve the fire fighting organization and equipment in every possible way, the co-operation of the general public is not to be overlooked."

"With the complete co-operation of the public, the elimination of forest fires in Pennsylvania can be greatly simplified. Without this cooperation, or to the degree that it is absent, difficulty and discouragement will always be present. Furthermore, it is the people after all who can do more than any other agency to reduce the cost or practically eliminate it."

The benefits of reducing forest fires go much further than the saving of funds to the Commonwealth, just as forest protection does much more than guarantee an adequate supply of wood for our people. Productive forests and more home grown timber mean millions of dollars to our wood-using industries, more employment for our people and vastly increased benefits to the general welfare.

"The forest problem in Pennsylvania is in many ways a problem of our land usage. Besides hundreds of acres of former farm land abandoned during the past decade and being reclaimed by trees, there are immense areas of once devastated mountain lands on which the forests are being restored by reduction of fires and extension of planting.

"Our forests are the home, the protection, and the feeding grounds of a wonderful variety of wild life, and well protected forests mean better hunting and better fishing.

The inestimable value of our forested areas for health and recreation must be safeguarded by vigilant control of fires. State-wide forest protection means that our water supplies will be safeguarded and that the beauty spots and outdoor play places in Penn's Woods will be protected for all our citizens, as well as for the Nation's tourists who are visiting Pennsylvania in increasing numbers."

helping bankers, other financial institutions and even individual stock speculators, through the Federal Reserve.

When money is needed the Federal Reserve bank prints it, lends it to banks, on commercial paper, at a reasonable rate, and the banks make whatever they can, by re-lending.

That is high finance. Helping the financiers, the government understands, but helping farmers by buying their wheat, goats' hair, etc., when they can't sell to anybody else, is something new.

The grain elevators are full now.

On July 1 when the winter wheat crop comes, what will be done with it?

Government might say "go ahead and sell it for whatever you can get, abroad, and I will pay what you lose."

But that would be dumping, and Europe probably would not allow it.

Britain would not let Canada's wheat farmers be ruined by United States dumping.

On July first this country will have 250,000,000 bushels of wheat "carry over" from 1928 to 1929.

That is 50 per cent more than a year's normal export.

Government may have a plan that will take care of 250,000,000 bushels

"carry over," plus the winter wheat crop when July first comes, but the plan has not been published.

Those familiar with wheat and other grain markets, remember that Pattee and others that were indicted for attempting to do secretly what the government is now doing openly. They wonder what the government solution of the problem will be and they worry about it.

We produce more wheat than we can use. We must sell it abroad sooner or later.

The whole world knows that we are buying and storing it artificially, and knows also that barring miracles, it should be able to buy American wheat at its own price for the next two or three years.

What will be the effect of that situation?

This is a good deal about wheat, but what is mere discussion today may be a serious part of the American problem next July, and cause the problems of our little statesmen sent to England, and our earnest drys and wetts, to seem unimportant.

WITNESS TELLS JURY HOW IRENE AND DAGUE TOOK AUTO FROM HIM

Says Mrs. Schroeder Covered Him With Gun and Took His Pocketbook as Well as Car — Jury Women Sob as Mrs. Crowl Tells of Dying Moments of Corporal Brady Paul.

Raymond Horton faced the Trigger Blond this afternoon for the second time in his life. The first time they were face to face, a long barrelled, blue steel revolver was between them, with Irene Schroeder holding the butt end. Today they faced each other again, but this time Horton was in the witness chair of Lawrence county court room number one looking down at the counsel table where Irene sat, battling for her life for the murder of Corporal Brady Paul.

Sitting there, facing the woman who held him up, robbed him of his purse and drove away in his shiny roadster, Horton told the court and jury the story of the hold up. As he concluded his testimony, Attorney Margiotti said "and have you seen that woman who held you up?" Pointing to Irene Schroeder, Horton said "there she is."

Mrs. Crowl Testifies of Paul's Death

One piece of testimony offered this afternoon made a very apparent impression upon the jury. It was the testimony of Mrs. John A. Crowl, wife of the owner of the Colonial Hotel where the State Highway Patrol is headquartered.

Brady Paul lived in the Colonial Hotel and like the rest of the young men in the state forces, was a friend of the Crowl family. When she heard of his shooting, Mrs. Crowl rushed to the Jameson Memorial Hospital and was with him when he passed away.

As she told the jury of his request that she (Mrs. Crowl) kiss his mother for him, as she told them of his last words, "tell the boys I did my duty" the court room was the quietest it has been since the opening of the trial. Tears were in the eyes of one of the women jurors, and handkerchiefs were used profusely in the audience. Perhaps the testimony of Mrs. Crowl was the kind that does not bear repetition in a case for the defense said quietly as she finished, "no questions."

Night Session

Another night session was ordered by Judge R. Lawrence Hildebrand for tonight although not before he had asked the opinion of the jury in the matter. All of them nodded their heads and at seven o'clock the long grind is to continue. It will probably last until 9:30 or 9:45. Hard work seems to be the delight of Judge Hildebrand and for the third time this week the case will be carried on under the chandeliers.

As the supper recess was taken, the jury was taken out to the back of the court house and inspected the Death Car driven by Glenn Dague on December 27th when Brady Paul was murdered. The Commonwealth wished to have the jury familiar with the appearance of the car, the location of the bullet holes and asked that the car be brought to the court house for this purpose. No objection was offered by the defense and the car was inspected.

The testimony of the afternoon session follows:

Afternoon Session.

George Book was called at the opening of the afternoon session.

Q. When you stopped your car the first and second time was the motor running?

A. Yes.

Q. Does it make any noise?

A. Plenty.

Dr. Paul Wilson was called but did not answer. Dr. Loyal Wilson also was called but was not in the room.

At this point the Commonwealth asked that the jury be permitted to see the Chevrolet car which figures in the case.

Motion granted and the jury will be taken down to see it later.

Howard Kelley.

Howard Kelley, an undertaker, was called. Questioned by Powers.

Q. Did you know Brady Paul?

A. I did.

Q. What happened on Dec. 27?

A. I just saw him some time after 12 o'clock. I saw Brady Paul on the seat of George Book's truck. Book came into the office and after talking to him I told Charles Mills, our driver, to get the ambulance. I went to the truck and helped him to the ground. A passerby helped me carry him into the office and I loosened his clothes. We put him on a cot, carried him to the ambulance and took him to the Jameson Memorial Hospital. Paul Kelley, myself and the driver, Charles Mills, were in the ambulance. We took him into the operating room. He asked me to do something to relieve the pain. Dr. Kaplan came in and we took Paul's clothes off. I found a bullet hole in his abdomen and one in his back. I found the bullet against his underwear. Mrs. Costello, a nurse, gave him a hypodermic and then Dr. Wilson came in and removed another bullet from his arm.

Q. How long did you stay there? A. Until he died at 12:55 o'clock.

Q. What did you do with the bullets?

A. Kept them.

Q. What size were the bullets?

A. The one from the arm was marked and the other looked almost perfect.

Cross examined by Powell.

Q. Was Brady Paul unconscious when you got him from the truck?

A. No.

Q. Did he know Mrs. Crowl when she came into the hospital?

A. Yes.

Q. Did he appear to you to appreciate the fact that death was impending?

Objected to and withdrawn.

Q. You did not hear him say that it would be his end?

Objected to and withdrawn.

Miss Esther Stewart.

Miss Esther Stewart was called.

Q. Did you see Officer Moore that day?

A. Yes, I did.
Cross examined by Powell.

Q. What was his condition?
A. He was dazed.

Q. Where was he taken?
A. To the Colonial Hotel.

Mrs. John A. Crowl.
Mrs. John A. Crowl, wife of the owner of the Colonial Hotel, was called.

Q. Was the motor patrol and state police stationed at your place December 27?
A. Yes.

Q. Did you know Brady Paul and Ernest Moore?
A. Yes.

Q. Did they get a telephone call on December 27?
A. Yes.

Q. Did you learn later where Brady Paul was?
A. Yes. In the hospital.

Q. Did you see him then?
A. Yes.

With Paul When He Died
With Paul When He Died

Q. Were you there when he died?
A. I was.

Q. How close to him was you?
A. Right next to him.

Q. What did you say to him?
A. I took hold of Paul's hand and asked him if he knew me. He said yes, and that he was glad I was there when he was dying. He asked me to get him something for his pain. He looked at me again and said, Mollie, I am dying. Tell the boys I did my duty. I did the best I could. Dr. Kaplan came in and gave him aid. Then Brady said, Mollie you'll soon see me, kiss her goodbye for me. I asked Dr. Kaplan if there wasn't something to be done and he shook his head. Paul's breath was coming with difficulty.

Q. Were the remarks tell the boys, I did my duty, used more than once?
A. I don't remember.

Q. How long did you stay in the hospital?
A. Till Paul died.

No cross examination.
Doctor Recalled

Dr. Loyal Wilson was called to stand.
Dr. Loyal Wilson was recalled.

Q. Did you see Officer Moore in the hospital on December 27?
A. Yes.

Q. What did you do for him?
A. I dressed his wounds. He had a wound on top of his head, the wound had the appearance of a bullet having hit it and passed on.

Q. What effect would such a wound have?
A. A stunning effect.

Q. Did you and your son treat that wound after the shooting?
A. Yes. For about two weeks.

Q. What would the immediate effect of the bullet in Brady Paul's abdomen be?
A. It would knock him down.

Q. Would it create primary shock?
A. Yes, it would.

Q. Could he get up after that?
A. Oh yes.

Cross examined by Powell.
Cross examined by Powell.

Q. You wouldn't say everyone shot in the stomach would be knocked down would you?
A. Well I think he would.

Q. Mr. Moore's wound in the head was the skull injured?
A. No. No visible injury to the skull.

Dr. Paul Wilson was recalled.
Dr. Paul Wilson was recalled.

Q. You found the bullet on the right side, about how far from the wound?
A. Right under the wound.

Q. Had it pierce the garment?
A. Didn't examine it.

Q. At the point where the bullet came out was it larger than where it went in?
A. Yes, it was.

Q. Was there considerable blood around the wound?
A. Some.

Charles Crowl.
Charles A. Crowl was called.

Q. Where do you live?
A. Colonial Hotel.

Q. Do you recall a truck stopping at the hotel on Dec. 27?
A. No. It stopped at the Kelley Undertaking establishment.

Q. Was Brady Paul on the truck?
A. He was.

Q. What did you do?
A. I was just leaving my store. They were taking Paul from the truck to the store.

Q. Who was there?
A. Corporal Paul, Howard Kelley and others.

Q. What was done with Paul's clothes?
A. Given to me.

Q. Did you see Moore?
A. Yes, he came in from an automobile.

Q. What kind of a car did he come in?
A. A green Chevrolet sedan.

Q. What did you do with the clothes?
A. Cross examined by Powell.

Q. What time of day was it?
A. About 2 o'clock.

Q. Describe the man
Q. Is that all the description?

A. He had no hat on. He was at the lunch counter.
Q. Describe the other man.

A. Can't do that as he went outside.
Q. What attracted your attention to them?

A. Left them in the hotel. I met Lieutenant Boettner and we went to the hospital. We found Paul in the operating room of the Jameson Memorial Hospital.
Q. Who was there?

A. Howard Kelley, an undertaker, was called. Questioned by Powers.
Q. When you stopped your car the first and second time was the motor running?

Paul Kelley, myself and the driver, Charles Mills, were in the ambulance. We took him into the operating room. He asked me to do something to relieve the pain. Dr. Kaplan came in and we took Paul's clothes off. I found a bullet hole in his abdomen and one in his back. I found the bullet against his underwear. Mrs. Costello, a nurse, gave him a hypodermic and then Dr. Wilson came in and removed another bullet from his arm.

Q. How long did you stay there?
A. Until he died at 12:55 o'clock.

Q. What did you do with the bullets?
A. Kept them.

Q. What size were the bullets?
A. The one from the arm was marked and the other looked almost perfect.

Cross examined by Powell.
Cross examined by Powell.

Q. Was Brady Paul unconscious when you got him from the truck?
A. No.

Q. Did he know Mrs. Crowl when she came into the hospital?
A. Yes.

Q. Did he appear to you to appreciate the fact that death was impending?
Objected to and withdrawn.

Q. You did not hear him say that it would be his end?
Objected to and withdrawn.

Miss Esther Stewart.
Miss Esther Stewart was called.

his place of business on December 26. Cross examined by Powell.

Q. When did you make up your mind that these were the people?

A. After the trouble on the Butler road.

Q. Did you talk this over with Smith?

A. Yes, and with others who were in the diner.

Q. When did you make up your mind these defendants were the ones in the diner?

A. On December 27.

Q. How would you decide?

A. Well one of the men repairing in chains wasn't through with the job and I went out to see how the job was coming. I was fixing the flat tires on a car. One of the men in the car came out and wanted to know why the h—l I didn't fix his chains as he was in first.

Q. How was the woman dressed?

A. Long coat and dark hat.

Q. Now how was this other man dressed?

A. He had on a slip on sweater.

Q. What time did these people leave?

A. About 1:30.

Q. You are positive these are the people?

A. Yes.

James Kimbro

James Kimbro, a watchman in the Castle Garage was called.

Q. Were you working in the Castle Garage on December 26?

A. Yes. I'm the manager.

Q. Did you see Glenn Dague in jail?

A. Yes. I did.

Q. How did you do that?

A. I recognized him as the man I did some work for on December 26.

Q. What time was Dague in your place on December 26?

A. Well it was the 1st job I did after I got back from lunch.

Q. What did you do for them?

A. I repaired a set of chains.

Q. What kind of a license was on the car?

A. I don't know it was all dirty.

Q. Who came in?

A. The man in the jail. He came in and said haven't you got those — chains repaired. He said something about Steve Travers that I wouldn't repeat to the court. Then I saw somebody else come in but I didn't look up. I asked them what they wanted the chain on the car and one of the said put the — chain on the car. I started to put the chain on and saw a small child in the car.

Q. How was Dague dressed?

A. Couldn't swear to it.

Q. Did you notice anything?

A. Well one of the men put his foot on the running board and I noticed a gun on his hip. It was a blue steel gun.

Cross examined by Powell.

Q. You couldn't tell what the license was?

A. For about two weeks.

Q. What would the immediate effect of the bullet in Brady Paul's abdomen be?

A. It would knock him down.

Q. Would it create primary shock?

A. Yes.

Q. How long did you stay in the hospital?

A. Till Paul died.

No cross examination.

Mercer County Man Is Held For Court

Arrested By State Troopers With Large Quantity Of Liquor In Possession

MERCER, Pa., March 14.—Harry Frisk, aged 24, of Springfield Township, was arrested by Private Knudsen, and Harris of the State Troopers at No. 5 Mine on a liquor charge. At a hearing before Justice T. W. McClain he was held for court on $1500 bail which he was unable to furnish.

He had 18 pints and a five gallon can when they arrested him, and it is thought that there had been six more pints due to six empty spaces. Frisk has been under suspicion for some time and he was arrested with the liquor in a Ford touring car which was confiscated.

TO TEST CATTLE

Following the conference held by Dr. H. A. Milo of the State Bureau of Animal Industry, County Commissioners and County Farm Agent, W. S. Hagar, it was decided to make the fourth county wide tubercular test of cattle of Mercer county, starting Monday, April 21. There will be a staff large enough to complete the work before the farmers are ready to turn their cattle out to pasture.

Mercer County will be the first county in Eastern United States to make a county wide test and to become an accredited area.

IS RECOVERING

William Henry, of Sheakleyville who tried to commit suicide a few weeks ago is recovering at the Mercer Cottage hospital following an operation performed by Dr. D. E. Vogan, and is changing his views on life. He now expresses a desire to live.

TO SELL OUT FEW

The list for Sheriff sales at the present time is very small and but very few pieces of real estate have been issued. The sale will take place in the courthouse following the last day for filing will be April 20.

In the January sale it was the opposite with the largest list in Mercer county for a number of years. The decrease shows that business conditions in Mercer county are not in such terrible straits as some would think.

CONTEST ENDS

The second annual Bird house contest sponsored by the Mercer Burbank club will come to a close on Saturday. The contestants are to have their houses in at the Farmers and Mechanics Bank not later than 10 a.m. where they will be received by a committee and arranged for judging. The judging will take place at 10:30 and the judges are Arthur Patterson, and Frank Dodds well known Mercer carpenters.

The bird houses can be inspected by the public at the bank either Saturday afternoon or evening. There will be several different types of houses this year and it is expected that the display will be very good as over 50 boys and girls have entered in the contest.

Former Resident Of New Castle Is Called By Death

El Paso, Tex., March 14.—Miss Frances Mildred Rister, pretty 17-year-old freshman in the Texas College of Mines here, is a real "cave girl" and she's attending college on the savings of her profession.

She has the distinction of being one of the girl guides who every summer conduct tourists through the great Carlsbad caverns in New Mexico, now being explored by the Frank Ernest Nicholson expedition.

Only three girls have held Miss Rister's post. She has made more than 300 trips, deep into the passages of the big cave.

Texas Girl Earns Way Through College Conducting Tourists Through Caverns

By Central Press

EL PASO, Tex., March 14.—Miss Frances Mildred Rister, pretty 17-year-old freshman in the Texas College of Mines here, is a real "cave girl" and she's attending college on the savings of her profession.

"The guides have a language all their own," says Miss Rister. "Guides like myself who are just there during school vacations are called '90-day wonders.' The permanent guides are called rangers. Tourists who go through the caves are called 'dudes.' The chief qualifications for being a guide are strong legs and the ability to answer the same 10,000 questions 10,000 times in rapid succession. You have to take a physical examination to become a guide. If you are more than 90 per cent fit, they take you through the caverns five times and then they hand you a lantern and tell you to go through by yourself. If you ever get back, you can have the job."

"I've never taken a party through that someone didn't crack what he thought was an original joke, saying 'I've seen the caverns at night, now I'd like to see them in the daytime.'

Lantern for Emergency

"A guide has to carry a 15-pound gasoline lantern, and a large, powerful flashlight. While the part of the caverns through which tourists are taken is lighted by electricity, the lantern is carried for emergencies."

"Carrying this heavy load, a guide gets disgusted with women who faint from the long, hard trip. They faint because the word has been spread around that folks who collapse will be carried out."

Benefit Show To Be Shortened

Managers State That Program Will Be Speeded Up Tonight

Reed McCullough and Dave Fisher wanted it made plain to the patrons of the Jameson Memorial hospital benefit show, staged last night in the Cathedral, and which is scheduled for another performance tonight, that they were not trying for an endurance record in the opening show.

The show was advertised to get under way at 8:15 o'clock and the minstrel circle was ready and waiting for the curtain to go up, but owing to the fact that the orchestra under the direction of Abe Levine was just a little late, something like ten or fifteen minutes, the folks did not part until almost 8:30 o'clock.

The show should have been over at 11:15 o'clock, it had been timed in the rehearsals for just such an event. The minstrel was to take just so long and the "Revue" had its allotted time, but everything went the opposite, that is the later part of the show.

It was just two or three minutes to 12 o'clock midnight when the finale was over, and the big crowd filed out of the Cathedral, satisfied that they had seen a clever lot of performing, with local talent, but unanimous in their contention that the show dragged out too long.

This was not the fault of the committee as they wished to make it known today. The show is being repeated tonight and every effort is going to be made to speed the thing along and get it over by 11:15 o'clock if possible.

FOR BAD DEBTS

Mrs. Parsons: If woman was given the credit she deserves I don't think man would be quite so prominent in the world's history.

Mr. Parsons: Quite true, my dear. If she could get all the credit she wanted he'd be in the workhouse—Tit-Bits.

New Kensington Man Is Jailed In Shooting Affray

(International News Service) PARNASSUS, Pa., March 14.—Quay McHenry, 25, of New Kensington, near here, was being held in jail today pending police investigation into a shooting affray that resulted in the wounding of another man.

Walter Sharkey, 30, of Parnassus, was the victim. He was in the Citizens General hospital with a bullet wound in the left knee. Police said he was shot early today during an argument at his home.

Three Rescued In Sanitarium Fire

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, March 14.—Three persons were carried from a private sanitarium here early today when fire did $1,000 damage to a store on the first floor of the building. Firemen said the blaze for an hour.

Those rescued, all negroes, were Mrs. Mathilda Faulkner, a nurse; her son, William, 3, and Miss Irma Drummond of Rankin, a patient, who underwent an operation yesterday.

The fire started in the rear of the Army and Navy store and spread towards the sanitarium of Dr. W. H. Christian.

He has recently built a beautiful new church at his present charge. A large hearing is expected for him.

Mother And Son Are Reunited By Chance

PARIS, March 14.—How a mother and son were reunited after 44 years as the result of a chance meeting has been reported from Saint Omer, France. A strange miner recently entered a safe at Quivrechain, and told how his father had abandoned his mother in Quivrechain in 1885 and took him to America when he was 3 years old. His father died shortly after his arrival, and the lad was adopted by Poles, who made a miner of him. Eventually he returned to France working in a pit at Hensies and passing as a Polish miner. An elderly woman, a customer of the cafe listened intently to the story, then questioned the stranger about his father. After a barrage of queries she surprised the crowd by jumping to her feet and declaring that he was not a Pole, but a Frenchman, and that he was her son who had been taken from her 44 years ago.

Is It News-Man Bites Other Man

(International News Service) MARSEILLE, March 14.—Maybe there isn't much news in this story because the man did not bite the dog.

But Pierre Berutti, stonemason, did not get down on his hands and knees and nip the legs of pedestrians until the dog catcher arrived.

At the Pasteur Institute Berutti ceased barking and admitted that he was not suffering from rabies but had hoped to collect damages from a neighbor whose dog bit him by simulating canine madness.

And right there he ceased to be Reported Coup D'Etat Proves To Be Dud

(International News Service) PARIS, March 14.—Political foe of General Maxime Weygand, new chief of staff of the French Army, have been trying to picture him as a potential "Primo de Rivera" without much success.

They did succeed in drawing a large attendance to the Chamber of Deputies on an otherwise dull day by spreading rumors that sensational revelations regarding a projected coup d'etat would be read out of letters which the general was alleged to have sent Prince Napoleon Bonaparte.

The promised bombshell proved a dud. Questioned about the alleged letters a Socialist spokesman admitted that all he knew was a remark once dropped by Clemenceau, viz:

"General Weygand is the kind of man capable of seizing the reins of government."

This remark caused general hilarity in the Chamber. Members of the left wing of the chamber planned to challenge the government on the appointing of General Weygand to the high post formerly occupied by his mentor, the late Marshal Foch.

Some members of the right wing feel that the rumors depicting General Weygand as an aspiring dictator were inspired by Paul Painlevé, former minister of war.

Table Etiquette 400 Years Ago

(International News Service) PORTLAND, Ore., March 14—Table etiquette 400 years ago may not have attained the fine points of distinction offered today but, nevertheless the banquet board was not without its list of "do and don'ts" according to an ancient handbook uncovered by students of economics at the Oregon State College.

It was considered proper table manners to throw bones, gristle, and uneaten parts of vegetables and meats behind one's chair, the 16th century manual declared. Other instructions read:

"At the beginning of the meal everybody should wash his hands in the presence of others in order that those who are going to put their hands in the same dish together may have no doubt about the cleanliness of the other's hands."

"It isn't proper" the book says, "to scratch yourself at the table, and one should abstain as much as possible from spitting on the floor, but if one has to, do it gently."

ERIE, Pa., March 14.—Arthur L. Kelley of Lawrence Park, a suburban student flier, was killed Thursday afternoon about two miles from McCrae field, Fairview, Pa., when a student club plane which he was flying went into a tall spin at a height of 3,000 feet and crashed to earth.

German Inscriptions Banned In Tyrol

(International News Service) BERLIN, March 14.—German inscriptions will probably be banned in future from tombstones in former Austrian South Tyrol, now Italian territory. According to messages from Innsbruck the Italian authorities announced that from now on all inscriptions have to be submitted to them for approval. The Tyrolean papers claim that this regulation practically means the end of German inscriptions on tombstones.

Extensive repairs and improvements are under way at the present time at the Legion Home on North Jefferson Street.

It is the first time in quite a number of years that improvements and changes of the character now under way have been undertaken at the same.

The roof is undergoing extensive repairs and the building is being painted and redecorated on an extensive scale. The Home will be in first class condition, when the present work has been completed.

MEXICO REAPS BIG GAINS FROM GAMING CASINOS

(International News Service) MEXICALI, Lower Cal., March 14.—A definite part of the dollar that the American pleasure seeker gambles away in northern Lower California, builds the roads, educates the children and lights the streets of Mexican communities.

This is the declaration of Governor Jose M. Tapia, who deplores gambling on principle.

Governor Tapia's statement was considered important in view of a recent order from President Pascual Ortiz Rubio, virtually stopping the reported practice of states issuing temporary gambling permits.

"It is our policy to discourage gambling among Mexicans," Governor Tapia said. "At the same time, however, we recognize gambling at Mexicali, Tijuana and Agua Caliente as necessary to attract tourists. Money derived from the gambling concessions and from tourist trade are absolutely essential to carry on the program of construction we have mapped out."

"Most of the patrons at gambling places is by American people from across the line. The Mexicans participate only on a small scale. The gambling houses are operated by Americans."

"We feel, therefore, that little harm is done to the Mexicans. The Americans come of their own free will."

"The money thus realized is used to good advantage. It builds schools and roads and provides many other improvements."

Young People Of Central Christian Have Get-Together

The young people of the congregation of the Central Christian church met in a get-together meeting in the dining room of the church Thursday evening and spent an enjoyable evening.

Elsie Baynham and Luella Rigby were in charge of arrangements and had arranged a surprise program, which was featured by a mock wedding, very cleverly presented and which caused a lot of amusement.

A delicious lunch was also served by the committee in charge.

Poison Ivy Used To Give "Kick" To Rum

(International News Service) LURAY, Va., March 14.—The use of poison ivy to impart a "kick" to the liquor manufactured in the mountain stills of this vicinity was discovered during a recent raid by Sheriff E. L. Lucas of Page County.

Sheriff Lucas and his deputies discovered large quantities of poison ivy after raiding a still site miles west of here. The ivy, although a deadly poison, was not believed to have been used in large quantities and the distillation process was apparently sufficient to reduce its effect to the desired pronounced kick.

French Women Shun Public Scales

(International News Service) PARIS, March 14.—Very few women wish to weigh themselves, at least in public. A few weighing machine put out on the boulevards in front of an American shoe shop has established this fact. Every day there is a long line of men waiting to "weigh in," for Parisians have a firm belief in the motto which is to be found on all the weighing machines in France, "Qui souvent se pese, se connaît; qui bien se connaît, bien se porte." Rarely does a woman step on the scales and then she is very petite and knows she will not tip them more than 100 pounds.

Boy Once Termed Failure, Now Nation's Vice President

(International News Service) DENVER, Col., March 14.—A bold little boy scrambled on a pony, dug his bare heels into its flanks and dashed off across the darkened prairie. He had been told by an aged Indian woman to "get a horse and get out" because he'd "never amount to anything."

That was how Charlie Curtis—now Vice President Charles Curtis of the United States—left the Kawa Indian tribe and went to Topeka, Kansas.

The story was told by James H. Bailey, second cousin of the vice-president and a local post office employee.

"Charlie rode the seventy miles to Topeka. He was just thirteen years old, but it was not the first time that he had started out across the bald prairie alone."

"When I saw him here—met him and talked to him at the hotel—he was stooped, and showed the years that were upon him."

"Charlie is just a good, old fashioned, common man. He's ready to help anybody that will play square with him, and he'll sacrifice lots of time to be of service to others."

I remember when I was delivering mail up at Boulder, there was a Mrs. Sanderson, whose husband was a freighter across the plains in the good old days. She had a lot of Indian depredation claims against the government, but her congressman didn't seem to want to do anything about it.

Finally she decided to go to Washington herself to see what could be done. I gave her a letter of introduction to Charlie. When she returned she said he lost no time in getting the claims through and getting her money for her."

Bailey is thirteen years younger than his cousin. Vice President Curtis was seventy years old in January; Bailey will be fifty-seven in June.

"They tell this story of what happened in Council Grove, Kas., before I was born," Bailey continued. "One day the Kaws heard that a rival tribe was coming down to wipe out Charlie's people. Charlie, then just 10 years old, started out afoot to Topeka—seventy miles away—to get help. There wasn't anything between Council Grove and Topeka but a lot of prairie and coyotes."

"But he never got there. The warring Indians came, but were turned back and some of Charlie's tribesmen set out to find him and bring him back."

"Charlie explained the meaning of Kaw, which also explains Curtis' attituted toward America's efforts toward world peace.

"The Kaws were a branch of the Osage Indians," he said. "They were a peaceful people, who preferred to let the other branch do the fighting. Finally the two branches split and the Osages called the Curtis' people Kaws, which is Indian for coward. But Charlie is no coward!"

"Charlie is not a half-breed Indian, as some mis-statements have said. His mother was only half Indian. Curtis' grandfather was a full-blooded Frenchman and his grandmother was a full blood Kaw, which made Charlie quarter-blood French and quarter-blood Indian."

Reindeer Farms

Being Socialized

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, March 14.—The reindeer farms in the snowbound country near Murmansk within the Arctic circle are being socialized and collectivized just like the wheat ranches of the south. Many of the native Samoyeds have been induced to pool their herds in co-operative farms of about 5,000 head of reindeer, which are raised for their hides and to a lesser extent for meat. The collectivization movement is meeting strong opposition from the richer farmers who privately own about one-third of the total of 5,000,000 reindeer in the region.

Divorce Deprives Little Tot Of Naps

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Ill., Mar. 14.—Four year old Arline Nelson henchforth has to go without her regular afternoon nap, it was decreed in superior court here. Judge Henry A. Lewis ruled that Arline must catch up on her sleep some other time when Mrs. Grace Nelson appeared before him to demand that her husband, Herbert Nelson change the hours allotted to him to have their daughter.

The child's visiting periods with the father interfere with the afternoon nap, Mrs. Nelson insisted. Her action for divorce is pending and the child spends three afternoons a week with Nelson.

"The baby can catch up with its sleep some other time," Judge Lewis ruled.

Free—something new a new style of plate for serving cakes with the purchase of two packages of Pillsbury's Cake Flour

This new cake flour has won a million women!

Only the good survives. Nothing but outstanding quality could persuade a million women to adopt a new cake flour during its first year—could keep on winning new users in constantly increasing numbers!

Baking tests indicate the reason for this extraordinary success. They show that Pillsbury's Cake Flour possesses three distinct superiorities: (1) It makes a cake that rises higher—a lighter, fluffier, more delicate cake. (2) It makes a cake with a softer, finer texture. (3) It makes a cake that stays moist and fresh longer.

The secret is a new blend of certain rare types of wheat, unusually soft, milled to a silky fineness. Try Pillsbury's Cake Flour for yourself—test it with the most delicate, difficult recipes you know—before you've finished the first package you'll understand the superiority of this remarkable new cake flour.

Pillsbury's Cake Flour

If you've ever tried cutting and serving a cake from an ordinary plate, you'll appreciate this one. It stands up from the table on three little legs—you can slip your fingers under the edge, and carry your cake without touching the frosting. Also, it is perfectly flat on top—your cake cannot sag in the middle, as it sometimes does when placed on an ordinary curved plate. It is made of delicately colored glass in a graceful attractive design. The top carries a beautifully traced figure worked out in light lines. It is extremely ornamental—and just as practical as it is good-looking. Your grocer will give you one free with the purchase of two packages of Pillsbury's Cake Flour.

Old Gold Placers Being Used Again

(International News Service)
PRESCOTT, Ariz., Mar. 14.—More than 60 years ago the first white men to settle in Arizona came to this spot drawn by the reports of trappers that gold was plentiful in the placers of Lynx, Big Bug and Granite Creek.

Today, California capital equipped with the finest automatic machinery that science can build, is developing those old placers for new and important production.

A 400-acre placer field in the Black Canyon district near Humboldt, Ariz., 23 miles south of here, is under operation by a group headed by R. H. Cole.

The 12,000,000 yards of gold-bearing gravel in the field, has an average worth of $1 a yard.

The methods now employed are in striking contrast to the pans, riffle boxes, hollow-log sluices and crude tools of the first placer miners. Some of the "ancients" still survive here to watch with marvelling interest the rapid and cheap operations of the trenchers, tractors, gasoline-driven washers and chemical amalgam plants now in use.

Ministerial Union Edits Daily Paper

(International News Service)
EL PASO, Tex., Mar. 14.—People here in these parts got an idea of how a newspaper looks with ministers as editors and writers.

Members of the El Paso Ministerial Alliance, who edited the El Paso Post for a day, "played up" human interest stories throughout.

The ministerial touch was imparted to crime stories, concerning youthful vandalism, murder, and preparations for executing a murderer.

So-called important news such as the London naval conference, Texas legislation and the congressional tariff battle, were given the "back seat," receiving scant attention and only small headlines.

Model Boy Plans Fling At Matrimony

(International News Service)
MANCHESTER, N. H., Mar. 14.—Manchester's model boy, Francis Harrington, who won a $200 prize for not drinking, smoking, swearing or gambling last year, is going to get married. Young Harrington, who is 19 years old, received his award from the Leopold Scheppe Foundation. His bride-to-be is Ellen Young of this city.

Congress Asked To Give Money To Cancer Cure Work

Drs. W. B. Coffey And John D. Humber, California Appear Before Senate Committee

EXPERIMENTING WITH CANCER

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, Mar. 14.—An appeal to Congress to finance the medical profession in its research work for a cure for cancer was voiced to the Senate Commerce committee Thursday by Drs. W. B. Coffey and John D. Humber, of San Francisco, noted experimenters in treatment for cancer.

The cancer specialists were joined by Dr. Joseph O. Bloodgood, cancer expert of Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore, who urged the government to finance infantile paralysis and influenza research work as well as the experiments in cancer cures. The physicians declared the government could render a tremendous service to the American people by aiding the medical profession in finding relief and cures for malignant diseases.

Merely Experimenting The two western cancer specialists denied having a "cure or treatment" for cancer but insisted they were merely "experimenting." Under their theory, they said, they found that an extract refined from the tissues of the glands above the kidneys would act as a deterrent and destroyer of cancer. Their research work is still in the experimental stage, they added, even though they had secured beneficial effects on 1300 patients.

In effect they told how their experiments indicated cancer was due to a deficiency in this gland extract. When the extract was injected into

Believe It Or Not, Thirty-One College Seniors Are Unkissed

Thirty-One Dartmouth College Senior Men Disclose Never Having Kissed Girl

(International News Service) HANOVER, N. H., Mar. 14.—Two hundred Dartmouth college seniors would marry for money. But 121 others would wed for love alone.

There are 31 seniors who have never been kissed by a girl friend.

What Dartmouth college needs most is a course in etiquette, some seniors think. Others believe that course in golf, ballroom dancing, bicycling, and horseback riding, might profitably be added to the curriculum.

The above disclosures were made by students who will graduate from Dartmouth this year in a class questionnaire, the results of which were made public Thursday.

York Man Killed, Truck-Auto Crash

Man Killed Almost Instantly, Son Severely Injured As Auto Crashes Into Truck

(International News Service) YORK, Pa., Mar. 14.—Edward Surfield, 63, president of the Columbian Assurance company, was killed and his son, William, 30, was injured seriously Thursday in a head-on automobile collision at Jacobs, on the Susquehanna Trail, near here.

Harry W. Mack, driver of the truck into which the Surfield car crashed, was uninjured.

The Surfields were enroute to Baltimore when the crash occurred. The elder Surfield was driving and apparently failed to see the truck while rounding a curve in the road.

Decesed is survived by his widow, one daughter and three sons.

Will Establish Hunting Tracts Near Big Cities

HARRISBURG, Mar. 14.—Following the extensive land purchase program for which the sum of $200,000 is set aside annually the Board of Game Commissioners is endeavoring to provide more suitable public hunting grounds for the small game hunter. Such areas, wherever possible, will be located near the centers of greater population.

So far a number of such tracts have been purchased and additional ones are under contract for purchases as soon as title examinations have been completed. The areas already owned are as follows and comprise only public shooting grounds, no refuges having been established on them. In Lancaster county, 1,642 acres in Clay township; in Chester and Berks counties 952 acres located in Warwick township of Chester county and Robeson and Union townships of Berks county; Bedford county, 3225 acres in Monroe township. This area centers in exceptionally good turkey country.

There is also a tract in Westmoreland county comprised of 4473 acres, near Johnstown, 765 acres of which have been set aside as an auxiliary refuge.

No Building, Then Why Any Padlock

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Mar. 14.—Mike Decco was advised by probation agents Thursday to appear in court because of a pending injunction to padlock his place.

To which Mike replied he would prefer having the agents visit his place instead.

The agents acceded to Mike's request. They found an empty lot at the address listed. Investigation disclosed the building had been razed.

The injunction was not filed.

Girl Who Gave Up Luxuries Is Happy With Cowboy Mate

By MARIAN RHEA
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., March 14.—There is such a thing as a smooth course of true love—this in spite of the matrimonial hazards bravely faced by Katherine Thorne, Chicago heiress, when she gave up the luxuries rightfully hers as the daughter of Robert J. Thorne, multi-millionaire, for love in a cottage, with George Gillespie, dashing Arizona cowboy.

The truth of this was vouched for today by this young couple who, a year after their romantic elopement at Castle Hot Springs, Arizona, to the startled surprise of exclusive social circles of the bride's home city and the horrified consternation of her parents, are to quote the still enamored young husband, "happy enough to bust."

True, "hazards" are still with them, but now, these hazards are nothing more serious than the hillocks and pools and bunkers of the miniature golf course of which George, no longer the booted—and spurred Lochinvar of the desert, is the manager.

His ten-gallon hat replaced by a beret (yes, actually)—

His chaps discarded for the nastiest of plus-fours and gaudiest of golf socks.

His flannel shirt exchanged for a flaming pink sweater.

His boots and spurs cast away in favor of black and white sport oxfords.

Young Mr. "Lochinvar" Gillespie now swings a golf club with the same skill that he once hooked ram-

"A fine anniversary we had, too," they said today.

If the next year brings us as much happiness as the last one has—well, we just won't be able to stand it, will we honey?" The ardent George asked "The Button."

"No, I guess we won't," she answered.

Forester Has Pet Civet Cat

International News Service
VISALIA, Cal., Mar. 14.—Someday Martin Cuesta, concession superintendent in Giant Forest, Sequoia National Park, will read something about foals entering where angels dare not tread.

But so far he is perfectly happy in companionship of his pet civet cat which follows him around, eats out of his hand and sleeps at the foot of his bed.

Civet cats are supposed to be of a genuinely mean disposition most of the time.

today we had the best catch of all.

We were on the lake five hours and came in with twenty-eight fine big ones. I am enclosing you a postal showing a morning catch, but our catch today beat it by six fish. Would like to have had a camera but I did not bring one with me this year.

These fish made five families happy by dividing the fish among them. If I could get a catch like that back home, I would invite The News force to Harrisburg for another term.

Yours as ever,

WILLIAM M. WHITE.

Really, The New Castle News is hard to beat and Mrs. White and I enjoy it next to a letter from our own children. Tell Bart I hope he goes back to Harrisburg for another term.

Editor The News;

Eustis, Florida,

Dear Sir:

I have never been sorry for making Eustis my headquarters this year after finding Dr. Moore, our old pastor at Central Presbyterian church in such good shape physically. I know his many friends in New Castle will be glad to hear it, especially after the very sick spell he had last year. They will also be glad to know that he is not only beloved by his own people but by everybody in Eustis, black or white, rich or poor. They all have a good word for him.

TASTY TOAST

TOAST—thin, crisp and golden brown—is a favorite food because of its wheaty flavor. But it has other values. It requires adequate chewing and so gives needed exercise to the teeth. Toast and eggs form a good breakfast which is nutritive and yet so easily digested that it will not interfere with the day's work.

Bread occupies an important place in the diet of the normal individual, and properly baked bread made with milk is a wholesome, nutritious and inexpensive food.

FREEDOM GASOLINES & MOTOR OILS

Autos Kill 250 In Two Months

February Death Toll Greater Than That Of Preceding Month

HARRISBURG, March 14.—During the months of January and February, 250 persons were killed in motor vehicle accidents in Pennsylvania. February's total was 130.

In February 2477 persons were injured, as against 2662 in January.

"The majority of the persons killed and injured were pedestrians," said Motor Vehicles Commissioner Benjamin G. Eynon today. "Despite continual agitation in newspapers magazines, from the platform and pulpit, and in school rooms, motor vehicle operators seem to be conducting themselves with an increasing disregard for persons about. In the average Pennsylvania municipality the pedestrian takes his life in his hands when he crosses the street even in suburban sections."

"In the city of Harrisburg alone since January 1, five pedestrians have been killed. In one case the operator of a vehicle tried to alibi himself by saying that as he approached an intersection a number of persons crossing the street, retreated to the curb, but that the person whom his truck killed did not retreat. There is nothing in the law compelling persons afoot, and legally in the carway, to flee to the curb on the approach of a car or truck. There is nothing in the law excusing a motor vehicle operator traveling at such speed that he is unable to avoid striking a person legally in the carway."

"Doubtless caution and courtesy will not become attributes of the average driver until the courts begin to send careless operators to jail for long periods. The law is that, except at crossings protected by officers or signals the pedestrian legally off the curb—who has stepped from the curb in advance of motor vehicles coming from any direction, has right-of-way over all traffic. This provision has been upheld in supreme court decisions."

"The careless indifference with which Pennsylvanians regard the slaughter of pedestrians is amazing. Eventually, however, public sentiment will be aroused and will evidence itself in radical amendments to the motor laws in all likelihood. If operators find these restrictions harsh and extremely irksome, they will have only themselves to blame."

Five Billion Feet Of Gas Is Wasted Daily

Tremendous Waste Of Valuable Product Brought To Light

INVESTIGATION IN CALIFORNIA OPENED

(International News Service) SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 14.—Gas wasted in five large California oil fields is now passing the half-billion mark in cubic feet daily.

This enormous loss of one of California's most valuable products was reported to Governor Young by Fred Stevenot, director of natural resources.

Director Stevenot included in his report the announcement that demurrers filed by operators in the Santa Fe Springs injunction suit will be heard in Los Angeles superior court on March 12, while hearing of the Kettleman Hills case was continued to April 1 in Kings county superior court.

Hearings before the oil and gas supervisor on gas wastage in the Ellwood fields are also set for an early date," Stevenot reported. "The exact date, to be determined later, depends on progress made in the injunction proceedings now pending in Los Angeles and Kings county courts."

Total gas wastage in five fields was estimated at 569,302,000 cubic feet, as compared to a total of net production of nearly a billion and a half cubic

Watch the Kidneys Before and After Childbirth

DURING the period of pregnancy the kidneys have double work to do, which is apt to weaken them so that they fail to keep up their work of filtering the poison out of the blood-stream. This condition, unless looked after promptly, may kill the baby before birth and ruin the mother's health, too.

The expectant mother should have her urine examined every few weeks. This should be done by the attending physician or send sample to Dr. Pierce's Clinic, Buffalo, N. Y., for free analysis.

To promote normal kidney action and assist your kidneys in cleansing your blood of poisonous wastes, use Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets. All drug stores.

Every ailing woman may consult Dr. Pierce's Clinic, Buffalo, N. Y., by letter, absolutely without charge.

Send 10¢ if you wish a trial package of Anuric.

Don't Go to Extremes To End Constipation

When bad breath, or a coated tongue, biliousness or headaches warn of constipation, don't take violent purgatives. There's no use when a candy Cascarett will stop the trouble in a jiffy; will cleanse your system pleasantly and completely.

The relief you get so promptly from Cascarett is lasting. Cascarett are made from cascara, a substance which medical authorities agree actually strengthens the bowel muscles.

So Cascarett are a blessing to old folks with weakened bowels; to children; to anyone in need of establishing regular bowel habits. Ten cents a box—all drug stores.

ROUGHAGE IS ESSENTIAL IN REDUCING DIETS

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Is Ideal Roughage

If you are following a reducing diet, it is doubly important that you take a regular amount of roughage into the system daily. Most reducing diets do not contain a sufficient amount of roughage. The result is constipation—the thief of both health and beauty.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is recommended by many doctors and dietitians because it contains the bulk necessary to insure proper elimination.

Also, because it contains the iron needed to help prevent anemia—another danger in reducing diets.

ALL-BRAN is not fattening. Its bulk sweeps the system clean of poisonous wastes—helping to promote glorious health and beauty.

A popular way to eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is soaked in fruit juice. Try it! It is delicious with milk or cream. Sprinkle it over cereals, salads and soups. It adds flavor to taste. Your grocer has Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. It is served in restaurants, hotels and dining-cars. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Plan For Meeting Of Farmers In April

Grove City Commercial Club To Be Hosts At Gathering April 9

GROVE CITY, March 14.—The annual farmers meeting of the Grove City Commercial Club will be held this year on April 9th. The meeting will be held in the Penn Grove Hotel.

Robert Flint, of the committee in charge advises W. F. Schilling of Washington, D. C., a member of the board, will be principal speaker. Mr. Schilling is well known in Minnesota, his native state, and throughout the northwest for his work in organizing associations of agriculturists and for raising pure bred cattle.

Members of the club are gratified at having been able to secure Mr. Schilling as his message will be of the utmost interest.

MODELS LINCOLN

Modeling a life size face of Abraham Lincoln for the production of the "The Copperhead" to be given this evening and tomorrow evening by the Crimson Masque in Carnegie Auditorium, a pupil of Grove City High School has repeated a previous triumph in sculpturing. Milton Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stewart of Poplar Street, attracted considerable attention with a small figure last winter, and his latest work shows a marked improvement. He was commissioned to make a life size model for the play and the result was highly pleasing.

Amelia Paganelli, 11 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Paganelli, of South Broad street has been awarded a medal in a contest of essays on Abraham Lincoln conducted by a Pittsburgh paper, in which thousands of children took part. Amelia is a pupil in the fifth grade of the Grove City schools at Central building. The medal is bronze and on the face is carved the picture of Lincoln.

TO GIVE PLAY

"The Dream of a Clown" will be staged on Thursday and Friday, March 20 and 21 in the Carnegie Auditorium. The play is being sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's club and the proceeds are to be used for their educational fund, to help girls through school. The cast is made up of 70 prominent local men who carry the slogan, "All our Women are men, yet every one a lady."

TO RECEIVE CLUB

Mrs. M. W. Graham will receive the members of the General Hugh Chapter of the D. A. R. at her home on Pine street on Friday, March 14. Mrs. W. S. McKay of Greenville will speak in "The Menace of Radicalism." All members are urged to attend this meeting.

New Anti-Pain Oil Works Wonders

Takes the Crick Out of Your Neck, The sharp shooting pains out of the shoulders—in a few minutes.

This new discovery is a combination of salicylates together with essential oils, turpentine-Camphor. Capsicum and other valuable ingredients, now more often offered to the public under the name of "Anti-Pain Oil," formerly known as Snake Oil. It has proven to be an effective, agreeable remedy for aches, pains, rheumatism, neuralgia, toothaches, etc. Thousands of sufferers are now being relieved by this new penetrating oil.

For rheumatic pains, neuralgia, crick in the neck, sharp shooting pains in the shoulder, stiff joints and sore muscles, apply freely to affected parts. The oil quickly penetrates the skin and begins to act like a tonic. For chest colds, flu and similar complaints, apply freely to affected parts, well dressed with vaseline or lard. For coughs or hoarseness, take ten drops on a lump of sugar.

This new and improved remedy, perfected after years of research and experimental work, instead of poisonous habit forming drugs, now lets you know what it means to be free from pain.

Refuse imitations. Nothing like this new Anti-Pain Oil formerly known as Snake Oil.

WHAT THIS NEW SERVICE MEANS TO YOU—

BOSTON WOMAN AND KOREAN LEAD BLISSFUL LIFE

(International News Service) SAN FRANCISCO, March 14.—East and west can sometimes meet with complete success, according to Dr. Y C. Yang, Korean physician of Honolulu, and his blonde wife, Mrs. Rita Waldron Yang, former Boston society girl.

Dr. Yang said today that he did not urge Orientals to rush into marriage with white women, but that he believed that "true love" could make a lasting bridge between persons of different races.

Complete agreement with her husband was expressed by Mrs. Yang.

"If a man and woman have the same cultural background and the same interests, there is no reason why differences of race should keep them apart," she declared.

"Too many people," Dr. Yang said, "marry emotionally, without proper contemplation of their mutual interests and desires. They do not look far enough into the future. Before my wife and I were married, we knew each other for five years. I was an instructor at Boston university, and she was secretary to the president. We examined our problem from all angles and when we were at last sure of ourselves, we married. Time has proven that we did not make a mistake. We had decided that when we were married it would not be an experiment, but for the rest of our lives. That is the way we still feel about it."

Pointing out that the "world is filled with race prejudice," Mrs. Yang declared that she and her husband might have been disheartened had it not been for their love and interest in each other.

A physician was called and found that she had sustained bruises about the body and was suffering a great deal from the shock resulting from the accident. As far as could be determined, her injuries were not serious and no bones were broken.

According to the report made to the police by Mr. Pascarella, he was driving north on Delaware avenue at Sheridan avenue, as a machine which had been parked on Sheridan avenue made a right hand turn onto Delaware avenue.

But this does not mean unfortunately that all of the 14,824 Frenchmen who are in the asylums are really mad. Many of them are only ill or a nuisance to their families and have been put away to be taken care of. A movement is now on foot to make these houses more like hospitals with well fitted laboratories, doctors, etc., to cure the mentally ill.

As this occurred, Miss Lowers ran across the Delaware intersection of Sheridan avenue and was struck by his machine. She was knocked to the street. Mr. Pascarella picked her up and removed her to her home.

Aged Woman Keeps Fortune Hidden In Home Of Squalor

SEATTLE, March 14.—Happy in her adopted poverty Seattle's "Old Lady of the Lamp" who is worth a fortune, but who has lived alone in squalor for 16 years, was back in her ramshackle home here today.

Mrs. Francis Jackson, 83, who won her sobriquet because she insisted she could not afford electric lights, dipped into her $90,000 "rainy day" fund to return to her home in style from the sanitarium where she had been confined for a mental test.

The taxi ride was at the suggestion of Judge Everett Smith who declared her sane yesterday, at a hearing requested by her 61 year old son, William.

One of the things the bright minds of the farming industry are working on is the artificial drying of grass and other crops. Looking far ahead, it seems as if the future prosperity of the business might be closely bound up in the successful development of this process.

I think I can hear the casual reader ask: "What on earth has a drying machine to do with farm prosperity?" And indeed, the connection is not, at first sight, very obvious.

The point is—or rather the points are:

First: That farming is carried on chiefly to feed farm animals, not human beings. From 75 to 85 per cent of all farm products are for animals to eat.

Second: Farm animals must eat in winter, just the same as in summer, and to be profitable must be well fed.

Third: The best and most profitable feed for animals is young green plants—grass, clover, alfalfa or what you like—even young wheat and oats plants.

Finally: Most of these plants can be grown nearly everywhere in this country; but in the regions where they grow best they are hardest to keep.

Fitting these facts together in a simple pattern, it is plain to see that what farming wants is a good way to feed farm animals on young pasture grasses and other young plants all the year round, fall and winter as well as spring and summer. That is the food on which they thrive best—it is their natural diet.

But what has farming been doing, all these centuries? you may ask.

Well, it invented the drying of hay by sunshine. That is not a bad method, except that when grass is cut for hay, it is already too old to make good food. Furthermore, in regions where plants grow best, the rainfall is so heavy that it is impossible to make hay regularly.

Then we invented ensilage, which is also good—the storage of chopped green plants in a deep pit or silo. But even ensilage has serious drawbacks.

In England and Europe they grow

I had a secret dream to be the superman of my age" recounted Alfred Flores, professional strong man on a visit here, to friends who knew him as a puny, sickly youth five years ago. Flores, who weighs 140 pounds and bends iron bars with his teeth as if they were cigarettes, said he never smokes, or touches liquor and eats plenty of vegetables.

Soviet Wars On Typewriter Imports

(International News Service)
MOSCOW, March 14.—To cut down the imports of typewriters, which must be paid for abroad in gold, the Commissariat of Workers Peasants' Inspection, the efficiency department of the government intends to establish from six to ten centralized typing bureaus where all the typing for government departments and business concerns will be done.

For 16 years it was disclosed she had lived on a diet of tea, toast and potatoes although a fortune, principally stocks and bonds were found concealed in tin cans beneath the baseboard behind her kitchen stove.

root crops like rutabagas and mangels, instead of our clover and corn. That is good, too, and makes passable winter feed.

But it seems that the very best solution would be to cut young plants at just the proper age, when they are fullest of protein, the most valuable element, and then, by quickly drying them artificially, store the dried product for the winter.

That is the nearest thing to having summer pasture all the year round. The feed itself is the best. It doesn't depend on the weather to dry. It is easy to store and keeps indefinitely.

So that is why, as I began by saying, the engineers are working on drying processes and have already worked out at least one type that is in successful operation. We are sure to hear a great deal more of dehydration on the farm hereafter.

AGED DESERTER SEEKING CLEAN BILL OF HEALTH

(International News Service)

ANNEPOLIS, Md., March 14.—John Jakes, who is 83, said he is "getting up in years" and wants to die with a clear record. Ever since the Civil War, when he enlisted in the Union Army at the age of 15 and was wounded at the second battle of Bull Run, Jakes has been recognized by the War Department as deserter.

For years he has been urging Maryland's delegation in Congress to have the blemish against his name removed but with no avail. Some of those dropped his case, others died before they could argue it and now Rep. Gambrell, a Democrat, has sponsored a bill in his behalf in the House.

Jakes claims the desertion charge was unjustified because he merely returned to his parents after the war without receiving permission from his superior officers.

Should Congress grant him a sum of money to represent the pension he would have been receiving all these years if he had not been dishonorably discharged as a deserter, Jakes declared it would not change his mode of living. He won't be "foolish with it," he said, and scoffed at the suggestion he might buy himself an expensive automobile and have a chauffeur to drive it. He doesn't like motor cars.

PARIS, March 14.—France's total number of 166 casinos yielded eight million francs in gambling profits less than the year of 1929, according to statistics published for the new year. The sum, however, was respectable enough, some four hundred million francs. More than a third of this amount comes from the Riviera, that is Cannes, Nice and Juan les Pins. Monte Carlo is not included, being in the Principality of Monaco.

NEW TEACHERS SLATED TO TAKE JOBS AT HARVARD

(International News Service)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., March 14.—Resignation of one professor, appointment of two assistant professors, and five lecturers has been announced by Harvard University.

L. W. Collett, Professor of Geology, who came to Harvard as visiting lecturer in Geology in 1927 and was made Professor after holding that post for one year, resigned. He received his D. C. S. from the University of Geneva. He has held chairs as Professor of Geology at the University of Edinburgh and at the University of Geneva.

Francis Otto Mattiesen, Instructor and Tutor in History and Literature has been appointed Assistant Professor.

Halvadon Koht, Professor in the sor and Tutor in History and Literature, effective next September. He was graduated from Yale in 1923, received his B. Litt., from Oxford in 1925, his A. M. and Ph. D. from Harvard in 1926 and 1927 respectively.

George Bogard Kistakowsky, at present assistant Professor of Chemistry at Princeton comes to Harvard next September as Assistant Professor of Chemistry.

University of Oslo, Norway, will lecture in history at Harvard for the first half of 1930-31.

Crusade Against Automobile Sheiks

ROCHESTER, Pa., March 14.—The Rochester Ministerial Association has launched a crusade against automobile "sheiks" who accost and insult unescorted women along the streets, inviting them for rides.

At a meeting of the association here one minister complained that his daughter had been accosted, while another minister reported his wife had been insulted when she resented an invitation for a ride.

Rev. Custer C. Rich, pastor of the First Baptist Church, and Rev. Homer K. Miller, pastor of the Bridgewater Presbyterian church, were named a committee to confer with Chief of Police Robert Compton in an effort to break up the practice.

Ministry of Traffic, meaning that a bankruptcy is inevitable, unless they are granted government subsidies.

Rohrbach claims that 200,000 marks are due him out of government funds voted by the Reichstag for the support of the airplane industry. Out of these funds 300,000 marks were allotted to the Rohrbach Works, of which 100,000 were paid.

The Ministry of Traffic holds that considering the general financial plight of the Reich the government could cancel the subsidies at any time because they were not bound by contract to pay.

Accusing the Ministry of partiality and undue preference given to other airplane works Rohrbach, in a communiqué to the press, bitterly complains that the "Reich runs the works at a time when the foundation of the Metal Flying Boat Corporation of New York promised favorable business in the nearest future."

Expects To Uncover New Wonders During Next Few Years

(International News Service)
MARE ISLAND, Cal., March 14.—Technically in retirement, Captain Thomas Jefferson Jackson See, for many years senior mathematician of the United States navy, today is keeping new scientific realms to conquer as he delves deeply into the mysteries of advanced astronomy.

At the age of 64 years, he says, he has only begun the researches in astronomical spheres—researches which already brought him worldwide fame.

For 20 years he has rendered valuable services to the navy and to the world at large as a mathematician and an astronomer.

"And I fully expect to devote the next 30 years to completion of the researches which I have started," Captain See said.

He is the author of 30 volumes of work ranking him with Newton and Laplace. Eight of these volumes remain as published.

What his plans for the immediate future are, Captain See refused to reveal other than that they deal with researches having to do with millions of small comets in the solar system.

Since devoting himself to mathematics 50 years ago, Captain See has made discoveries and conducted researches which have brought him international fame.

Among the most outstanding theories advanced by him is the one dealing with the capture of small bodies in space to build up large ones, giving a wholly new view of the origin of the solar system.

Others are:

Dynamical theory of the Milky Way, with verified map of the universe, showing laws for the arrangements and distribution of hundreds of millions of stars and nebulae to a distance of 2,000,000 light-years, a problem on which Sir William Herschel labored 150 years. Captain See worked 21 years on this problem.

Connecting magnetism with the waves operating in electrodynamics, leading to the wave-theory of universal gravitation.

Wave-theory of atomic and molecular force and proof of the theory of gravitation, described as an advance in pure mathematics unparalleled since the founding of the School of Alexandria 22 years ago.

Dynamical theory of tides.

Establishing that mean distances of planets are invariable, and the solar system is stable as if destined for eternal duration.

There is enough conscience left in the world for every nation to be shocked at the way others treat undeveloped peoples.

MRS. BALDWIN TESTIFIES THAT BLONDE HELD GUN THAT STRUCK DOWN PAUL

Testimony of Woman Witness to Shooting on Butler Road is Feature of Thursday Night Session of Court Trial — Moore Completes His Story of Gun Battle.

Telling her story in a manner that carried conviction, hesitating not at all, and refusing to be stampeded by the grilling cross examination of the defense attorneys, Mrs. Eva Baldwin scored a telling blow for the commonwealth Thursday evening at the night session of the trial of Irene Schroeder, now in session in court room number one. There was nothing complex about Mrs. Baldwin's testimony. She saw a woman shoot Brady Paul on December 27th, she saw Brady Paul sway and reel in an agony of pain and she gave the jury these facts in a manner that left no doubt as to the honesty of the sincerity of the witness.

It is doubtful if the commonwealth has another witness whose testimony is as vital to the success of the commonwealth as was Mrs. Baldwin's. Clear eyed and steady nerved she sat in the witness chair reciting her narrative in an unflurried voice, and no attempt of the defense to confuse her or cloud her story changed it a whit.

Mrs. Baldwin lives at the end of the lane, near the point where Brady Paul was murdered and saw a woman shoot him on December 27th. This woman she did not attempt to identify nor was it necessary for the previous witness, Private Ernest C. Moore had identified the woman as Irene Schroeder, the defendant.

The night session opened at seven o'clock and ended at 9:45. For the first hour Moore was under a cross fire of examination of the defense, but with minor deficiencies that were of slight importance, he stayed to his story of the murder of Paul and the murderous assault upon himself on December 27th.

William L. Sampson, a boyhood chum of Glenn Dague's testified as did Charles Evans, a school boy chum of Irene's brother, Tom Crawford. Sammy Baldwin, young son of Mrs. Eva Baldwin followed his mother on the stand and told a story that tallied with that of his mother, save that when his mother rushed to the telephone to notify the police, Sammy stayed at the window and saw the rest of the tragedy.

Today it is expected that Mrs. Martha Williams will testify. Her testimony will be followed probably by that of George Book, the truck driver who saw the battle from his truck, and other witnesses who have testimony relevant to the events immediately after the shooting.

From all indications the commonwealth's case will not be ended until Monday or Tuesday, although excellent time is being made considering the wealth of testimony that is to be offered.

The account of the testimony on Thursday evening follows:

Evening Session

Patrolman Ernest Moore returned to the stand at the opening of the evening session.

Q. Who treated the wound on your nose?

A. Dr. Paul Wilson and Dr. Loyal Wilson.

Q. You said this afternoon you heard shooting at the rear of the car. Was that all done before you were shot through the windshield?

Objected to and overruled.

A. The shots at the rear were at the same time the shots came through the windshield.

Q. When you first started around the car where were you going?

A. To the front of the car.

Q. Were you going to the other side of the car?

A. I was going to the front of the car to get back of Irene and Glenn.

Q. Why did you want to go around the back of them?

A. Well, I couldn't pull my gun in front of them. I would have got shot.

Q. Did you count the shots at the back of the car?

A. No.

Q. Did you see both Irene and Dague's guns?

A. Yes.

Q. How far was Mrs. Schroeder from Paul?

A. Four or five feet.

Q. Tow close were Irene and Glenn together?

A. Right together.

Q. How close were their guns?

A. About 2 feet apart.

Q. Who had the smaller gun?

A. My impression is that Glenn Dague.

Q. What size were the guns?

A. Yes.

Q. You stopped several cars?

A. Yes.

Q. Any other Ohio car?

A. Can't recall.

Q. As you came to the car who stopped it?

A. Corporal Paul.

Q. Where were you?

A. To his right.

Q. How was he dressed?

A. Cap, leather coat, side arms on top leggings, shoes, and breeches.

Q. What was the first thing Paul said?

A. Asked him for his driver's license.

Q. You knew they don't use driver's licenses in Ohio don't you?

A. Yes.

Q. What did the driver do?

A. Handed him a wallet?

Q. Didn't Paul have his gun drawn?

A. No, sir.

Q. Did he hand the wallet back?

A. I don't know.

Q. Paul and you were on side facing New Castle?

A. Yes.

Q. Did the driver look into the wallet?

A. Can't say.

Q. Remember who opened the door?

A. No, sir.

This line of cross examination objected to by Margiotti as misleading.

Q. You were standing beside Paul?

A. Yes, and as he had the wallet I turned and went to the rear.

Q. When did you first see the occupants of the car on the road?

A. After they got out.

Saw Occupants

Q. You didn't have your eyes on occupants of car?

A. I saw them in the car.

Q. How far back did you go?

A. Directly behind it.

Q. Did you go back?

A. Turned around and saw Glenn Dague and Mrs. Schroeder.

Q. You couldn't see Paul's hands?

A. I could.

Q. Did you testify at the preliminary hearing?

A. I did.

Holley Denies He Was Driving Car While Intoxicated

Claims That Anderson Wise, Whom He Had Engaged, Was Operating Machine

Vernon Holley, an insurance agent, was placed on trial before Judge James A. Chambers on Thursday afternoon on a charge of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated. The motor vehicle was overturned on Montgomery avenue.

Clarence Campbell, policeman, testified that he got to the scene of the accident soon after it happened, and on learning that the machine belonged to Holley, he had placed him under arrest.

He said that he had found Holley, with others, standing by the side of the machine, which had been righted when he arrived. Holley, he said, was very much under the influence of liquor. He fell down three times while standing near the machine.

Campbell called the patrol and Thomas Lynch responded. Holley was taken to police headquarters. Lynch testified that he had learned that there was a colored man riding with Holley at the time of the accident.

Dr. William Cleland testified that he had examined Holley at the police headquarters, and found him to be intoxicated.

James Steiner, of the police department, testified that he had taken down a statement made by Holley at police headquarters.

Holley was placed on the witness stand in his own defense this morning. He testified that on Saturday afternoon, December 28 he had been collecting insurance and had become intoxicated. During the evening he had stopped at the residence of Charles Kennedy and later at the home of Walter Johnston. It was about 11 o'clock Saturday night when he arrived at the Johnston home. He was under the influence of liquor and when he sat down in the warm room he became drowsy and fell asleep. He slept in a chair all night.

Next morning he said that he was still under the influence of liquor. He did not want to go home to his wife and child in that condition, and realized that he could not drive his car. He said that he had secured Anderson Wise, a colored man, to drive the car for him.

He got into the car with Wise and Charles Kennedy. Not wanting to go home until he sobered up he said that he had directed Wise to drive around. They drove down the West Pittsburg road, coming out on the New Castle-Beaver road near West Pittsburg, and then driving north to Mahonington. On Montgomery avenue the wheels locked when Wise put on the brake, the car turned around and overturned. Help came and they were pulled out from under the car. Holley said that Wise had been driving all the time they were out.

Anderson Wise corroborated Holley. He said that Holley had asked him to drive the car, and that he was at the wheel when the accident occurred on Montgomery avenue. Wise said that when the car overturned Holley was thrown on top of him. Wise had one arm skinned and his coat torn. At this writing the case is still on trial.

Uncle Sam's Cash On Hand Is Slim

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Al Forney, accused of being a common gambler and of maintaining gambling devices, was acquitted of the charges by a jury in criminal court here today, but was ordered to pay the costs.

The "Scotch verdict" came as a surprise to a crowded courtroom. Judge Frank P. Patterson scored the ten men and two women for acquitting Forney who is reputed to have reaped thousands of dollars from the machines.

"Your term of service is concluded," Judge Patterson told the jurors after the verdict had been read. "It is usual to discharge a jury with thanks for its services, but in this case there has been such an utter disregard of the law and the evidence, I will not do that."

Chicago Man Is Killed By Fall

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Mar. 14.—Frank D. Ketcham, 65, a widower, was killed today when he fell or jumped from the window of his room on the eleventh floor of a Michigan avenue hotel here.

His body, clad in a sweater, shirt, trousers and socks, was found in the street by a taxicab driver.

Two Senior Men Make Trip With Westminster Debaters

James Chambers

Paul Campbell

Special to The News
NEW WILMINGTON, March 14—James Chambers, New Castle, and Paul Campbell, Pittsburgh, two members of the senior class at Westminster College, are members of the team which will leave Saturday for a trip to six southern states where eight inter-collegiate forensic contests have been scheduled.

Chambers, a member of Kappa Phi Lambda social fraternity and of Tau Kappa Alpha, has been active in forensics for four years. Campbell, a member of Phi Pi Phi fraternity and of Tau Kappa Alpha, has also been a member of debate teams for four years. Campbell was star halfback on the Westminster football team for the last three seasons.

These men, together with Frank Douds, Beaver; Fred Williams, Carnegie; Scott Hadden, Meadville, and Dr. Charles A. Dawson, coach, will spend two weeks in the south returning to College April 1.

Protection Sought For U. S. Bald Eagle

(International News Service)
WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., March 14.—The bill introduced into congress which would provide complete protection for the eagle in the United States, Alaska and the other territories is being supported by conservation societies in all parts of the country, according to Colvin Farley, secretary of the Westchester County Conservation association.

The American bald eagle, honored as the emblem of the nation ever since the days of "Old Abe," famous war eagle of the Union army, is not only being persecuted in many parts of the United States but, according to Farley, is actually being slaughtered by the thousands in Alaska where a bounty of 50 cents a head is offered in the belief that the eagle damages the production of salmon fishermen and fox fur farmers.

Lake Cargo Coal Rate Case Will Be Opened Again

Complaint Filed With Interstate Commerce Commission By Coal
Traffic Bureau

RIGID PROBE TO BE UNDERTAKEN

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, March 14.—The famous lake cargo coal rate case will be reopened through a complaint filed today with the interstate commerce commission by the Western Pennsylvania Coal Traffic bureau and 18 coal companies.

The complaint charges coal operators in the Butler-Mercer, Freeport, Pittsburgh and Connellsville districts are in direct competition with operators in West Virginia, Virginia, Kentucky and Tennessee in the sale of coal and that this competition is especially keen in the sale of coal for trans-shipment as vessel cargo to and via Lake Erie ports to destinations on or beyond the Great Lakes.

No Southern Markets.

The complaint further states that Pennsylvania operators, by reason of their geographical location, enjoy no markets in the south, and despite their geographical location are disadvantaged in markets west and northwest and therefore lake cargo traffic is of vital importance to them.

The rates on coal to the Great Lakes give southern operators an undue and unreasonable preference and advantage, the complaint charges. In consequence Pennsylvania operators are deprived of the benefit of their geographical location and subjected to an arbitrary and artificial handicap in marketing lake cargo coal in competition with mines in the various competing districts in the four states named."

The complaint asked the commission to make an investigation of the matter and to issue an order commanding the defendant railroads to establish rates which will not be unduly prejudicial to Pennsylvania operators.

Hannon Interlocutor

Hughie Hannon, the interlocutor of the minstrel part is an old hand at the business, and he presided over his minstrel men with a capacity which recalls the memory of Al Fields and those other kings of minstrels which have gone by.

He was ably assisted by those imitable end men, Hadyn Jones, Arch Cubbison, Paul Donley, and Tommy Blake, disguised under the title of Apostles of Sunshine with burnt cork and magnificent costumes. They put across some clever jokes, which kept the audience in an uproar. They were ably assisted by Ralph Eakin, Jack Ellis, Nick Faello, Kenneth Myers, Clarence Reese, and Lou Pearsons.

The opening minstrel chorus was augmented by a banjo accompaniment furnished by Fred and Harry Sheppard and Arch Cubbison.

Outstanding Features

The guests included William McComb, William Roberts, Roger Francis, Reed McCullough, Bert Sanford, Walter Ashton, Glen Evans, Dolph Jones, Henry Jenkins, Dave Jones, Lew Sweet, Harry Masters, Chester Biddle and Russell Brenner.

The opening minstrel chorus was augmented by a banjo accompaniment furnished by Fred and Harry Sheppard and Arch Cubbison.

Outstanding Features

The guest of honor, Paul Donley was outstanding, while the song, "Aren't We All" by William McComb, made a big hit with the audience, although the entire cast presented their offerings in a manner that left little to be desired.

The revue program was one of the finest of its kind ever presented in an amateur production here. The choruses were drilled to perfection and were well chosen for their ability. The dance numbers were exceptionally clever, especially those of the Cecelia McCoy girls, and the specialty dances by Cecelia McCoy and Mary Louise Rea showed exceptional talent.

Miss Mary Louise Galvin also excelled in a special tap dance, with her girls, which made a tremendous hit with the audience.

Then in addition to this there were a number of comedy presentations, which featured Tully Calazza and Lew Jenkins, those two funny boys. They are ably supported by Betty Rea, Mrs. Al Evans, Mary Lou Rea, P. J. Iodice, Randall Space and Robert Steinbrink.

Those two "old favorites" Joe Love and Harry Elwell were back with new jokes and songs which made a big hit with the audience.

Another clever number on the program was the song by little Jean DeLillo, assisted by girls from the Smith-Williams Institute, which went over big.

Arrangements for the production have been in charge of Reed McCullough and David Fisher and to them goes much credit for the superb production which was given last evening, and will be again presented tonight. They have been ably assisted in their work by Dave Jones, who directed the minstrel part, P. J. Iodice, who had charge of the revue, and Abe Levine, who directed the music. The dances have been directed by Miss Cecelia McCoy and Mary Louise Galvin and showed careful training on the part of these two talented young women.

Taking Part

Those who take part in the revue are as follows:

Miss Frances Gibson, soloist; the ballet chorus girls under Miss McCoy's direction include Catherine Eagan, Charlotte Bartlett, Hazel Houston, Eleanor Blanning, Martha Jo McGoun, Doris Updegraff, Ruth Brennenman, Janet Brennenman, Elizabeth Connover, Dorothy Usselton, Hilda Newmark, Margarite Hogue, Jessie May Weaver, Louise Fink, Molie Livingston and Eveline Shriver.

Treat Promised Sportsmen At Banquet On 20th

Five Wonderful Reels Of Moving Pictures Will Be Shown After Dinner

Those people who get tickets for the seventh annual banquet of the Lawrence County Sportsmen's Association to be held in the Cathedral Thursday evening, March 20, are assured a treat in speaking and also in special motion pictures secured for the occasion.

Following the dinner and the speaking program, there will be shown in the auditorium of the Cathedral, five or more reels of motion pictures taken by the Pathé company. These have never been seen here before.

The pictures will include big game hunting scenes secured in Alaska and dog trials held in Mississippi.

Tickets must be secured within the next few days, as it must be known shortly how many must be prepared. These tickets cost a dollar and can be secured from City Treasurer L. W. McClung, Alderman O. H. P. Green or any member of the Association.

Police Down Sleuths In Shooting Contest

(International News Service)
DENVER, March 14.—The traffic squad of the Denver police force is handing the "merry berries" to the detective squad.

A team of five members of the traffic force defeated the detective's department team in shooting contest by a score of 450 to 428 out of a possible 500.

French Vineyards Ruined by Flood

The partly submerged village of Languedoc during the recent disastrous flood which resulted from the collapse of the great Tarn River dam and swept over the Toulouse region, taking a toll of 172 lives and causing great property damage.

The heart of France's richest vineyard district was completely wiped out by the flood waters, which covered thousands of acres and washed away the foundations of homes.

OH, THESE WOMEN!

By LEOLA ALLARD

A wise cry from a girl who says that the girls worth marrying, "those who work" (according to a Chicago Irishman) are the girls who haven't the opportunity to meet the right man.

"When one is associated with men of intelligence all day in business, it would be rather boresome to be married to a dull and stupid man such as most of us working girls have the chance to meet," she writes me.

There's something to that cry.

Girls who are on a lower, or at least different, social level than the men they work for become accustomed to lively thinkers, and the plodders who are content to go along on small intelligence all day in business, it would be boresome to be married to a dull, stupid man.

"Most of us in a large city, have a limited social circle, and are too tired most nights to get around and see whos who. One can't be a successful business girl and do too much playing around. If I'm wrong then the Irishman must be wrong too."

B. P. What a matrimonial bureau I could start if I had the inclination! Every woman who gets mad at a bachelor for saying that marriage is OUT, wants his address. I wonder what for? Every man who gets disgusted with a woman's views wants to express his, but he doesn't care where she is and has no inclination to meet her. That's how the sexes are.

The girl from Detroit strikes a chord that has been sounded before. She is too smart to try to start a flirtation with her employer. She isn't forever trying to vamp the men with whom she comes in contact in business. Because of her dignity and business like attitude the men don't ask her to go out to dinner. Consequently her social activities are confined to those in her own social circle whom she has outgrown mentally.

Every now and then a man discovers a girl like that, a big man with a fine mind and a great sense of appreciation and a successful romance is recorded. But the ones worth discovering, don't go out to "catch" anybody.

Yes, B. P., it IS quite a problem.

MARTIN POINTS TO EQUALITY IN TAXING METHODS

Treasurer Says Pennsylvania System Is Fair,
Uniform

HARRISBURG, Mar. 14.—Pennsylvania in its revenue system has accomplished a greater degree of equality in the assessment and collection of taxes than any other American state according to General Edward Martin, State treasurer.

"No system of taxation will ever be framed which will be perfect, or meet with universal approval," said General Martin today. "Human nature contains the elements of selfishness, and so long as this continues distribution of public burden will cause more or less friction and objection. Pennsylvania, however, has accomplished substantial uniformity and its system has brought an enviable financial condition.

"Pennsylvania corporations pay a large proportion of the State's annual tax revenue. The individual citizen pays a comparatively small share. There is no state tax on real estate, nor does the State receive any portion of the personal property tax.

B. P. W. EMBLEM

Contributed

The emblem of the National Federation of Business and Professional women.

Not Venus beautiful, but static, and sated with her own perfection, nor Minerva, cold and perfect in her wisdom, could typify this organization, but Nike, the Goddess of Victory.

This majestic marble figure in 360 B. C. stood upon the prow of a ship blowing the fanfare of triumph upon a trumpet held in her right hand, while in her left she carried a trophy commemorating a naval conquest. She still rides the waves braced against the wind, her draperies fluttering in the breeze, every line of her splendid torso vibrant with strength and joy and the sense of progress. She is not passive. She is alive. She moves onward. The lines of her splendid figure are uplifted, pushing against the wind, her great wings not straining, but outstretched, her whole body eloquent of the onward movement.

So rides the woman today against the wind and waves of ancient prejudice and limitations, not static and satisfied, but moving steadily forward.

Captured and held in the endless circle of gold are the pertinent facts about this organization. The tiny initials at the base tell who we are. The date carved on the open scroll of learning tells when we were formed, and the clustered emblems, the Ship of Commerce, the Flaming Torch of Wisdom, and the Winged Wand of the Herald answer the question why, for they are the work and the vision, the knowledge and the far flung message of women victorious.

Contains eight kinds of even-same ingredients that are in Flaxolyn yet it would be utterly impossible to combine them with the same degree of balance and potency for which Dr. Luntz so long sought.

Flaxolyn contains only the purest of herbs, fortified by medicaments recommended and approved by high medical authority.

HERE in Germany, where Science is king, physicians are prompt to take notice of so remarkable a health-restorer as Flaxolyn. I for one must HEARTILY APPROVE of a medicine that is so pleasant to take and yet powerful in its attack on Constipation and the hundred-and-one complaints that are directly caused by it.

BRIGHTENS LIFELESS COMPLEXION

"As a specialist in diseases of the skin and blood I recommend Flaxolyn to the fullest extent. Sluggish blood, and dull, lifeless complexions marred by unsightly blotches and pimples are often the result of a cause more deeply-seated than faulty elimination. RETURN TO NORMAL BOWEL, KIDNEY AND LIVER ACTION, upon which healthy blood and tissue depend, is essential. In bringing about Flaxolyn provides an invaluable SOURCE OF NEW STRENGTH AND ROBUST HEALTH."

MONEY BACK GUARANTEE

Certainly a man of the standing of Professor Dr. Remy Hersch would not openly acclaim any medicinal product if he were not fully confident of its merits. Dr. Hersch's frank endorsement of Flaxolyn should fully convince you that Flaxolyn is worthy of your prompt trial. If you are already a user of Flaxolyn, Dr. Hersch's statement cannot fail to impress you with the need for continuing its use.

Tear out this convenient coupon as a reminder to obtain a bottle of Flaxolyn. Dr. Harris H. Luntz (M.D., D.O.), discoverer of Flaxolyn, cordially invites you to use Herbal Flaxolyn compound on your PERSONAL GUARANTEE that if you are not pleased with the improvement by the sixth pleasant spoonful, you may return the partly used bottle and have the full purchase price refunded to you.

BOY SCOUT NEWS

ROB WHITE PATROL

Members of the Bob White patrol of the Elks Troop No. 5 held their regular meeting at the Elks home on March 11. The meeting was in charge of Robert Rodgers, patrol leader. The meeting was opened by Victor Zuchowski leading the boys in the Lord's prayer, Les Wooley in the scout oath, and Earl Davies in the pledge of allegiance. Dues were collected. Each boy cited a good turn and home duty which had been performed during the week. The boys planned for a hike on Saturday, March 15. Several business matters were brought up during the meeting. The patrol decided how the money made in a bake sale should be expended. The following games were played. "Black Smith," "Poison" and "Judge is in the Court House." All members are requested to be at the next meeting which is to be held on March 18.

Supreme Court Asked To Decide On Ticklish Prohibition Question

Trouble Aplenty If Court Rules That Buyer Of Liquor Is Equally As Guilty

Hope For Court Ruling Before Adjournment For Summer Recess—Capital On Edge

By GEORGE R. HOLMES
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Panama's famous box of troubles will be as nothing compared to the package of difficulties that will be opened for the prohibition bureau if the supreme court decides that the buyers of liquor, as well as the seller, is guilty of a felony under the Volstead act.

The government has put the issue squarely to the court and hopes for a decision before the court recesses for the summer. The authorities are generally agreed that it is the most crucial question involving prohibition that has been submitted to the bench since the constitutionality of the Volstead act was decided.

In Felony Class

A victory for the government would put in the felony class every citizen who buys liquor, whether it be a drink or a barrel. He would be liable to the same punishment that is now meted out to the bootlegger: in the eyes of the law, in fact if the supreme court holds with the department of justice, the buyer of liquor becomes a bootlegger.

Thus, overnight almost, the court may multiply a thousand fold the "felony class" in the country. While publicly silent, the authorities privately are somewhat aghast at the prospect. Enforcement, they say, is difficult enough now, when it is directed only at the commercial dispenser of liquor. The prospect of trying to enforce it against the consumer as well makes them shake their heads.

Decision Wanted

Attorney General Mitchell, however, is intent upon getting a decision on the point. The case was before the court today on its squarest aspect, and there appears no avenue by which the court can avoid a direct yes-or-no answer.

As usual, the wets and drys were divided today as to what the ultimate effect will be if the government wins the decision.

Senator Sheppard (D) of Texas, author of the Eighteenth amendment, and some of his dry supporters, believe that the cause of enforcement will be immeasurably advanced if the government wins. If the court decides against the government, Senator Sheppard has ready a bill which will specifically make the buyer of liquor guilty of a felony.

Old Joe Grundy Now Realizes Influence Of Senatorial Toga

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, March 14—Old Joe Grundy of Pennsylvania has discovered that a man in a senatorial toga is more influential than he imagined. Old Joe always recognized the utility of a staff of stuffed togas—working for him. Until recently, however, he evidently felt that the right place for a real politician was in the background, pulling strings for the stuffed togas to dance to.

When he allowed Governor Fisher, of Pennsylvania to appoint him, personally, last December, to serve for a congressional session as a toga's stuffing, it was not because he had any ambitions of that sort.

It was because one of Pennsylvania's togas had become unstrutted and had to be padded out somehow; and no ready made stuffing that suited old Joe being available on short notice he simply had to step into the garment temporarily (as he thought then) to keep it occupied.

Undoubtedly the experience humiliated old Joe at first, and yet it taught him a couple of lessons.

Firstly, it taught him that no stuffed toga can perform as effectively as a toga with an able, resolute, hard-boiled human being inside it. Secondly, it taught him that a human being, even of the admirable Rotarian type aforesaid, can get away with certain desirable stunts, in a toga, with the same individual, clad in a sack suit, is apt to fail at.

So old Joe has decided to hang onto his toga—politics permitting.

For instance, nobody paid any attention to a speech old Joe made some time before last inauguration day, expressing strong skepticism concerning Mr. Hoover's political acumen. He did it in a sack suit; hence without a particle of eclat.

Then, in due course, as Senator Grundy, old Joe donned his toga.

Immediately all the newspapers dug up this very identical speech, and plastered it all over their front pages.

As Senator Grundy (in a toga), old Joe created a first class sensation by broadcasting the recent story that President Hoover never did like the high tariff bill which the Republican house of representatives passed last spring, but is delighted with the anti-G. O. P. senate has torn the measure to pieces.

The same thing would have been little needed, coming from him in a sack suit as plain Joseph G. Grundy.

Old Joe, who needs no X-ray machine to see through a grindstone, is quick to appreciate that the toga is what adds to his utterances publicity value.

It is true that, in his pre-toga period, Senator Grundy could have disseminated his ideas through one of his stuffed togas, but it would not have had the same weight—because a stuffed toga speaks with nothing like the authority of a sure-enough senator, and Senator Grundy is genuine if ever a senator was, despite the fact that he is only an appointed one.

Elected, he will enjoy still more prestige, to be sure, Old Joe, perceives it. Accordingly next November he proposes to get himself elected.

Usually, what a man can have and does not want, he has difficulty in getting when he does want it.

It is the case of old Joe Grundy. He could have been senator several times, before actual experience sold him on the proposition that a toga is worth having. Now that he is sold, he is going to have opposition.

William S. Vare is backing Secretary of Labor James J. Davis.

And a three-cornered race for the Republican gubernatorial nomination with a Grundy candidate, a Vare candidate and Gifford Pinchot, may complicate the senatorial primary and upset Grundy's "apple cart."

Pinchot was governor of Pennsylvania not so long ago—and not a popular one with the Keystone politicians either.

Joseph R. Grundy

He will be able to exert some influence in the senatorial campaign—perhaps just enough to beat either candidate. Besides, friends of the White House may help the candidate from the cabinet, Vare's candidate.

Old Joe has not exerted himself to conceal his disapproval of some of the present White House tenant's policies. It is no secret that the senator's G. O. P. old guardsmen concur with him—though he is the boldest among them in revealing his sentiments. As a regularly-elected senator, he would be just the partner to improve their nerve immensely. He (and they) might have a lot to say at the 1932 G. O. P. convention.

Allegheny County Lawyers To Aid In Choosing Of Judge

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, March 14.—Repeating the procedure carried out when previous vacancies occurred on the common pleas bench, a referendum for the expression of lawyers of Allegheny county of their choice of a man to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Richard W. Martin will be proposed at the meeting today of the Allegheny County Bar Association.

Attorney William B McFall, chairman of the executive committee, said the resolution will be presented by that committee proposing the canvass. The results of the poll, if ratified by the association will be given Gov. John S. Fisher who will make the appointment to fill the vacancy.

We Please the Critical— Satisfy the Economical

It's when you please everyone—the critical—the economical—that you win a reputation as the best in your particular line of business.

By handling "better meats"—meats that are personally inspected before they are placed in our meat market—we always have been able to please particularly the great number of patrons who visit our shop and insist on having choice cuts of our "better meats." It's these choice cuts of personally inspected meats that win for us hundreds of exclusive patrons. (We don't blame our customers for being critical when buying their meats—we always desire the best when we make our purchases—why shouldn't you?)

It's not our policy to engage in a price-cutting war or to undersell all markets in the city, but for those patrons who wish "better meats" at prices that are right we too can satisfy that group—the so-called economical buyers. Our sole aim is to please everyone—we have been doing it for years—if you are not numbered among our patrons you are overlooking a real opportunity—an opportunity to buy at the meat market that pleases the critical and satisfies the economical.

We also handle a nice line of vegetables and groceries.

For your convenience we list a few of our Saturday specials.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Minstrel Presented Thursday Evening In Mahoning M. E.

Large Crowd Enjoys Program—Other News Notes Of The Seventh Ward

An excellent program in the form of a Minstrel show was presented Thursday evening in the Mahoning M. E. church. A capacity audience was in attendance. The program was presented under the auspices of the Men's Bible class of the church. Singing of minstrel and popular songs, banjo selections, much humor and mirth afforded by jokes and repartee by interlocutor and end men and orchestra music comprised the program.

Jack Evans in the role of interlocutor was fine in his part of linking the minstrel numbers. The end men, black faced comedians attired in white suits furnished plenty of good humor. End men were, Loy Gwin, J. W. Miller, Dr. C. W. Davis, Ellis Howard, M. C. Adams and Q. E. Davy.

The Minstrel chorus comprised a group of twelve men and they were accompanied by two banjo players. The men in the chorus wore blue trousers and light coats. Solos were sung by Jack Evans, Rev. David Daye Sleppy, David Daye Sleppy, Jr., Ellis Howard, Loy Gwin, Dr. C. W. Davis, M. C. Adams and Q. E. Davy.

The program was well presented and enjoyed by the audience. A fourteen piece orchestra played a number of selections and accompanied the minstrel singing. Chester Johnston presided at the piano.

This program will be presented again this evening in the church basement. Proceeds realized from the sale of tickets for the event will go toward the Joash campaign being conducted in the church.

EDUCATIONAL CLUBS

Mahoning school educational clubs had club meetings Thursday morning fourth period. There are six school clubs and they meet every two weeks.

JURY GETS TESTIMONY ON HOW BRADY PAUL WAS SHOT BY WOMAN

Eye-Witnesses In Accord As To Fact That Woman Fired Shot That Struck Down State Highway Officer—Details Of Gun Battle Graphically Portrayed

Link by link, the commonwealth's chain of evidence against Irene Schroeder for the murder of Corporal Brady Paul on December 27, 1929, is being forged, and as each link is added to the lengthening chain the certainty of guilt seems more and more apparent.

Thursday night and this morning's sessions in Court Room No. 1, were perhaps the most vital portions of the commonwealth's case against the Trigger Blonde. By six eye witnesses the commonwealth showed that Corporal Brady Paul met his death at the hands of a woman, and this woman was identified as Irene Schroeder.

At the opening of court, the commonwealth recalled Mrs. Eva Baldwin and Ralph Newingham for minor additions to their testimony. Then more of the kind of testimony that is expected to secure meting out of the extreme penalty to the Gun Girl. Raymond Baldwin, fourteen year old son of Mrs. Eva Baldwin told of seeing the woman fire the shot, saw Paul fall, saw a man kick Ernest Moore out of the road of the automobile, and then saw the car drive away.

Mrs. Martha Williams
Mrs. Martha Williams, a neighbor of the Baldwin's told of being at her window when the "death car" was stopped, of watching the officers stop automobiles, of seeing a man and a woman get out and of hearing a shot and seeing smoke issue from the woman's hand.

George Book was the last witness of the morning session. He told of driving his truck towards New Castle and stopping in front of the Williams home shortly after the noon tour. He described the shooting as he saw it and like Mrs. Williams, "saw the smoke coming from the woman's hand."

Repeated assaults of the defense upon cross examination failed to shake the testimony of the eye witnesses in any material point. Back and forth the defense attorneys took the witnesses over their story, and at the end the salient feature stood out clearly, a woman shot Brady Paul, and that woman was identified as Irene Schroeder.

Still Stoic
Her usual stoicism marked the blond this morning as she sat in court. One might almost imagine her a modern Galatea as she sat there, unmoved, expressionless, silent, listening to the testimony in as detached a manner as the most casual spectator. That same iron nerve which carried her across a nation, shooting it out with cops has not yet deserted her and the slight indisposition of two days ago has passed. She is still garbed in the lace trimmed black dress, with the heavy black coat. The spring straw hat has been replaced by a chic black cloche hat which sets down her head much like a headgear on a football center's head.

Apparently Attorney Charles J. Margiotti, special counsel for the commonwealth is confident of the outcome for on several occasions he refused to quibble over the admissibility of evidence and withdrew the question at issue. With as much baste as seems expedient he puts the witnesses through their examination and by tonight that part of the testimony which deals with the actual shooting of Brady Paul will be in.

Other Witnesses
This afternoon it is expected that Howard Kelley, the undertaker who took Paul to the hospital, Mrs. John A. Crowl who was with him in the operating room when he died and several other witnesses who assisted in the taking of Paul to the hospital will be heard.

The next step will probably be the testimony of Ray Horton and Elsie Nickum from whom the bandits stole an automobile after the death of Paul. Then the testimony of witnesses who have knowledge of what happened between New Castle, Wheeling, and Parkersburg, then St. Louis, Mo., and then Phoenix, Arizona.

The testimony taken this morning follows:

MORNING SESSION
Ernest C. Moore was recalled to the stand at the opening of court. He identified a picture of Brady Paul. Commonwealth offers in evidence a picture of Brady Paul.

Mrs. Eva Baldwin was recalled. Her testimony was merely to add a few minor details as to position of objects near her home when the commonwealth took pictures on February 21. No cross examination.

Ralph Newingham was recalled and testified that the car he drove on Feb 21 for the pictures was the same model Chevrolet coach as the one in which Irene Schroeder and Dague rode on December 27.

Boy Testifies
Raymond Baldwin, son of Mrs. Eva Baldwin was called to the stand.

Q. What grade are you in?
A. Eighth grade.
Q. Did you see the motor patrol at your lane December 27?

A. Yes. I watched them stop cars on the Butler road. After stopping 6 or 7 towards New Castle a Chevrolet came along and was stopped by Brady Paul. He walked to the window of the car and Ernest Moore was in back of him. A man got out and a woman followed. Both pulled their guns and pointed them at Brady Paul. He backed up towards Butler. The two people had their guns pointed at Paul. Ernest Moore was by the front ladder.

Q. Did you see any shooting?

Woman Shot Paul
A. Yes the woman shot Brady Paul.

while the other one went around the car. A man got out of the car followed by a woman. The woman had her hand extended towards Paul. Then I went to an adjoining window, a front window.

Q. What did you see them?

A. Well, I didn't have a good view of the rear of the car—I saw Moore crouched down in front of the radiator. I saw Corporal Paul and the lady at the rear of the car. She had her hand extended towards Paul. I heard a shot and saw smoke from her hand.

Q. How far was Paul from the woman?

A. About 8 feet.

Q. Did you see anything at the front of the car?

A. Saw a man stooping over Moore.

Q. Did Paul get to the pole?

A. Yes.

Q. Up to that time had he shot?

A. No.

Q. Did he shoot?

A. Yes at the car as it was leaving.

Q. How many shots did he fire?

A. About 4.

Q. How was the man dressed?

A. A long dark overcoat and soft hat.

Q. How was the woman dressed?

A. Black coat and black hat.

Cross Examined by Jarrett

No change in the testimony of Mrs. Williams.

Howard Zeigler who resides on the Butler road saw the officers when they were in the lane. His attention was first attracted by a screeching brakes.

Q. Where were you then?

A. On the davenport.

Q. What did you do?

A. Went to the window and looked out.

Q. Did you point out the place you were standing to the photographer?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you have an unobstructed view of the officer as well as the automobile?

A. Yes. Paul stayed at the door of the car and Moore went around back.

A man and woman got out and they each had a gun in their hand. Paul backed up with the woman covering him. I saw his left hand but couldn't see Paul's right hand as they were in the road.

Q. Could you see them back of the car?

A. No, just the back of the woman and the man. I couldn't see Paul or Moore.

Q. Was the man next the car or the woman?

A. The woman.

Q. Then what?

A. I saw Moore coming around the front of the car and raise up.

Q. Did you see anyone in the car?

A. No sir.

Q. What became of the man at the back of the car?

A. He came around the side of the car.

Q. Had Moore fallen down?

Objected to.

Q. What position was Moore in when the man was over him.

A. He was lying on the ground.

Q. After you noticed this man lean over Moore did you look on the other side?

A. Yes. Paul was behind a pole shooting.

Q. Was that after you had seen the man stooping over Moore?

A. Yes.

Paul Fired

Q. How many shots did Paul fire?

A. About two.

Q. Where you at home when the engineer and photographer were at your home?

A. Yes.

Witness identified a picture of the view from the Baldwin home. The picture was then admitted as evidence, objection being overruled.

Cross Examined by Dickey

Q. Did you hear someone say get back?

A. Yes.

Q. And you could hear that from the house?

A. Yes sir.

Q. How far it to the road?

A. I don't know.

Q. Isn't it about 400 feet?

A. I don't know.

Q. Could you see Brady Paul's hand?

A. No.

Q. What was in the man and woman's hand?

A. Guns.

Q. Did you notice where Moore left Paul?

A. Just after Paul went to the window.

Q. You can't be mistaken about seeing the smoke from the gun in the woman's hand?

A. No sir.

Q. Did you notice Paul as he went back to the pole?

A. No sir I was watching the car.

Q. How many times did the woman shoot? Once?

A. Yes.

Mrs. Williams Called

Mrs. Martha Williams who resides next to Mrs. Baldwin was called.

Q. You were home on December 27?

A. Yes.

Q. What did you see about noon?

A. Saw two officers park their motorcycle in the Baldwin lane. They were stopping cars going towards New Castle. They stopped a Chevrolet car. The taller one went to the door

Short Recess

A recess of ten minutes was taken before Zeigler finished his direct testimony.

Q. Did you see the car go by?

A. Yes.

Q. Who was in it?

A. A man and a woman in the front seat and a man in the back seat.

Cross examined by Dickey.

Q. You say Moore went down once?

A. Yes.

Q. Then he did go clear down?

A. Yes.

Q. What kind of a day was it out there Howard?

A. Clear day.

Q. Did you go out of house when car drove away?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you notice a truck?

A. Yes it was backing up.

Q. Where was Ernest Moore when you first saw him?

A. In the road stopping cars.

Q. See him walking around the car?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you notice what his gait was?

A. He was walking, kind of bent over a little bit.

Q. Did he have a gun in his hand?

A. Not as he was coming around to the front. He did when he got to the front of the car. He drew it then.

George Book

George Book, a truck driver who saw the battle from his truck on the Butler road was called.

Q. What kind of truck did you have?

A. A Ford.

Q. Were you on the Butler-New Castle road that day?

A. Yes.

Q. What time were you in the vicinity of the Baldwin home?

A. Shortly after 12 o'clock.

Q. When you came towards the William's home did you see a car?

A. Yes. I saw one there and two highway patrolmen.

Q. Did you designate to the engineer and photographers where you were on the road?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you travel toward the car?

A. For a while. I stopped about 150 feet from the car.

Q. Did you observe the position of the car ahead of you?

A. Yes.

Witness identifies two pictures taken from where his truck was. Com-

HIGH BEACONS TO LIGHT PATH OF AIRPLANES

By LYLE ABBOTT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LOS ANGELES, March 14.—Coyotes that sing to the moon and ground owls that emerge from the burrows of prairie dogs to hover at night, soon will be disturbed in their desert haunts in southern California and Northern Arizona by the rhythmic flashing beacons of a modern airway.

Work has just been started on the first 245 miles of the Los Angeles-Kansas City airway, over which hundreds of passenger and mail planes now are plowing the upper pair.

The desert stretch will have towers 51 feet high, spaced from 29 to 38 miles apart, depending on the lay of the land.

Red flashers near each beacon will inform the night-flying pilot of his course and identify each beacon station by means of a code of dots and dashes.

Airplane sightseeing has given the modern-minded traveler an insight into hidden places that many generations of tourists have lacked because of the inaccessibility of the Grand Canyon.

Today the 1000-foot vertical walls of black volcanic rock between which the Boulder dam will be built, are a common scenic attraction because they no longer lie at the end of a hard horseback journey of several days from the nearest town.

S. W. Wright, who flies the Pickwick Latin-American airway with tri-weekly mail and passengers between Los Angeles, Mexico City, Guatemala and San Salvador claims a new record of safe flying.

Wright has flown 50,000 miles between August 1, 1929 and February 1, 1930, without accident. Few automobiles go 50,000 miles without a fender dent, Wright says.

Gas On Stomach Is Dangerous

TELLS HOW TO STOP IT

Gas, Pain, Bloating and a feeling of fullness after eating are almost certain evidence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach.

Too much acid irritates the delicate stomach lining, frequently causing chronic Gastritis and dangerous Ulcers. Food ferments and sours, forming a gas that distends the stomach and often seriously affects the heart.

It is genuine folly to neglect such a condition or to treat with artificial digestive aids that cannot neutralize the stomach acid. A better way is to get from any reliable drug store some Bisulcated Magnesia (powder or tablets) and take a little water after each meal. Bisulcated Magnesia will stop the worst gas attack quickly and without embarrassment. Taken right after eating, it prevents formation of gas and acids so there is no sourness, bloating or pain. Pleasant and perfectly harmless to use—Bisulcated Magnesia does give wonderful relief in nine out of ten cases. Ask your Doctor or Druggist. Try it today.

"The kingdom of God is not meat and drink; but righteousness, and peace, and joy in the Holy Ghost."—Romans 14:17.

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

Is the world getting better? Some folks argue that it is, and point to numerous evidences of the progress of righteousness and good will in the world. Is the world getting worse? Other folks argue that it is, and can point to just as numerous evidences of the progress of iniquity, crime and strife in the world. The fact is that both are right. There is more good in the world today than ever before, and there is also more evil in the world than ever before. This is in accord with our Lord's parable of the tares and the wheat. "The field is the world; the good seed are the children of the kingdom, but the tares are the children of the wicked one: the enemy that sowed them is the devil." Let both grow together until the harvest: it is the King's own explanation of why he tolerates this increase of evil side by side with increasing righteousness.

The Mustard Seed and Leaven

The third of Christ's Kingdom parables pictured his kingdom as "like to a grain of mustard seed which a man took, and sowed in his field; which indeed is the least of all seeds: but when it is grown, it is the greatest among herbs, and becometh a tree, so that the birds of the air come and lodge in the branches thereof." It was a prophecy of that unfortunate day when the Church abandoned the spirit and policy of the lowly Nazarene and grasped after worldly glory and political power with the result that forces of evil like foul broods of birds found it paid to shelter in the Church.

The fourth of this group of parables is companion to the third and points to an unfortunate tendency of the Kingdom in another direction.

The Judgment Parable

The concluding parable of the group is that of the net and the separation of its contents, a parable of the final judgement at the end of the age in which evil will be separated from good, the good to finally come into his own in the triumph of which it has often been cheated in this life.

The daily Bible readings for next week's study are: Mon., Matt. 12:21-31; Tues., Matt. 17:14-20; Wednesday Luke, 13: 10-17; Thurs., John 9:1-12; Fri., II Cor. 1:3-11; Sat., Luke 22:47-53 and Sun., Psalm 119: 33-40.

Air Experts Believe Fog Problem Has Been Solved

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Government aeronautical experts believe that the question of fog flying and landing virtually has been solved and that installation of the proper equipment at landing fields and in planes is about all that remains to be done to meet the problem.

Nevertheless, experts at the Bureau of Standards pointed out, it may be two years before aeronautical science is able to reach a complete solution. The Bureau has been engaged for about a year in the use of radio to aid airplanes landing at airports in dense fog, when the ground is invisible.

"The pilot landing in fog must be given instantaneous information on his three coordinates in space," the bureau said. "That is, he must be guided to and along a suitable runway, must know how far along it he has gone, and the height of the landing path above the ground must be properly regulated."

"Of these requirements, the first is given by a small directive radio beacon, the second by a marker beacon and the third by a landing beam. The first has been installed by the bureau both at its own field, College Park, Md., and at Mitchell Field, L. I., for the Guggenheim Fund. At Mitchell Field successful blind landings were made by Lieutenant J. H. Doolittle, using this beacon in conjunction with several non-radio instruments."

At College Park all three elements of the system have been installed, the small directive beacon, marker beacons and the landing beam. The first two are identical in principle with the same devices developed for use on the airways for guiding airplanes from one airport to another.

The method now being tried to provide the third element of the system, i.e., to regulate properly the height of the landing path as the airplane approaches the landing, is a directed beam. This beam, of 60,000 to 100,000 kilocycles, is directed at a small angle above the horizontal. A very simple receiving arrangement with visual indicator is used on the airplane. When the airplane is so maneuvered as to keep the deflection of the indicators always at a fixed point, the airplane follows a gliding path down to the ground which is quite suitable for the landing operation.

In one experiment the landing path marked out by the beam began at approximately three miles from the transmitter, at which time the plane was 2,000 feet above the ground. At two miles the plane was 500 feet up, one mile 240 feet, a half mile 85 feet and so on until at 500 feet from the transmitter it was five feet above the ground.

"It will be noted that the slope of this path decreases as the pilot approaches the ground, tending to facilitate a proper landing," an expert explained.

Census Will Show Whether Females Still Exceed Males

Pennsylvania Has Had Fewer Men Than Women For Past Two Decades, Records Show

By ARTHUR C. WIMER
Special Washington Correspondent of The New Castle News

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 14.—One of the most important facts to be determined by the 1930 census in Pennsylvania will be the ratio of male to female in the State, Dr. Joseph A. Hill, acting director of the census, bureau, says.

Whether the males will continue to uphold their numerical superiority in Pennsylvania, in view of growing immigration restrictions which tend to cut down the males more than the females, will shortly be determined.

In common with most states of the country, Pennsylvania had slightly fewer males in proportion to females in 1920 than in 1910, census bureau figures for the last two decennial censuses reveal.

Ten years ago there were 103.2 men for every hundred women in the state, as compared with 105.9 men to 100 hundred women twenty years ago.

Likewise the ratio in the country at large changed from 106 males to 100 females in 1910 to 104 males for 100 females in 1920.

The information obtained through the census as to the sex ratio is indispensable in the calculation of life tables, in the determination of mortality rates, and in studying the incidence of disease, as well as in business, in legislation, and other connections.

The method now being tried to provide the third element of the system, i.e., to regulate properly the height of the landing path as the airplane approaches the landing, is a directed beam. This beam, of 60,000 to 100,000 kilocycles, is directed at a small angle above the horizontal. A very simple receiving arrangement with visual indicator is used on the airplane. Little Children Enjoy Visit At Public Library

West Side Kindergarten Class Hears Stories Told This Morning By Children's Librarian

Seventeen little children from the West Side kindergarten visited the New Castle free public library, this morning. They were brought in an automobile by their teacher, Miss Alice Warner.

The children were intensely interested in every detail about the public library, although they are not yet of the reading age.

After being taken through the children's department, the children were told stories by the children's librarian, Miss Alice Joyce. After the visit, the children, led by their teacher, filed out of the library, two by two, and all seventeen, systematically were put into the automobile of Miss Warner.

Cauthon And Huske Meet In Semi-Final

Evans Eliminates Himself
And Huske's Knockout
Topples Jadaberg

FRIEDMAN-ROCCO
CONTINUE GRIND

Knockout Huske, Akron and Ralph Cauthon, Cleveland, middleweights, will fight the six round semi-final to the Emmett Rocco-Al Smith 10 round feature bout, it was announced today. Huske scored a technical knockout over Henry Attel here and followed it up by knocking out Red Jadaberg in two sessions at Youngstown, Wednesday night. Cauthon hopes to beat Huske then challenge Henry Firpo. He is a colorful fighter and will give Huske a great fight.

The Huske-Cauthon bout should be miles better than the Dick Evans-Red Jadaberg tilt which was originally carded. Dick telephoned that he had been forced to undergo treatment owing to kidney trouble and Jadaberg eliminated himself by losing to Huske.

Friedman is rounding into tiptop condition at Philadelphia and the local pride, Rocco, is already in good condition. He is training with Harold Scarney who two years ago felt a knockout delivered by Rocco. The bout is attracting attention from all sections of the country.

West Side Rivals Clash

This is due to Rocco's recent run of successes which were interpolated by only me defeat. He knocked out Tom Kirby, beat Mose Bouquillon, followed it with a victory over Marty Gallagher, dropped a 10 round decision to Frankie Sims then came back strong and knocked out Ed Keeley.

Friedman has been battling regularly each week and last Friday astonishedistic sharpshooter by giving Duffy Griffiths all he could to handle in Boston. According to reports from the Hub City Friedman had Griffith tired and weary in the seventh-round.

Don Morse, Jamestown, N. Y., will tackle Frankie Lands, New Castle, at 12 in a six round bout and Tommy Arnold will meet Billy Murphy in a six round setto at 147 pounds. There is considerable interest in the Arnold-Murphy fight as it will decide the West Side supremacy.

Falcon Juniors Defeat Ellwood

The Polish Falcon Juniors defeated the Christians of Ellwood City 39 to 31, in a game played at the Falcon court on Thursday night. It was a hard fought battle, and was featured by the great work of S. Koszela, Noga, and J. Kolodjieski. Huffer for Ellwood City played a whale of a game caging eight baskets, while A. Kolodjieski and B. Koszela also played good basketball.

The Falcon Juniors go to Scotland Lane tonight to battle the Union High team. The Union High boys are out to take the measure of the Falcons tonight. The Falcons will be without their coach Kolodjieski as he will accompany the Falcon Seniors to Wampum.

The summary:

Falcon Juniors 39 Ellwood City 31
S. Koszela F. Criss
Noga F. Huffer

Geneva Prepares For Track Season With Basketball Out Of Way, Geneva Turns Attention To Tri-State Track Meets

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., March 14.—With the basketball season having concluded, the athletics attention of Geneva College turns to track. For five consecutive years Geneva has been Tri-State Conference Champions in this sport. A number of years ago, Bo McMillin took over the coaching reins at the Covenanter institution and not only did he produce sensational football teams but started the Gold and White on the championship path in track when Bo switched to Kansas State.

Bob Park, cross-country coach, was pleased to the position of track and field mentor. Mr. Park is a "star of a decade ago and a famous athlete in his day, who last year succeeded in having his boys capture the crown in some state competition." The 1929 Commencement depicted the ranks of Covenanter track satellites 11 graduating Clair Merriman, Bill Lathorn, D. W. Piper, experienced and certain first or second place winners. Individual Conference champions remaining in Geneva are Captain Waldo Ward, broad jump; Len Friedman, javelin; Bob Nulton, half-mile; and Fair Thomas, quarter mile. The schedule for the current season is as follows:

April 19th, West Virginia at Beaver Falls.
April 26th, Penn Relays.

May 2nd, Carnegie Tech at Pittsburgh.
May 7th, Alfred University at Alfred, N. Y.

May 10th, Bethany at Beaver Falls.
May 17th, Westminster at New Westminster.

May 24th, Allegheny at Meadville.
May 30th, Tri-State Conference Championship Meet at Beaver Falls.

This is due to Rocco's recent run of successes which were interpolated by only me defeat. He knocked out Tom Kirby, beat Mose Bouquillon, followed it with a victory over Marty Gallagher, dropped a 10 round decision to Frankie Sims then came back strong and knocked out Ed Keeley.

Friedman is rounding into tiptop condition at Philadelphia and the local pride, Rocco, is already in good condition. He is training with Harold Scarney who two years ago felt a knockout delivered by Rocco. The bout is attracting attention from all sections of the country.

TWO ARE INJURED IN ELLWOOD CRASH

ELLWOOD CITY, March 14.—An accident occurred at the intersection of Second street and Fountain avenue Thursday afternoon about 4 o'clock involving two cars and a street car.

As near as witnesses can testify, the street car and the car owned by Hermon Kirk of Wurtemburg were traveling north on Fountain avenue, when the street car slowed up to permit a car, said to be operated by Clarence Weeter of Fountain avenue, to pass across Fountain avenue. It seems the Kirk car, not knowing the other car was passing in front of the street car, came on around the car and was struck by the Weeter car, resulting in its upset. Vincent Graham, a passenger in the Kirk car, was thrown against the windshield and received a broken nose and cuts about the face. He was taken to a nearby physician who rendered first aid, and later took him to his home in Wurtemburg.

Clarence Weeter is also said to have been hurt about the face in the accident. Both parties have registered the accident with the local police.

Both cars were badly damaged, although one was able to be driven off under its own power. Cause of the collision has not been placed as yet although spectators state that the motorman of the street car motioned for the Weeter car to cross the street.

Pupils See Fine Operetta Thursday

ELLWOOD CITY, Mar. 14.—Those few hundred students in the local schools who are not taking part in the Music and Health demonstration, enjoyed a premier showing of the demonstration before the students of the schools Thursday afternoon in the Lincoln gymnasium.

The entertainment included drills, songs, playettes and orchestra music. All the schools of the city are taking part and the main show will be presented this evening in the gymnasium of the Lincoln school.

The Circle school will present an operette entitled "The Smuggler," under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Stoner, Miss Robinson and Miss Cain. Attilio DeCosimo has the main part and is supported by seven characters, and groups of choruses. The little play is well presented and very worth while.

Matrons Entertain For Visitors Here

ELLWOOD CITY, March 14.—Mrs. E. C. Clymonds and Mrs. John Brenneman entertained jointly Thursday night for Mrs. William Gribbin of Pasadena, California and Mrs. H. S. Hancher of Zanesville, O., at the McClaymond home on Second street.

Two tables of bridge were in play, and a pleasant evening was enjoyed. Later the hostesses served delicious refreshments in the dining room, and a feature of entertainment was that the guests had to cross the Irish channel to get the lunch.

Those enjoying the event were: Mrs. William Gribbin, Mrs. H. S. Hancher, Mrs. Ray Chambers, Mrs. Loren Springer, Mrs. Carl Davidson and Mrs. Walter Close.

Ladies Aid Has Pleasant Meeting

ELLWOOD CITY, March 14—Members of the Ladies Aid society of the M. E. church conducted a pleasant meeting at the home of Mrs. J. C. McDevitt on Wayne avenue Thursday night with Mrs. Milliken assisting.

A brief business session was conducted at which time plans for spring money-making were discussed. Later a social period and lunch was enjoyed. The society will meet again in April, place of meeting to be announced later.

A pleasant visit with the former's mother, Mrs. Mary French of Wurtemburg.

Rotarians Against Trashy Magazines

Rotarians Hear Fine Talk By Manager Of Local Store
At Meeting Here

ELLWOOD CITY, March 14.—At the regular weekly dinner meeting of the local Rotary club, that took place Thursday night in the dining room of the First Presbyterian church, a heated discussion took place regarding the printing and circulation of trashy magazines.

Several magazines came in for severe condemnation. No definite action was taken at the meeting but a committee has been appointed to look into the matter. Dr. H. D. Patterson heads the committee.

The speaker of the evening was James Birchfield, manager of the J. C. Penny company, who gave his vision of "Chain Stores." In his idea there is no such thing as a chain store. He went back through the years, when the first Penny store was started out in Wyoming, with a partner, who branched off later into his own store, with another partner, who in turn branch out, etc., etc., until the present aggregation of 800 stores had been built. Mr. Birchfield contends that it is just one large company and that each manager as 1-3 interest in his store.

A new member taken in last night was Frank Smith. The program was under the direction of Richard Hawz, chairman of the Vocational committee.

Asked how the team would line up for the first game of the season, Mack quickly replied:

"Exactly as they lineup in the world series. Mickey Cochrane behind the plate, Jimmy Fox at first, Max Bishop at second, John Boley at short, Jim Myky at third, Bing Miller in right field, Mule Haas in center and Al Simmons in left. Of course I don't know this early who will pitch the opening game."

Mack Looks Good

"They look good, don't they?" said Connie, crushing his scorecard in his enthusiasm. "Their condition is much better than this time last year. They have a smoothness, a championship class about them. I suppose it comes from their winning the world's championship. They'll be hard to beat this year."

Depends On Pitchers

Mack's pitchers are rapidly rounding into form. He has as possible starting pitchers Lefty Grove, Rube Waber, George Earnshaw, Eddie Rommel, Jack Quin, Howard Ehmke and Ossie Orwoll—perhaps the greatest array of flingers in the league. He has several excellent prospects, including Bill Breckinridge, Leroy Mahaffey, Glenn Liebhart and Al Mahaffey. Breckinridge was with the "A's" last season. Mahaffey is a six footer purchased from Portland. Liebhart is the 19 year old son of the former Cleveland pitcher and Mahaffey is a twenty year old youngster from Pittsburgh.

"It won't be easy for us to repeat this year because the other clubs in our league have improved," said Mack. "The Yankees are a powerful hitting team, of course, Cleveland and St. Louis are first class clubs. I like the Chicago White Sox's chances very much for they have developed some fine youngsters."

RITTICISMS

BY WILLIAM RITT

Heinie Kley, German wrestler and boxer, says he can lick anybody, provided his opponent isn't equipped with a Chicago torch, or, as it is better known, a stinging shot gun.

Cable dispatches say that Heinie is really the goods and that he has bounced more boys than a night club doorman in a mining town on pay day.

HEINIE'S IDEA OF A LIGHT WORKOUT IS TO PUT A DOZEN BLACKSMITHS TO SLEEP—HEAD FIRST.

Heinie is a nice quiet boy until he gets sore. And then he's a wild animal circus with all the cage doors open.

They say he once got so sore in himself he cut his lip biting his nose in a mirror.

HEINIE WANTS TO COME TO THE UNITED STATES IF HE CAN GET A BOUT WITH THE MARINE CORPS.

The worst break the kaiser ever got was that Heinie was born 10 years too late.

FOR MYERS, Fla., March 14—"I'd like my boys to win the pennant again this year but if we do it won't be an easy task."

Connie Mack, 67 year old manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, world champions, made this declaration today as he sat in the sun on a bench back of the first base at Terry Park and watched his players cavort around the diamond and outfield. "Kid" Gleason, his grayhaired coach, was injecting "pep" into the workout by hitting whizzing grounders from the home plate and Eddie Collins, former "king of the second basemen," who was raised in the Mack school of baseball, hustled around the premises giving advice to rookies and veterans alike. It was a wide-awake, giddy aggregation.

NEW CASTLE DRY GOODS CO.

Bo-Broadway by JOSEPH VAN RAALE

NEW YORK, March 14.—Word reached us from Manhattan's Little Lagoons that Queen Marie of Roumania has signed a contract to write her memories—no cheater! she's got to do it all herself, in person.

Fair enough. And now the world will hold its breath waiting to see if she'll give us a low-down on the price she got for inditing those snappy cold cream, safety pin and toothpick ads.

Hard Luck

Imagine the feeling of a man who doesn't care for Rudy Vallee when he has to listen to one of his thousand and one rotten imitators.

Artistic Footwear

Once upon a time woman's shoes were things to keep her feet off the ground. Now they're "foot millinery." Color harmonies are eagerly pursued and a swank New York pedal parlor is exhibiting official shoe leather color-card for the Spring season containing ten shades.

Some of the names certainly stimulate the imagination, four of them late the imagination, four of them carrying us in fancy straight to Southern Europe.

There is "Riviera Blue"—a color richer than the sea or the sky at Nice or Cannes—bluer than Pop on the ery, sitting there massaging her aristocratic instep as she exclaims: "Muh dawgs has sure been frettin' me all night!"

His Hope Has Fled

Gil Frazer, hat check captain at the Biltmore hotel sighs for a return of the days B. P.—before prohibition—when people seemed to be more happy and contented.

That is Gil's woids, not mine. "O' course, he adds, "that may be my imagination; but I don't think so. I been knockin' round hotels all me life an' I've fallen into th' way o' studin' people an' trends an' times, if you get what I mean?"

"I'm right behind you, Gil," I told him. "Proceed."

But the sequence had been broken and with transition sweet, Gil entered upon a dissertation on hat checking. He is the victim. It seems as an ambition unfulfilled—longing, that stings at his heart string.

The springtime of his sunlight and avishes the rose of its fragrance.

In all the years he's been at the Biltmore, he's never yet been called upon to check Al. Smith's brown derby. The Biltmore is Al's favorite Manhattan hostelry and hundreds of times the justly celebrated brown "biffer," as Al calls it, has reposed on the shelves of the check room; but never placed with loving care by the reverend hand of Gil Frazer.

I tried to cheer him up. "Maybe," I said, "some day—"

Really, it's refreshing.

When everyone has been groveling at your feet all day, you have no idea how refreshing it is to encounter the proud, cold, level stare of a Grand Duchess—a stare that says plainer than words could utter it: "How'd you like to—?"

carry the plans into execution in the near future. Get in line!

One of the spectators who was up around the court house this week said that he heard some singing in the jail, and was informed that one of those singing was Glenn Dagoe. Probably singing "What Will the Verdict Be?", mused a bystander.

In explanation to those curious people who were wondering just what the men were doing to the street lights on the corner of Mill and Washington streets this morning, Pa Newc will say that the men were putting larger globes into the lamps. The transformers had to be changed also.

Children of all sizes, from the Marquis Henry Home, walked hand-in-hand down East Washington street this morning. They all looked very happy. The cause probably was that they were being taken to a show.

THREE THOUSAND SCHOOL MUSICIANS

tion that the contest will occur on April 25, 9:00 o'clock a. m. until 12:00 o'clock; from 1:30 p. m. to 5:00 and then from 7:30 until the contest ends. The committee decided that at 7:30 the class A school organizations will compete for honors. A school must have over 600 students to be rated a class A school. At this time the Senior high school orchestra and other musical organizations will also compete with the other schools.

Any high school having bands, glee clubs, orchestras, choruses, quartets, soloists, can compete. Any school having an ensemble event can compete. By an ensemble is meant brass, string or wood wind quartet. It was also announced that the winners in any contest are eligible to compete in the state musical contest which will be held at Philadelphia sometime in May. The committee stated that the Cathedral auditorium and the lodge room will be used. The Senior high school auditorium will also be used for some contests. Appointment of judging was another movement taken up by the committee.

The committee adjourned at 5:00. In this contest over 30 different high schools which will bring over 3,000 contestants to New Castle are entered. There will be 70 large musical organizations from the different schools. In bringing the musical contest here the Senior high school again places New Castle on top of the other organizations which have conducted conventions and other things. Last year the contest was held at Erie.

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, March 15.—Magistrate Lee Rothenberg looked over his calendar in Central police station here blinks thrice, and then called for lamb, coffee and sinker.

Earl Lamb, charged with being drunk, answered first and admitted that he had been "stewed."

"Five days," replied the magistrate.

Milk, Coffee, charged with vagrancy, answered next and admitted he had no home. The magistrate, probably convinced that lamb stew was not lamb stew with coffee, ordered Coffee to join Lamb and to remain 25 days longer.

Frank Sinker was the last of the procession. He was charged with being drunk. Coffee and Sinkers are never separated the magistrate indicated when he ordered that there would be no exception to the rule.

Sinker was ordered to join Lamb and Coffee in the cooler for five days.

Andrew Bryer Is Bedford Resident

Andrew Bryer, aged 19, who was terribly burned by electricity in an accident occurring Friday morning at Cleveland, where he is employed as a bus driver for a convent at Wickliffe Heights, was not a former resident of this city as previously mentioned but is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bryer of New Bedford, near Villa Marie. His condition was such that he was not expected to live and Mary James Bryer, a sister, who resides with Mrs. Ella Cubbison of 214 East Grant street, left Friday for Cleveland, to be at the bedside of her brother.

THE TOWN DOCTOR "DOCTOR OF TOWNS" SAYS

IF YOU WANT TO HELP NEW CASTLE READ THIS!

New Castle has something to sell. That is, New Castle has something to be sold unless New Castle is want-less—unless it does not desire to grow, keep modern and be a live, wide-aware, doing community.

With something to sell, it is the desires, pleasures and demands of those who can, will or might buy it, that counts. Disregard that, and sales will be limited to the "necessity urge" only, which means, in case of a community, practically no sale at all.

What New Castle has to sell may be a location for a factory, homes for new and more people, or any and many things that any good, healthy community would want and could use. But regardless of what it is, it is the buyer who is boss, first, last and all the time—and what the buyer wants and the way he wants it is what the seller must give him.

Because so many sellers do not recognize this, because so many retailers try to make people buy the way the retailers want to sell, is one reason for so much turmoil in retailing today; because so many people and communities fail or refuse to recognize the desires and demands of the buyers of that which they have to sell, is a reason why so many communities have empty factory buildings, or sites on which there are no factories.

There are five accepted requisites in order that a town be generally considered as a good factory town; namely, accessibility, advantageous marketing of products, suitable transportation, labor supply wages and power. But that is not all!

There are many towns with all five requisites but still they fail to attract new industries or new people because the people who make up and are the community, are not "right."

A town can be below par on these standard requisites, but with the proper "spirit" it can not only compete with other towns but out distance them. Of sixteen towns recently considered for a factory with an annual payroll of several million dollars, eleven had better factory sites, better transportation, location as good if not better, and several other better physical features than the town that got it. These others lacked the "spirit", the fire, the gumption, and people with the right attitude toward the town.

Manufacturers seeking locations for new factories, people seeking a place to live, desire and demand many things which perhaps you cannot make possible; but you can make possible a favorable reply to the ever-present question, "what is the attitude of the people of New Castle towards their community?" A question which is more and more becoming a vital factor in both industrial and commercial community growth.

It is not a question of whether you can—it is will you?

Next week in this column you will be given an opportunity to do something to "build" New Castle. It will cost you no more than a two-cent stamp, plus a willingness to do it. In the meantime ask your neighbor, your fellow-worker, and all those with whom you come in contact, to read the Town Doctor in next Saturday's New Castle News and in that way "Help Build New Castle."

Children of all sizes, from the Marquis Henry Home, walked hand-in-hand down East Washington street this morning. They all looked very happy. The cause probably was that they were being taken to a show.

Railroad Briefs

AGENTS MEET HERE

Thirteen agents of the larger stations on the Erie and Ashtabula division met in conference here Friday with Supervising Agent E. A. Fenton at Pennsylvania railroad offices. Matters of interest to the agents were discussed at length. In attendance were the following: T. C. Limer, Linesville; E. P. Leinweber, Jamestown; J. C. Watson, Greenville; F. W. Lawrence, Sharpsville; J. L. Ely, Sharon; C. C. Rogers, Farrell; J. E. Dyne, Mahoningtown; C. J. Calahan, Niles; C. C. Crowell, Warren; O. J. T. Clark, Ashtabula; O. and S. V. Bryantton, C. I. Whitmore and F. D. Perrine of the local office.

Master Mechanic J. S. Richards of the E. and A. division of the Pennsylvania railroad, and Mrs. Richards, left today to spend the week end with Mr. Richards' parents in Altoona.

After devotionals led by Mrs. Ralph Montgomery, president of Oak Street P. T. A., a P. T. A. song, "My Tribute" was sung, the members of the sixth grade class leading.

Mrs. W. L. Campbell, in behalf of the Women's Federation, told of the work to be done by them in the examination of the pre-school child. The Oak Street P. T. A. voted to cooperate with them.

It was voted to have a "bake bean supper", March 23. Miss Mary Martin will have charge of the supper.

The sending of "treasure chests" to the children of the Philippine Islands was presented by Mrs. Montgomery, and the organization voted to purchase a chest to be filled by the children of the Oak street school.

Miss Mary Martin told of the work to be done by her garden clubs. The children are to be divided into four clubs, the children between ages four and six to be called kinders; seven, eight and nine, sprouts; 10, 11 and 12, the climbers, and 13, 14 and 15, the master gardeners. The aster was chosen as school flower.

A very interesting program was carried out under the supervision of the chairman of the program committee, Mrs. Leonard Cramer. The subject for the afternoon was juvenile protection. Mrs. Howard Platt Meekan spoke on the function of the church in the juvenile's protection. Mrs. Meekan told of the values of the church to the child, best results being obtained by sympathy of home with church.

Mrs. Harry Witlatch spoke on the part of the home in the protection of the juvenile. She stressed the importance of tact and patience.

Miss Anna Dodds spoke on the protection of the school. She stated that it protected the children by training them mentally, training for best use of leisure time, and by teaching them to co-operate and play fair.

The next meeting of the class will be held at the home of Marjory Clark, 122 North Mulberry street.

TEACHER RECOVERS
AFTER OPERATION

Miss Mary Etta Hodil, dramatic teacher in the Mahoning school, is recovering at her home in Pittsburgh, following an operation for appendicitis. During her absence, her place is being filled by Miss Alice Mitchell.

CLASS MEETS

The Upstagers class of the Emmanuel M. E. church held their initial meeting Thursday evening at the home of their teacher, Helen Drumm, 609 Superior street, Jean Hicks pleasingly entertained with a number of banjo selections and the hours spent in a social manner after which Miss Hicks served a dainty lunch to the 14 members present.

The next meeting of the class will be held at the home of Marjory Clark, 122 North Mulberry street.

Milk, Coffee, charged with vagrancy, answered next and admitted he had no home. The magistrate, probably convinced that lamb stew was not lamb stew with coffee, ordered Coffee to join Lamb and to remain 25 days longer.

Frank Sinker was the last of the procession. He was charged with being drunk. Coffee and Sinkers are never separated the magistrate indicated when he ordered that there would be no exception to the rule.

Sinker was ordered to join Lamb and Coffee in the cooler for five days.

STAR LORE

TEN CLASSES OF STARS

By Arthur DeV. Carpenter

Many years after Secchi had classified the stars into four groups, the Henry Draper classification at Harvard observatory was made. It classifies the stars under the letters of the alphabet: O, B, A, F, G, K, M, R, N, S. Our sun is a G star, so is Capella; the O and B stars are like most of the stars in Orion—bluish white; the A stars are white like Sirius and Vega; Procyon of the Little Dog is an F star, so is Canopus; the K stars are orange color like Arcturus; great Antares is an M star, so is Betelgeuse, both red. R, N and S stars are all red stars, N stars very red.

She was the widow of J. Beer Jordan of Mansfield, O., and had made her home with her sister for the past six years.

She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. J. A. Forsythe and Lizzie M. Dickson.

Palbearers were W. F. O. G. G. and John Thallman, Mike Weber, Fred Shuster and John Smith. Interment was made in Oak Park cemetery.

THOMPSON-HANNA ENGAGEMENT NEWS

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Hanna on North Walnut street was a pretty scene Friday evening when 32 friends gathered in their home at which the engagement of Miss Ruth Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Thompson, to Leonard Hanna, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hanna of Moody avenue, was announced.

During the evening a poke of candy eggs was spilled in which a nut shell was concealed that contained a picture of the engaged couple, with the names, "Ruth and Len"—"Spring," written in clever verse, revealing the news.

Games and music were later enjoyed with a delicious lunch being served by Mrs. Alex Hanna, assisted by Mrs. Arthur Seymour, Book, Ray Ziegler and Mrs. James Book. Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Seymour of Hancock, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Makle of Ellwood City. The honor couple received many beautiful gifts.

Miss Thompson is a graduate of the local senior high school, class of '26, she also attended Slippery Rock State Teachers college and is doing substitute work in the local schools at present.

Mr. Hanna is associated with the Henderson-Johnson company of Youngstown, Ohio.

Class Elect Officers

The Mabel Ryan Class of the Christian and Missionary Alliance met Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Roy Houk, Grant street. Mrs. E. C. Anderson gave a brief talk, which the women greatly enjoyed.

Officers elected at this time were: President, Mrs. John Wink; vice president, Mrs. Charles Drish, secretary, Mrs. William Kennedy, treasurer, Mrs. Andrew Hunter and Mrs. Clyde Newton, press reporter.

Miss Jean Fulton was a special guest. At the close of the election the hostess and Mrs. B. G. McFarland served a dairy lunch.

Joint Hostesses

Mrs. Walter T. Hamilton and Mrs. Roy Beals were joint hostesses at a prettily appointed 1 o'clock luncheon in the former's home on East Lincoln avenue Friday, which marked the first of the series to be given by the ladies of the First United Presbyterian church. Covers marked for 12 guests, the places being marked in an unique manner.

Later a general social time was enjoyed. As a special guest for the occasion, they had Mrs. Lewis W. Hamilton, daughter-in-law of Mrs. Hamilton.

ATTEND 63RD WEDDING ANNIVERSARY OF SISTER

Mrs. R. M. Jamison, Court street, and her sister Miss Margaret McKee, were in Beaver Falls Wednesday, March 12, attending the 63rd wedding anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. McGoun, which was held at the home of their son, District Attorney J. Blaine McGoun of Beaver county. There were four generations in attendance at the tea and dinner, the younger folks being entertained in the afternoon and the older members of the family having a 6 o'clock dinner. A feature of the dinner was a poem read by Mrs. Jamison, which was composed for her on her golden wedding anniversary by Mrs. David Dickey, deceased, who had been at the McGoun wedding.

Mrs. McGoun was Sarah McKee, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Baine McKee, whose old homestead was on the site of the McGoun block, South Mill street, and was built in 1844 by J. B. McKee, this was where he raised his family and they were all married in the home. Mr. and Mrs. McGoun were united in marriage by Rev. Scofield, a Methodist minister and three persons who witnessed the wedding were in attendance at the 63rd anniversary, they were Mrs. R. M. Jamison and Margaret McKee, sisters of the bride and Miss S. J. McGoun of New Brighton, a sister of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. McGoun are both enjoying remarkable health and hope to celebrate their diamond jubilee in twelve years.

Honored On Birthday

In honor of the birthday of Mrs. James F. Book whose birthday was the event of Wednesday, March 12, a number of friends and neighbors gathered in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Bayham on Harding avenue to celebrate the occasion, the affair proving a complete surprise to Mrs. Book.

Musics and games passed away the social hours, later followed by a tempting lunch served by Mrs. Harry Martin, Mrs. Ray Ziegler, Mrs. Edward Book and Miss Elsie Bayham. Covers were laid for 29 guests. The honor guest received many lovely gifts in memory of the event.

F. O. Luncheon Club

Mrs. Thomas Trodden of Leisure avenue entertained members of the F. O. Luncheon club in her home Friday, with 12 present. Music and games of various sorts were enjoyed during the leisure hours with prizes being awarded to Mrs. Lydia Webster and Mrs. W. A. Wrynn. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, at a chosen time.

April 11 the club will meet at the home of Mrs. Lydia Webster on Front street.

M. D. O. Club

Members of the M. D. O. club enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Joseph McKnight on Adams street when she entertained at a prettily appointed 1 o'clock luncheon. The table was attractive in its decorations of spring flowers. Mrs. Kerr was a special guest.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. George Campbell on Adams street.

O. S. Choir to Dine

Members of the choir of New Castle Chapter 105 of the O. E. S. will have a dinner Monday evening at 6:30 in the Elks' club. Mrs. George Hutton and Mrs. William Stritmater are in charge of arrangements.

Fifteen members of the Reunited Ladies league met at the home of Mrs. Mathew Richards on Maryland avenue Friday, with Mrs. Paul Richards as their special guest. A short business session was held when one new member, Mrs. Margaret Adams, was taken in.

A social period followed, which was spent in an informal manner, later a tempting lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Thomas Richards and Miss Ruth Richards. St. Patrick appointments were carried out tastefully in the menu, also the table decorations were of the same.

In two weeks Mrs. John Davis of County Line street will receive the ladies in her home.

C. C. Class Party

The C. C. Class of the Epworth M. E. church met Friday evening at the home of Irene Harry, Winter avenue.

A short business session was held, in charge of the vice president, Mary Rowland after which a social period of games and music was enjoyed.

March 27 the members will be entertained at the home of Mrs. James H. Gilfillian on the Pulaski road.

Y. O. B. Club

SUPREME COURT CHANGES

DEATH has partially remade the supreme court of the United States, and thereby focused public attention upon that body for some time to come. Until the telltale decisions on crucial questions come down the public will ask whether the nation's highest tribunal, in its reshaping, changed in the direction of either conservatism or liberality.

Justice Sanford voted consistently with the conservative majority, as did Chief Justice Taft. Justices Holmes, Brandeis and Stone form the liberal minority, from which issue those dissenting opinions that are as the voice of protest.

In these restless, changing times there are many citizens, not at all of the revolutionary type, who think the supreme court conservative majority was out of step with the national march. Even congress has noted this condition and called public attention to it on several occasions, even to the extent of proposing legislative veto to supreme court decisions.

Supreme court justices must be intelligent men, profoundly learned in the law, free from bias and eminently tolerant, but they ought also to be responsive to the appeal of social welfare and human rights while respecting the letter and the spirit of the constitution.

STATESMANSHIP IS NEEDED

There is at London today a task of constructive statesmanship of well-nigh immeasurable importance to the future peace and welfare of humanity; and hundreds of millions of people, who have looked to its accomplishment as a crucial step toward lasting international accord, are intent upon the final struggle of traditions and ideals which will determine the issue of success or failure.

The verdict, indeed, might be failure when the record of the conference is closed; but we doubt it. There is too much at stake in the wreckage of ten years of earnest effort, and painful achievement to permit hard materialism and cynical distrust of the honor and good faith of nations to prevail.

While the delegations have argued and maneuvered over petty issues of prestige, there has been waiting the opportunity for a leadership which will surmount national vanities and jealousies and arrange a pact of real achievement. Perhaps it would have been impossible to make any progress with such leadership until the unessential had been stripped away and the conferees had come to grips with the issues that spell failure or success.

There is no mystery about those issues today. We have Italy with her insistence on parity with France and her refusal to enter seriously into the business of stating naval needs or building program—one might call it the sabotage of inertia. We have France demanding a fleet sufficient to match Italy in the Mediterranean and the possibility of a revengeful Germany in the North Sea. The British believe their navy must be substantially equal to the combined fleets of Italy and France, because the Mediterranean is the pathway to Suez and their Oriental empire. The United States has tentatively settled her problems with the British and is within sight of a settlement with the Japanese. But all this is blocked by the issues of European suspicion and fear. If Italy refuses to quote a figure, France holds to a building program so great that she believes Italy will not be able to match it. If these two rivals refuse to halt their race in the Mediterranean, the British say they will be forced to set the pace once more.

One thing to end this tension would be a pact for the stabilization of the Mediterranean—amply justified by necessity, and confirmed as practical by precedent. Such a pact now covers the naval issues in the Pacific, largest of the world's oceans. The powers concerned in it agree to consult in case of problems arising either among themselves or concerning any other power. Every nation at the London conference, except Italy, signed that pact. It is not an entangling military alliance. It was ratified by the United States senate and by all the participating nations. Why could they not duplicate it for the Mediterranean? Is the door completely closed on such an agreement?

There may be other solutions as good or better. If there are, now is the time to bring them forward. The crucial stage of the London conference is at hand; and we shall soon know whether the leaders of the world's five great naval powers will be found wanting at the test.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

OUR ARMY OF HUNTSMEN

It is interesting to learn that nearly six per cent of the population of the United States—or, in exact figures, 6,450,000 persons—secured hunting licenses in the 1927-28 season, showing widespread interest in this outdoor sport. The fees received for them amounted to over $9,000,000.

These figures, compiled by federal officials, show an increase of some 40 per cent over the 1924 period, when less than 5,000,000 secured licenses at a cost of some $6,000,000, while the following year they jumped to 5,168,000 and then to 5,987,000.

Delaware had the smallest number of permits in the 1927-28 season, with 1,970. Most states report comparatively few non-resident licenses, one reason probably being the higher cost of these to outsiders. To offset this is the fact that certain states provide better hunting grounds of some kinds than others.

The distinction between the fees charged is brought out sharply by comparing Pennsylvania with New York. The latter received $690,000 for 675,000 permits. The Quaker state obtained over $1,000,000 from 517,000 hunters.

Issuance of over 6,000,000 licenses throughout the country means considerably more than mere granting of permits to kill game, however.

The late bird catches the sleep.

A low moral aim oft will hit the dollar mark.

Money may get a man into trouble, but it is usually more helpful in getting him out.

We never thought much of the piano accordion until it cut into saxophone sales.

If the marathon idea was a product of ancient Greek culture, that culture has been highly overrated.

Figures compiled by the New York Board of Education show that girls in the graduating classes of public schools over there outclassed the boys, but why go to all that trouble to prove something that isn't news?

"Merely going to church," says a critic, "cannot be termed being religious. We often break one or two commandments on our way home." And frequently at least one right in church, when a lady covets some other woman's hat, or a man another chap's nifty suit.

Speaking of Rackets

(News Item)

Although India could easily supply salt enough not only for her domestic needs but for the entire world, Great Britain permits her monopoly to produce but an average of 1,200,000 tons of salt per year. This is done to enable British salt interests to dump 600,000 tons of British salt into the Indian market annually.

And both, as they smoked, maintained a severe expression, which seemed to say "please notice that we came here to smoke."

A small panic in Argentine market; growers complaining, resident dealers bankrupt. The Buenos Aires Herald says: "another proof of the futility of attempting to override the law of supply and demand."

Uncle Sam buying wheat at a price above the world market and storing it helps wheat growers of other countries, although that is not his intention.

What the wheat situation will be next July nobody can guess. Wise gamblers will refrain from selling short. Uncle Sam's pocketbook is back of wheat prices in the United States, a new kind of "corner."

And Senator Hoover will find a way to punish gamblers trading on the government effort to aid farmers.

Flour has reached its low price since the World War, $6.60 a barrel, compared with $7.30 a year ago, and $12 a barrel, the peak price in war time. Good news for housewives. Bad news for farmers.

Various states through their senators suggest men to fill the vacancy on the Supreme Court.

Senators will learn that Mr. Hoover, knowing that a number of vacancies must inevitably occur, in his first term, has done some mental selecting on his own account.

There are many able lawyers in the United States, and a majority of them will agree that Judge Cardozo, of New York, would make an excellent Supreme Court judge. His appointment would mean three justices from New York, but the Supreme Court should not be considered politically, as state patronage.

The London naval limitation fiasco is a blessing to the United States. Our statesmen may now decide to rely on this country to defend this country, realizing that the role of America is to take care of itself, depend on itself, and not lean on other nations.

If our great engineering intelligence will now devote itself to the production of adequate air fleets and submarine fleets, and to constructive projects inside the United States, we shall have nothing to worry us.

Senator Couzens introduces a bill to regulate production, transmission and distribution of all classes of power in interstate commerce.

He would let government supervise rates and securities issued by holding companies.

Some say the people should have no control of power and its distribution, although power in national life comes next to food, water and air.

The people at least might supervise sales of securities. One company issued more than sixty million shares of stock based on odds and ends of power companies. Foolish investors bought the pieces of paper, at a price exceeding fifteen hundred million dollars for the whole collection.

All doctors and parents will be interested in news of a "meningitis carrier," a 19-year old youth, William Feibler, in the reformatory for boys at Bonville, Mo.

Five superintendents and inmates with whom he came in contact died of meningitis, showing how easily the deadly disease may be contracted.

Scout Men Guests At Local Church

Attend Oyster Supper At First Presbyterian; Business Session Held

The monthly meeting of the Lawrence county council Boy Scout Leaders' association was held Friday evening, March 14, in the First Presbyterian church with Scoutmaster Edwin Schmid as host. There was a large attendance of scout leaders and many important matters were discussed.

At 7:30 an oyster supper was served by the host, assisted by three of his scouts, Rodger Rowe, James Kirkpatrick and Herbert Christian. After the supper, a vote of appreciation was given Mr. Schmid.

A short social period, in charge of Scout Commissioner Ralph F. Davis, was very enjoyable.

President Irwin Ropp then called the meeting to order and after the minutes and roll call by Secretary Sidney Smith, reports from various committees were heard.

Exposition Plans.

The committee in charge of the merit badge exposition and mothers', fathers' and scouts' banquet have completed their plans. Efforts are being made to have 500 at the banquet on March 27 in the First Presbyterian church. Plans are made to accommodate the hundreds of people who will visit the merit badge exposition during March 27 and 28 in the First Christian church. A large number of local merchants and manufacturers have been asked to sponsor different exhibits. A large Indian village will be located on the public square in front of the church. This exposition promises to be the most outstanding event of the year.

The first aid jamboree committee, under the chairmanship of William H. Haley, gave a very favorable report on their plans. A silver loving cup, the R. J. Tully cup, and silver medals will be awarded the winning team.

A number of reels of motion pictures taken of Camp Phillips were shown by Sidney Smith and Glenn Montgomery which were both interesting and instructive.

Senior first aiders will receive a letter soon as to the date and place of examination. The meeting on Monday night, March 17, has been canceled owing to the fact that the official examiner will not be able to preside.

Blunt Murder Case Week Of March 24th

Case Will Come Up Before Panel Of Jurors Summoned For That Week

Trial of Bertha Blunt for the murder of John Henry King will not be taken up at court until the week of March 24th, according to announcement of Judge James A. Chambers at court this morning. Another jury, consisting of 60 persons, has been called for the week of March 24th.

Two other juries of 60 each have been called for next week, but there are a number of other cases on the trial list which will be taken up. It is expected that they will all be before Judge Chambers, as the Schroeder case is likely to engage the attention of Judge Hildebrand all next week.

Bertha Blunt, who is to be tried during the week of March 24th, is alleged to have shot John Henry King, a colored man, at a house on Home street. She will plead self-defense. Attorneys James A. Rhodes and Gilbert Long have been appointed by the court to defend her.

Several Ordinances In Printing Office

Several ordinances are in the printing office being prepared so they can be lodged with council for final action next week.

Among them is an ordinance providing for the widening of North street and another curtailment of court fees by city employees.

On About Marrying

AN EARLY DAY AT TRIPLER ACCOSTIN' A BELLE O' THE TOWN.

Miss Fawn Lippincut, who edits the "domestic relations" column in the Weekly Slip Horn, an' who's a recognized authority on affairs of the heart, has received the following letter:

My Dear Miss Lippincut,

I hold a very good position with a concrete block concern an' I have ever' reason to believe my employment is permanent. I don't know whether to drop very early these days, an' so far as father is concerned there's a way to fix that. Women an' girls git married with all their independence, a beauty parlor on ever' corner, an' countless opportunities to support herself, a girl should have none of the time fear of bein' an' ole maid. She kin stay in the ring as long as any man. She kin have a husband anytime she kin support one. Girls used to marry some awful misfits rather than stay at home an' be a liability, but that's no excuse for marryin' a dub today even if it is quite a few instances of it. Gabe Crav's young daughter is seekin' a divorce because she's tired of gettin' up ever' mornin' an' gittin' her husband's breakfast an' startin' him off to school.

Operates For Three Hours In New Wilmington—Other News Notes

Special to The News

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Mar. 15.—In a final test in which the new fire engine was operated for a period of three hours on Thursday afternoon, the engine was pronounced satisfactory. Running at 1900 revolution per minute, the pump forced 500 gallons of water at 120 pounds pressure some 150 feet. It is capable of producing 500 pounds pressure at 2700 revolutions per minute. The new engine should be a decided asset to the town but there must be something done whereby the water supply can be maintained. In the fire when the Monroe apartments burned, the engine that was here from New Castle pumped the lines dry.

On the general committee in charge of arrangements were Jesse Jenkins, New Castle; Dave Jones, Ellwood City; Charles Morrow, Wampum and Jesse Jenkins, of this city. Those responsible for the fish fry plan were visiting members of the order from Youngstown, Sharon, Butler, Ellwood City, Fredonia, Grove City, Bessemer and Wampum.

Following the fry a high-class bill of vaudeville entertained the members.

EAST PROVINCES OF GERMANY FACE DIFFICULT TIME

(International News Service)

BERLIN, March 15.—"Collapsing industries, lack of trade routes and cultural institutions, increasing unemployment, an ever-growing emigration, countless bankruptcies, and last but not least, a serious agricultural crisis, all these features combined give a vivid picture of the terrible plight of the Eastern provinces."

With these words an eleventh hour cry for help of the six German Eastern provinces laid down in a memorandum to President von Hindenburg, the Governments of the Reich and Prussia, the Reichstag and the Prussian Diet, summarize the economic situation prevailing there, ten years after East Prussia was cut off from the Reich by the creation of the "Polish corridor" under the Versailles Treaty.

Charging their plight directly to the loss of twenty-five per cent of their population and territory and East Prussia's isolation following the creation of the corridor, the Governments claim that a large number of trade routes have been crippled, because no less than 68 railway lines and 144 high roads were cut off during the Versailles border regulations.

According to the statistics contained in the memorandum the income of the population in the East provinces is from 36 to 68 per cent below the average income in the rest of the Reich. Serious agricultural distress is demonstrated by the fact that 90 per cent of all estates and land auctioned in the Reich were on territory of the Eastern provinces.

ST. LOUIS OFFICER TELLS TO CAPTURE FUGITIVES OF HIS FUTILE EFFORT

laps Monday morning the final aria of the murder symphony of Irene Schroeder will be presented to the jury. Sheriff C. E. Wright of Phoenix, Arizona, and his deputy, Hans Kuhn, will tell of the battle with deputies in the Estrella mountains, and how as their own hides were in danger of being sprinkled with bullets of an Arizona posse, they threw up their hands and bravely pleaded for mercy.

The testimony of this morning's session follows:

Morning Session.

Charles Crowl was recalled as the first witness of the day. He testified that he had received Brady Paul's cartridge belt. No cartridges were extracted. The belt was placed with the storm coat. Later it was placed on the body of Brady Paul and buried with him. The testimony of this witness was to explain to the jury where the belt was.

Sergeant W. J. Neynam of the highway patrol was recalled. He testified to taking the belt of Brady Paul up to the patrol headquarters, polished the belt and cartridge holder before the belt was placed on Brady Paul's body for burial. He saw that the ornaments, badge and cartridges had been chromium plated, a custom among patrolmen for neatness. He found no bullet holes or intentions to shoot the belt.

Ex-Sheriff Reynolds.

James Brooks

James Brooks was recalled.

Q. Have you seen Bonnie Schroeder?

A. Yes.

Q. When did you first see her?

A. Morning of December 31.

Q. Where?

A. In the police station of Bellairia,

Q. Did you bring him back?

A. I did.

Q. How was he dressed?

A. Brown galoshes, romper suit, and a close fitting cap and long underwear.

Cross examination.

my face and said, You son of a — come on or I'll kill you.

A. Did anything else occur?

A. I tried to scuffle him between her and I so in case she fired he would be between us.

Q. What else occurred?

A. I reached for my gun, but before I could do so I was hit. Dague gave me a rap on the jaw then took my gun from me.

Q. Did the blow daze you?

A. It did. I got up and reached for my other gun and fired at them.

Q. How far away were they?

A. Forty or fifty feet.

Q. How was the man dressed?

A. Dark clothing.

Dressed Like Boy.

Q. How was Mrs. Schroeder dressed?

A. Like a boy in from the country in overalls, a man's coat and a man's hat.

Q. Would you know that gun if it was shown?

A. If it was mine I would know it.

Gun shown to witness and after examining it he said "That gun belongs to me."

Q. What identifying marks are on it?

A. This rubber and the block of wood.

Q. What is the number of your gun?

A. 568,517.

Q. Is that number on the gun?

A. Yes.

Q. When did you next see this gun?

A. Just now.

Q. Was this a business or residence section of St. Louis?

A. It was in the jewelry section.

Q. Do you know if the woman shot?

A. I don't know.

Q. Were you hit?

A. No, just my uniform.

Shows Coat.

Kiesling produced his uniform coat and showed the hole in the left sleeve of the coat.

Q. Did either shot go through you?

A. No.

Q. Did the bullet pass through any other clothes?

A. Yes, through my sweater and white shirt.

Q. Were the facts reported and placed on the wire?

A. Yes, I believe they were.

Q. Any question that these are the people?

A. None whatsoever.

Cross examined by Jarrett:

Q. What time did you say you first saw them?

A. About 9:45.

Q. Is that a main street?

A. No, but there are business homes. I would call it a secondary street.

Q. How far was this from the heart of the city?

A. About three blocks from the Eads bridge.

Q. In a business center?

A. Well, no; they stopped in front of a jewelry store.

Q. How wide is the street?

A. About 30 to 45 feet. It's a one-way street.

Q. How many shots made the holes in the back?

A. Two.

Q. Did the two shots make the holes in the back of the car?

A. Yes.

Q. In the sleeve one shot made the both holes?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. You say you are absolutely sure and can't be mistaken that this is the woman?

A. I could not forget that woman.

Q. You cannot be mistaken?

A. No sir (emphatically).

Q. When did you first identify this woman as Irene Schroeder?

A. I saw her here the other day.

Q. See any pictures?

A. Yes.

Q. See any in the newspapers?

A. If I did they were very poor ones.

Jarrett asked that Powell be permitted to finish the cross-examination.

"It is unusual in this court to switch attorneys, but we will permit it," said Judge Hildebrand.

Powell asked Kessling to put on the uniform overcoat, which he did.

Kessling illustrated for the jury the position he was in when he was shot at.

Q. When did you see the defendant?

A. Not more than 30 minutes later.

Commonwealth offers in evidence the part of the bulletin referring to Irene Schroeder and Glenn Dague.

Q. Had you had any bulletin or report on Irene Schroeder or Glenn Dague?

A. Yes. At roll call that night we had our attention called to a bulletin calling on us to be looking out for the people mentioned.

Q. When did you see the defendant?

A. Ever since he was released.

Q. Look at the defendant. Did you ever see her before?

A. Yes, January 4, 1930, between 9:45 and 10 p.m.

WITNESSES SHOW CAR ON GARDNER VIADUCT; LATER IN MONACA, PA.

Two Men And Boy With Irene When She Stopped in Restaurant at Monaca on December 27. Second Man Believed Tom Crawford — Dague and Mrs. Schroeder Again Identified by Witnesses — Westerners May Take Stand Today.

With the case against Irene Schroeder for the murder of Brady Paul, going into the last day of the first week of the trial, the commonwealth seems to have its case in chief about in. The main pegs upon which they hope to hang a first degree conviction have been driven, and while there is much more testimony to be offered it may be classed as secondary or buttressing evidence.

Friday evening's session brought to the stand witnesses who identified the defendant, Irene Schroeder and Glenn Dague at various points on their flight from New Castle, one on the viaduct leading out to the Beaver Falls road, one in Monaca, Pa., on the trip towards Wheeling, W. Va. Another witness, E. H. Methady of St. Louis, testified that the car in which they were riding when Brady Paul was shot, was his car that had been stolen. The balance of the session was taken up largely by the introduction and admission of exhibits in the case.

Western Witnesses Next.

The indications are that today's testimony will include William Kiessling, St. Louis policeman who escaped death in a gun battle with Irene and her pals, Sheriff Charles Wright of Phoenix, Arizona, Hans Kuhr of Phoenix and the two cell mates of Irene.

Friday night's testimony lacked the color and dramatic tinge that former sessions did, but it was most important to the commonwealth's case. One fact was developed that seems to have located the missing second man in the party, thought to have been Tom Crawford, brother of Irene.

He was in the car on the Butler road on December 27th, when Brady Paul was shot and between there and Adams street where Ray Horton's car was stolen he disappeared.

Solomon Waldman's testimony was not quite definite enough to establish the fact that Crawford was in the car when it passed over the Seventh ward viaduct, but Mrs. Beryl Miller, restaurant keeper of Monaca testified that Irene, Dennis and two men were in her restaurant between four and five o'clock on the afternoon of December 27th. Her description of the second man tallies with the description of him in Butler and on the Butler road, and either he was picked up after Irene and Glenn stole the Chrysler on Adams street, or he slipped into the car while Horton's back was turned as he was being relieved of his money.

Case Well Prepared

It is doubtful if a commonwealth case has ever been better prepared in this county than is the case against Irene Schroeder. Not a single incident seems to have been omitted, not an occurrence bearing on the case was too minor to be overlooked, and while it has meant the bringing to New Castle of many witnesses from outside the city, every one of them had testimony relevant to the commonwealth's case.

What the defense will offer is yet a mystery. Attorneys Dickey, Powell and Jarrett for the defense have revealed nothing in the way of an indication and their repeated statement has been, "our defense will be presented from the witness stand, and not before."

All indications seem to point to the defense getting started about Monday afternoon. It is doubtful if the witnesses yet left for the commonwealth will be able to get all their testimony in by adjournment this afternoon and it probably will not be concluded before Monday at noon. This is purely conjecture and may not be borne out by the subsequent events.

The testimony presented on Friday evening follows:

Evening Session

Raymond C. Horton was recalled to the stand and for the purpose of giving his motor and serial number of his Chrysler car. They are A-2700290 and DW7338. He was asked to get his 1929 plate number.

Dague was brought into court and was identified by Horton.

Miss Elsie W. Nickum was called and testified as to the theft of Raymond Horton's automobile.

She described how she was on her way home to lunch on December 27 with Mr. Horton, leaving from the Blair Strip Steel Company. About 12 o'clock they pulled out of the driveway, a chevrolet coach passed them and slowed down. They passed the Chrysler which again passed the Chrysler on Adams street. The driver blew his horn and Horton stopped.

She described how Irene held up Horton while Dague took possession of the Horton car.

Her testimony corroborated that of Horton in every particular.

Cross examination failed to shake her story.

Adams Street Woman

Mrs. Emma Shiflett of 1035 Adams street was called.

Q. Did you see a Chrysler car stop in front of your home on December 27?

A. Not just in front but nearer the next door.

Q. What did you see?

A. Miss Nickum was getting out of the right side and Mr. Horton at the left. There was a lady and a man also there.

Q. What was done?

A. When I went out on the porch there was a man taking a bag and a child from the Chevrolet to the Chrysler. The lady was standing close to Mr. Horton.

Q. Did you know Mr. Horton?

A. No.

Q. Did you know Miss Nickum?

A. Yes.

Q. The other woman on the street would you be able to recognize her?

Identifies Irene

A. Yes there she is (pointing to Irene).

Q. Notice the Chevrolet?

A. Yes there were holes in the windshield.

Q. Were there many people around the car?

A. Yes, many people.

Little cross examination.

Raymond Horton was recalled and said that his 1929 license plates were Pennsylvania 154-142.

Deputy Sheriff Called.

Deputy Sheriff William McK. Reynolds took the stand.

Q. What position did you hold in December, 1929?

A. Chief deputy sheriff.

Q. Did you get a call on December 27, 1929, relative to the shooting of the Horton holdup?

A. My first call was a double murder report from City Officer Steiner. The call was to the Butler road. I called officers and sent them to the scene. Then I got a call from Mr. Horton asking why he couldn't get service. He said a woman and a man had stolen his automobile. I went to Adams street and found Mr. Horton. Many people were around and a number of automobiles.

Q. What was inside the car?

A. Two pocketbooks, golf balls, one toy victrola, several toy animals, a cake of soap, some child's clothing, a pair of short knee pants, a waist and I believe two pairs of small under panties.

Q. What was done with the clothes?

A. Given to Parole Officer Jack M. Dunlap to be worn by Donnie Schroeder.

Q. What was done with the toys?

A. The victrola was given to Donnie Schroeder.

Q. What was the condition of the windshield?

Bullets Fired From Inside.

A. There were bullet holes in them indicating three bullets had been fired from the inside.

Q. At the time you saw the car on Adams street how much space would each hole cover? Was any glass on right hand side broken except where holes were?

A. No.

Q. Any other holes?

A. There was one on the driver's side entering into the car. That bullet entered the roof.

Q. Any bullet mark on the shell of the radiator right side. This bullet hit the shell, deflected and hit the headlight.

Q. Would you say the same bullet made both marks?

A. I would say it was.

Q. There are at least four different marks?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you observe the hole in the windshield and on the right hand side of the car?

A. Yes.

Q. Were you present when Mr. Rutter took some photographs?

A. Yes.

Q. Holes in same condition?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. As to windows, any broken?

A. Yes, the right front window in the door. There was only two jagged pieces in the door.

Q. Did you get the pocketbooks or do you have them?

A. Yes, in the safe in the sheriff's office.

Q. Who handed them to you?

A. R. C. Horton.

Witness produced the articles mentioned above, identified them and they were admitted into evidence.

State Police Officer

Lieutenant Thomas M. Boettner of Troop D State Police was called.

Q. Are you the prosecutor in this case?

A. I am.

Q. Were you engaged in the investigation of the case on December 27?

A. I was.

Q. Did you see the Chevrolet?

A. I did.

Q. What time did you come to New Castle?

A. About 12:15.

Q. Did you see Deputy Sheriff Reynolds?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you find anything in it to identify it?

A. Two golf balls with my own private mark on one of them.

Q. Were you in Pennsylvania on Dec. 27 last?

A. No.

Court adjourned at this point at 9:45 p.m.

Q. These people were good size?

A. Yes.

Q. You have described the woman as the defendant?

A. Yes.

Q. You went out to the jail to identify the defendant and the other man?

A. Yes.

R. M. Methady

E. R. Methady of St. Louis, Mo., was called. He is the president of a company there.

Q. Did you have a Chevrolet car?

A. Yes.

Q. Will you give me the serial and license number of it?

A. Objected to as immaterial.

Margiotti said it was to prove that the car belonged to Mr. Methady.

Objection overruled.

A. Missouri license 589-876

Q. What was the serial number?

A. 3AR91943—Engine number 704-301

Q. Have you examined the Chevrolet car shown to the jury today?

A. I did. It's the same number as to serial and engine.

Q. Were you the owner of that car?

A. I was.

Q. Did you find anything in it to identify it?

A. Two golf balls with my own private mark on one of them.

Q. Were you in Pennsylvania on Dec. 27 last?

A. No.

Court adjourned at this point at 9:45 p.m.

Scout Executive At Easton Here For Conference

Arrives From East Today;
Meetings With Council
Leaders Are Slated

CANDIDATE FOR POST OF EXECUTIVE HERE

Herbert G. Horton, present chief executive of the Boy Scout council at Easton, Pa., arrived in New Castle shortly before noon today for a meeting with local scout officials this afternoon, in the role of prospective candidate for the post of chief executive here, a position left vacant when J. Lee Calahan left to assume a regional directorship more than a month ago.

Immediately on reaching here Mr. Horton went into conference with Louis B. Round, Pennsylvania Power company official and chairman of a special committee named to secure a successor to Mr. Calahan. A visit to Boy Scout offices and brief conferences with leaders of the Lawrence county council are scheduled for Mr. Horton's stay this afternoon. He will remain here over Sunday.

According to Mr. Round the local committee decided to call Mr. Horton at the suggestion of Regional Scout Director Roy F. Seymour, shortly before the latter departed after a meeting with committeemen here. Major Seymour wired him at once and he replied that it was possible for him to come.

Mr. Horton comes highly recommended both by Major Seymour and the record of his past accomplishments at Easton. He has been one of the outstanding scout executives in attendance at the national scout training school and during his service in the eastern Pennsylvania city.

Joint Congressional Committee Approves Of Steel Company Refund

(International News Service) WASHINGTON, March 15.—The treasury's award of a $33,000,000 tax refund to the U. S. Steel corporation was approved, Friday by the joint congressional committee on internal revenue taxation.

The refund grows out of over assessments during 1918, 1919 and 1920 as determined by the treasury. The joint committee acted under the law requiring it to approve refunds of over $75,000.

The Steel Corporation will be mailed a check for approximately $16,000,000 next week. The remainder of the refund will be credited to the Steel Corporation on the $17,000,000 taxes which ordinarily would be paid in 1930. The corporation normally would pay this huge tax in four installments, but in order to clear up the litigation, which has spread over a period of 7 years they agreed that the refund due should be credited to their tax due on income of 1929.

The settlement was made sometime ago and under the law submitted to the joint committee of congress on internal revenue taxation. The statutes require that the settlement remain with the committee 30 days and if at the end of that period no objection is found it becomes effective.

Two Factors Involved

Two principal factors were involved in the refund. These were an additional allowance for amortization and in the computation of consolidated invested capital of the Steel Corporation and the 200 subsidiaries operated during the years involved.

The treasury allowance for amortization was a deduction of $43,000,000 from the gross income of the Steel Corporation. In the court of claims suit the Steel Corporation claimed a deduction of $86,500,000. While in presenting the claim before the bureau of internal revenue a deduction of $70,000,000 was sought.

In computing the invested capital of the steel corporation and subsidiaries, the treasury allowed $1,400,000 less whereas in the court suit invested capital of $1,900,000 was claimed.

Treasury officials said that if the suit had been permitted to proceed in the courts it was feared the corporation would receive about $18,000,000 in excess of the refund.

They declared that in order to bring about a settlement the Steel Corporation had shown a very liberal attitude in considering all facts and the settlement was highly favorable to the government.

Mckay Addresses Grove City Club

Mercer County District Attorney Speaks To Rotarians At Dinner

GROVE CITY, March 15.—District Attorney Lee McKay was the speaker at the noonday meeting of the Grove City Rotary club in the Penn Grove hotel. The address given by the district attorney brought out many points of the work of the Mercer county criminal court that is not known to the ordinary citizen.

This is the second time that the district attorney has appeared as the speaker before the local club in the past year his talk was along an entirely different line and was very interesting to all.

Preceding the main address Dr. L. H. Beeler made a short talk on the life of William Howard Taft, which was appropriate and interesting.

A letter was read by the secretary of the governor of Rotary inviting Dr. Beeler, local club president, to give the address before the state Rotary convention in Uniontown on May 23. The club voted to send Dr. Beeler to the convention and pay his expenses.

The local members consider this a great compliment to their president in receiving this invitation.

CIVIC CLUB MEETS

The regular meeting of the Civic club was held Thursday afternoon in the Penn Grove hotel. Several members of the girls' debating team of the college debated on the subject of "The Machine Age". Miss Elizabeth Brown appeared on the program with two violin solos. Several Irish dances were also presented by the girls of the college.

SET DINNER DATE

The Colonial House council of the Colonial House council has set the date for the annual Colonial-Memorial dinner, Saturday evening, March 22. The dinner will be served at 6 o'clock. There is a capable committee in charge of the affair, and they promise that this dinner will be bigger and better than ever. Following the dinner there will be a good program which will be announced in the near future.

This affair is one of the best functions of the year and is looked forward to with great interest.

BONE PLANS TRIP

County Commissioner W. A. Bone of North Broad street is planning on leaving Grove City soon for a few weeks trip in southern Texas, where he will look after his property.

PLANE FORCED DOWN IN CITY

Residents of the West Side received somewhat of a thrill about 5 o'clock Friday, when a large Army plane No. 8, landed in the R. G. Leslie field on Moore avenue. After examining their plane, the two airmen who occupied seats in the big monoplane, seemed satisfied that everything was o. k. and they took off again at 5:20 o'clock in the direction of Pittsburgh.

The names of the airmen were not learned as they were busy tinkering with the engine and did not have time to answer a lot of questions of the big crowd that quickly gathered when the big plane was seen to land.

A takeoff was effected very gracefully, the buoyancy of the field enabling the pilot to make quite a run before turning his plane upward toward the sky. The information regarding this plane was sent to The News by Miss Martha Sankey of Round street, who was one of the interested spectators.

Another Big Crowd Attends Hospital Show

REALIZE NEAT SUM FOR INSTITUTION

With another big crowd in attendance, and the experiences of the first evening behind them, members of the cast in the Minstrel and Revue which was staged in the Cathedral auditorium for the benefit of the Jameson Memorial hospital, presented a final performance last evening.

There was not a flaw that could be picked in last night's show. In spite of the fact that identically the same numbers were presented by the cast, it was given with a snap and precision which would have done credit to a professional organization and the final curtain was dropped at 11:15, the hour that had been promised by its conductors.

Messrs Reed McCullough and David Fisher, who have been responsible for the production for the benefit of the hospital, stated this morning that more than $1,000 had been realized from the two performances. Expenses this year were heavier than before because of the fact that a considerable amount of money had to be spent on costumes and stage setting.

During the course of the performance, Howard C. Richards called the attention of the audience to the fact that the Jameson Memorial hospital was given to the citizens of New Castle as an outright gift to them by the late David Jameson and his wife and daughter, and that a deeper appreciation of this gift should be shown by them of this fact.

Members of the committee and the hospital authorities are grateful to all those who have cooperated in making the show the splendid success that it was, and take this means of publicly expressing their appreciation. They are especially grateful to the members of the cast who have given their time and effort to this end.

It was announced today that a dinner and dance will be given for all the members of the cast in the Cathedral in the near future. Not one cent of the money for this purpose will be taken from the proceeds of the show.

Tells Croton Men That Church Must Recognize Power

Dr. Clarence E. Allen Of Erie, Says That Church Must Renew Its Position

Dr. Clarence E. Allen, pastor of the First M. E. church of Erie speaking before the Second Mile Brotherhood of the Croton M. E. church last evening, told the men of the church that peace and prosperity in this country would not return until the church had recognized the needs of the present day and asserted itself in the manner that it should.

Dr. Allen's address on the subject of "The Church" showed that he has made a most searching inquiry into present day conditions and remedies which should be applied to correct them.

He stated that the church today was being looked upon by all classes of society with a searching eye, and that society wanted the church to be right. He stated that the church was an ideal institution, founded by Christ, the greatest idealist of all time.

He said that the two greatest powers in the world today for moulding public opinion are the press and the church. In spite of the fact, however, that most of the newspapers of the country are dry, there were a few great newspapers in metropolitan areas who have earned the sobriquet of the "wet press" who were endeavoring to speak for the majority of the people of the United States.

Dr. Allen stated that Congress had never been drier than at the present time, and that the good people of the United States have no reason to be alarmed over the present discussion of the eighteenth amendment, because it never will be repealed.

Referring to unemployment in the United States, Dr. Allen asserted that he felt the people of this country were adopting the wrong attitude in trying to suppress these people in their demonstrations. He said that there were more unemployed in the United States today than in either England or Russia, and that those Communists who were trying to stir them up were only encouraged by the opposition which they are encountering.

England, he felt, has the right idea in this matter. He stated that a man could get up in Hyde Park, London, and denounce the government and its institutions to their hearts content, but that these very people were doing this only earned the ridicule of right thinking people, and the many a lawlessness resulted from such meetings and speeches, the leaders were held responsible. This has resulted in a wholesome respect for the law and has eliminated rioting and bloodshed.

"The church today stands supreme," in conclusion, he said, "But it must regain its spiritual authority in order to regain its commanding influence."

TWO KILLED WHEN CABIN PLANE FALLS

Photographer, Late For Trip, Escapes Death Near Cleveland, O.

CLEVELAND, O., Mar. 15.—Because of a delay in gathering his equipment, Lieut. Clyde Butler, aerial photographer of the 112th Observation Squadron, O. N. G., is alive today, while Richard R. Braggins of 2945 Euclid Heights boulevard, Cleveland Heights, and David Bunnin, 732 East 105th street, who were to accompany him on a flight to Warren, O., yesterday, are dead.

Braggins and Bunnin, a salesman for the Curtiss Air service, were killed on Friday when the Curtiss Robin plane which Braggins was piloting fell into a tail spin and crashed 1,500 feet to land in the orchard of John Kaminsky's farm on Cedar Point road, just west of Rocky River, in the Metropolitan Park territory.

Both men were mangled unrecognizably and the plane was reduced to scraps of tangled wire and steel. The engine was buried five feet in the ground. The plane plunged between two apple trees, not more than 30 feet apart, breaking only a few twigs from one tree.

The plane had flown over from Herrick airport to pick up Lieut. Butler, also a Curtiss employee, who was to fill a contract for aerial photographs at Warren. When Butler failed to appear on time Maj. John Berry, airport superintendent, said Bunnin suggested they go up for a short spin while waiting for him.

Reorganization Of Mine Workers Is About Completed

Reorganized Mine Workers Plan Battle To Death On Forces Led By John L. Lewis

(International News Service) SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 15—Unless unforeseen obstacles arise the "reorganization" convention of mine workers is expected to complete its work today with election of officers and launching of a battle to the death on the forces led by John L. Lewis.

Sparked after speaker has outlined as the new organization's chief aim the organization of "open shop" bituminous fields which admittedly far outnumber the organized miners.

With the election of officers at hand, sentiment favoring Alex Howat, Kansas, militant chairman of the convention, for the presidency of the new international union seemed stronger than ever today. Delegates on the floor and officers of the various districts have lauded him in address after address and unless some unforeseen change occurs his election seems likely.

John H. Walker, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, has been talked of for the office of secretary-treasurer. Walker has a considerable following among the delegates. Adolph Germer has been mentioned widely for the vice presidency.

Powers, Haigood, Pennsylvania; Walter Nesbit, Illinois; Harry Fishwick, Illinois; John Brophy, Pennsylvania, and various others also have strong followings and may be strong bidders for any of the offices.

Firm Is Offered Entire Township For Debt Of $500

LANSING, Mich., March 15.—If the Beach Manufacturing Co. of Charlotte, Mich., so desires it may have the entire township of Sheridan, in Gladwin county, to pay off a debt of $500 for road machinery against the township.

Emerson R. Boyles, deputy attorney general, has so informed the company, but he added the stipulation that acceptance of the offer meant assumption by the company of a bonded indebtedness of $10,000 of the township and the liability of paying taxes on the property.

Only one family now lives in the township and it may move out at any time. There is no money in the township treasury and, in fact, there is not even a treasurer.

FISH NETS FLOP IN LAKE ERIE

Season Gets Under Way Today—Employment For Thousands

SANDUSKY, O., March 15—Commercial fishermen throughout the Sandusky, Huron, Vermilion, Lakeside and Lake Erie Islands regions were all set last night for the opening of the spring fishing season at midnight.

Arrangements for getting the fleet into the lake fishing grounds with the coming of daylight tomorrow were said to be complete.

Gill netters promise first returns Sunday if weather conditions remain favorable.

The trap netters do not expect to haul their twine before late Monday or Tuesday.

The opening at hand is the most auspicious of recent years. Except between Kelley's Island and Put-in Bay, there is little ice.

More than 1,000 men will be afforded employment or benefited otherwise by the opening of the fishing season, according to estimates to-night.

A memorial service will be preached at the Presbyterian church Sunday evening by Dr. O. H. L. Mason in memory of the late William Howard Taft, former President and chief justice. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to assist in paying tribute to this great man.

The meeting of the borough council is to be held this evening with a discussion of the borough finances.

The committee is making a study of the situation before making out their budget for the year. The financial condition is rather poor now, due to the large amount of money used last year in the extensive street work.

However, all this work was necessary and was a benefit to the whole community. Rigid economy will be practiced by the council this year.

John H. Walker, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, has been talked of for the office of secretary-treasurer. Walker has a considerable following among the delegates. Adolph Germer has been mentioned widely for the vice presidency.

Powers, Haigood, Pennsylvania; Walter Nesbit, Illinois; Harry Fishwick, Illinois; John Brophy, Pennsylvania, and various others also have strong followings and may be strong bidders for any of the offices.

Announcing the NEW CHRYSLER SIX

$845

3-WINDOW 4-DOOR ROYAL SEDAN

The Lowest-Priced six ever to bear the Chrysler name

Chrysler today introduces a brand-new Chrysler Six—priced from $795 to $845—the lowest-priced six ever to bear the Chrysler name.

Here is Chrysler engineering—with such progressive developments as internal-expanding 4-wheel hydraulic brakes; 62-horsepower high-compression engine mounted on rubber; Iso-therm pistons; fuel pump instead of a vacuum tank; low-slung chassis; special-type spring shackles and hydraulic shock absorbers; small base wheels with large balloon tires; typically Chrysler-styled all-metal bodies of new design and rigid construction.

Here is Chrysler craftsmanship—that precision craftsmanship characteristic of Chrysler Standardized Quality.

Here is Chrysler performance—all of that snap, speed, smoothness and stamina for which Chrysler has been famous ever since its beginning.

Inspection, trial and comparison inevitably lead to the one positive conclusion that by all current measurements of performance, smartness, comfort, safety, economy and quality, the new Chrysler Six takes its place as the greatest six-cylinder value in the world.

We are eager to place a new Chrysler Six at your disposal—today.

The Parent Problem

by GARRY C. MYERS, PH.D.

Build Sissy Type Of Boy Physically

Poor Sam; he is a sissy. He has no friends among the children of his age. He has many troubles, many sorrows—a very unhappy child.

Not all "sissy boys" are frail and under weight, but most are. The sissy rarely feels competent to take his part in the open. When overwhelmed or intimidated by another child he cries and runs complaining to his mother, who generally appears in his defense. She almost always fights his battles for him, assures him that he is in the right.

He tries to get even with his antagonist by attacking in ambush and by saying taunting things when he feels himself completely safe. He tries to get other children into trouble by tattling on them and, if it seems necessary to him, to lie about them. He plays up to adults for their approval, and strives to excel in conforming to the grown-up conventions in which the average child ranks low. Other children see through Sam's strategy and make fun of him. When they tease him he usually flies into a fit of crying rage, making himself appear more ridiculous, only to be laughed at more.

In order to help Sam build him up physically. Perhaps he needs more sleep, more cod liver oil, more milk. Your doctor will advise you on such matters. Bring up his weight. A powerful motive to increase his appetite for proper quality and quantity of foods will seize him if you can help him see that as he grows heavier and stronger he will be better able to defend himself.

Strive to make him rugged. Praise him for every evidence of courage in respect to pain and readiness to "rough it." Never fight his battles for him. Let him learn to settle his own quarrels. Find some one qualified to teach him boxing lessons. Once he feels that he can defend himself when attacked by another boy of his age he will acquire new confidence and the joyous experience of self-respect.

Two Robber Bands Held At Meadville

MEADVILLE, Mar. 15.—Two groups of boys and young men, one numbering 14 youths ranging between the ages of 9 and 15 and the other consisting of four between the ages of 18 and 22, were before Chief of Police L. M. Hays for investigation into their activities of petty thieving.

The younger boys were charged with pilfering tool boxes belonging to the Keystone Construction company in the remodeling of several houses on Columbia avenue. The boys were members of a fifth ward "gang", ambitious toward the building for themselves of a "bunk house". A half dozen hatchets, several hammers, steel tapes and flashlights were among the articles taken, most of which were recovered.

Mr Coolidge lists the acquisition of California as one of the eight important events in United States history. The party doesn't really need Florida, anyway.—Syracuse Post-Standard.

WITNESS TELLS JURY HOW IRENE AND DAGUE TOOK AUTO FROM HIM

Says Mrs. Schroeder Covered Him With Gun and Took His Pocketbook as Well as Car — Jury Women Sob as Mrs. Crowl Tells of Dying Moments of Corporal Brady Paul.

Raymond Horton faced the Trigger Blond this afternoon for the second time in his life. The first time they were face to face, a long barrelled, blue steel revolver was between them, with Irene Schroeder holding the butt end. Today they faced each other again, but this time Horton was in the witness chair of Lawrence county court room number one looking down at the counsel table where Irene sat, battling for her life for the murder of Corporal Brady Paul.

Sitting there, facing the woman who held him up, robbed him of his purse and drove away in his shiny roadster, Horton told the court and jury the story of the hold up. As he concluded his testimony, Attorney Margiotti said "and have you seen that woman who held you up?" Pointing to Irene Schroeder, Horton said "there she is."

Mrs. Crowl Testifies of Paul's Death

One piece of testimony offered this afternoon made a very apparent impression upon the jury. It was the testimony of Mrs. John A. Crowl, wife of the owner of the Colonial Hotel where the State Highway Patrol is headquartered.

Brady Paul lived in the Colonial Hotel and like the rest of the young men in the state forces, was a friend of the Crowl family. When she heard of his shooting, Mrs. Crowl rushed to the Jameson Memorial Hospital and was with him when he passed away.

As she told the jury of his request that she (Mrs. Crowl) kiss his mother for him, as she told them of his last words, "tell the boys I did my duty" the court room was the quietest it has been since the opening of the trial. Tears were in the eyes of one of the women jurors, and handkerchiefs were used profusely in the audience. Perhaps the testimony of Mrs. Crowl was the kind that does not bear repetition in a case for the defense said quietly as she finished, "no questions."

Night Session

Another night session was ordered by Judge R. Lawrence Hildebrand for tonight although not before he had asked the opinion of the jury in the matter. All of them nodded their heads and at seven o'clock the long grind is to continue. It will probably last until 9:30 or 9:45. Hard work seems to be the delight of Judge Hildebrand and for the third time this week the case will be carried on under the chandeliers.

As the supper recess was taken, the jury was taken out to the back of the court house and inspected the Death Car driven by Glenn Dague on December 27th when Brady Paul was murdered. The commonwealth wished to have the jury familiar with the appearance of the car, the location of the bullet holes and asked that the car be brought to the court house for this purpose. No objection was offered by the defense and the car was inspected.

The testimony of the afternoon session follows:

Afternoon Session

George Book was called at the opening of the afternoon session. Q. When you stopped your car the first and second time was the motor running?

A. Yes.

Q. Does it make any noise?

A. Plenty.

Dr. Paul Wilson was called but did not answer. Dr. Loyal Wilson also was called but was not in the room.

At this point the Commonwealth asked that the jury be permitted to see the Chevrolet car which figures in the case.

Motion granted and the jury will be taken down to see it later.

Howard Kelley

Howard Kelley, an undertaker, was called. Questioned by Powers.

Q. Did you know Brady Paul?

A. I did.

Q. What happened on Dec. 27?

A. I just saw him some time after 12 o'clock. I saw Brady Paul on the seat of George Book's truck. Book came into the office and after talking to him I told Charles Mills, our driver, to get the ambulance. I went to the truck and helped him to the ground. A passerby helped me carry him into the office and I loosened his clothes. We put him on a cot, carried him to the ambulance and took him to the Jameson Memorial hospital. Paul Kelley, myself and the driver, Charles Mills, were in the ambulance. We took him into the operating room. He asked me to do something to relieve the pain. Dr. Kaplan came in and we took Paul's clothes off. I found a bullet hole in his abdomen and one in his back. I found the bullet against his underwear. Mrs. Costello, a nurse, gave him a hypodermic and then Dr. Wilson came in and removed another bullet from his arm.

Q. How long did you stay there?

A. Until he died at 12:55 o'clock.

Q. What did you do with the bullets?

A. Kept them.

Q. What size were the bullets?

A. The one from the arm was marked and the other looked almost perfect.

Cross examined by Powell.

Q. Was Brady Paul unconscious when you got him from the truck?

A. No.

Q. Did he know Mrs. Crowl when she came into the hospital?

A. Yes.

Q. Did he appear to you to appreciate the fact that death was impending?

Objected to and withdrawn.

Q. You did not hear him say that it would be his end?

A. No, but he did with Miss Stewart.

Miss Esther Stewart

Miss Esther Stewart was called. Q. Did you see Officer Moore that day?

A. Yes, I did.

Q. What was his condition?

A. He was dazed.

Q. Where was he taken?

A. To the Colonial Hotel.

Mrs. John A. Crowl

Mrs. John A. Crowl, wife of the owner of the Colonial Hotel, was called.

Q. Was the motor patrol and state police stationed at your place December 27?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you know Brady Paul and Ernest Moore?

A. Yes.

Q. Did they get a telephone call on December 27?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you learn later where Brady Paul was?

A. Yes. In the hospital.

Q. Did you see him then?

A. Yes.

With Paul When He Died

Q. Were you there when he died?

A. I was.

Q. How close to him was you?

A. Right next to him.

Q. What did you say to him?

A. I took hold of Paul's hand and asked him if he knew me. He said yes, and that he was glad I was there when he was dying. He asked me to get him something for his pain. He looked at me again and said, "Mollie, I am dying. Tell the boys I did my duty. I did the best I could. Dr. Kaplan came in and gave him aid. Then Brady said, "Mollie you'll soon see mother, kiss her goodbye for me. I asked Dr. Kaplan if there wasn't something to be done and he shook his head. Paul's breath was coming with difficulty.

Q. Were the remarks tell the boys, I did my duty, used more than once?

A. I don't remember.

Q. How long did you stay in the hospital?

A. Till Paul died.

No cross examination.

Doctor Recalled

Dr. Loyal Wilson was called to the stand.

Q. Did you see Officer Moore in the hospital on December 27?

A. Yes.

Q. What did you do for him?

A. I dressed his wounds. He had a wound on top of his head, the wound had the appearance of a bullet having hit it and passed on.

Q. What effect would such a

A. A stunning effect.

Q. Did you and your son treat that wound after the shooting?

A. Yes. For about two weeks.

Q. What would the immediate effect of the bullet in Brady Paul's abdomen be?

A. It would knock him down.

Q. Would it create primary shock?

A. Yes, it would.

Q. Could he get up after that?

A. Oh yes.

Cross examined by Powell.

Q. Did you recall a truck stopping at the hotel on Dec. 27?

A. No. It stopped at the Kelley Undertaking establishment.

Q. Was Brady Paul on the truck?

A. He was.

Q. What did you do?

A. I was just leaving my store. They were taking Paul from the truck to the store.

Q. Who was there?

A. Corporal Paul, Howard Kelley and others.

Q. What was done with Paul's clothes?

A. Given to me.

Q. Did you see Moore?

A. Yes, he came in from an automobile.

Q. What kind of a car did he come in?

A. A green Chevrolet sedan.

Q. What did you do with the clothes?

A. Left them in the hotel. I met Lieutenant Boettner and we went to the hospital. We found Paul in the operating room of the Jameson Memorial hospital.

Q. Did you hear what was said between your mother and Brady Paul?

A. No.

Q. Who brought Moore in?

A. May McKee.

Q. Mr. Kelley gave you Paul's gun, did you open it?

A. Not then. I did later in the patrol office.

Q. What did it contain?

A. Ira Ramsey, Steve Travers, a painter named McConnell and others.

Q. Whose possession was the gun from the time you got it until you opened it?

A. My own.

Cross examined by Powell.

Q. Did Brady Paul recognize you?

A. No.

Q. At the hospital did he speak to Lt. Boettner or you?

A. No.

May McKee

May McKee, of State College, Pa., a student there was called.

Q. Were you driving from Butler to New Castle on December 27?

A. Yes.

Q. Who was with you?

A. Esther Stewart.

Q. Were you stopped on the way in?

A. Yes. About 12 o'clock we stopped out of our own account. Saw a motorcycle to the left of the road, the officer staggering in the middle of the road. I got out of my car and helped him into the back seat.

Q. What was his condition?

A. He appeared to be hurt.

Q. Where did you take Moore?

A. To the Colonial Hotel.

Cross examined by Powell.

Q. How long did you stay there?

A. Until he died at 12:55 o'clock.

Q. What did you do with the bullets?

New Castle—Duquesne Play In Semi-Final

Schoolboy Teams Clash Tonight In Battle For Crown

New Castle High Confident Of Good Showing At Pitt Stadium Tonight

Is Fourth Meeting Between Dukes And Red And Black In Tourney

THE undefeated New Castle high school basketball team, after being idle for one week will again don their red and black uniforms to clash in the semi-finals of the W. P. I. A. L. schoolboy tournament at Pittsburgh against a fast and smooth Duquesne high school quintet this evening at the Pitt Stadium. The whistle to start the tilt will blow exactly at 8:00. One of the best games played so far in this tourney is expected to be enacted.

Fourth Meeting of Teams

Duquesne and New Castle have clashed against each other three times in the past five years. Tonight will mark the fourth time that these two schoolboy floor teams from the two institutions will play in the annual schoolboy tourney. Duquesne defeated New Castle twice while the Lawrence Countians hung one defeat on the necks of the steelers.

The teams met for the first time in 1927. New Castle had the Duquesne lads licked until the final few minutes when they were nosed out by two points. The following year saw these two teams on the same floor again. This time it was a different tale. The red and black uniformed boys trounced their rivals 17-14 and won the schoolboy trophy.

The next year New Castle met Duquesne in the semi-finals and the game turned out to be rout. Duquesne got revenge for that defeat administered the year before. They won by 31 points. This year they meet again in the semi-finals. The winner will advance to the finals while the losers will go home broken hearted.

Duquesne had a rather tough time entering this scramble for honors. They first nosed out Rankin to win the sectional laurels. In the first round they finished a nose ahead of Swissvale. The score was 28-26. Last night realizing that a win would place them in a condition of meeting none other than their rivals New Castle they came in front by another small margin. They took the measure of North Braddock 27-24.

Cochrane Bradenbaugh predicted that Duquesne would be the team his cohorts would meet. As a result he has been drilling his lads for the past week. Friday afternoon was the final rehearsal and Bradenbaugh stated that his passers are all set for the go.

New Castle is going down to Pitt Stadium with a straight victories on the winning column. They have never been defeated this season. Will Duquesne be the first team to turn the trick? Tonight will tell the tale.

Statistics from Duquesne show that the Steelers are in the best condition for this game and feel confident of sending the local high boys home with the first defeat. Both teams are even-matched. Beck and Harapas are the forwards who have been going great guns on the floor this season for Duquesne. These two will have to be guarded like leaches. They were the ones responsible for North Braddock's defeat. Mr. Regis McAuley and Nick Uram the local two guards who see that the defense harmonizes and that the forwards from the opposing team do not score too much will take care of Beck-Harapas and company.

Captain Alexander will take care of Dorik spectacular pivot man. Francis Walino and Russell will do their stuff at forward for the locals. Litho Rowe who has been impressive in workouts of late will be ready to enter the fray at any time.

Large Crowd Expected

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner said today that the plans for the game are all "O. K." The special train to leave the West Washington street station from the P. and L. E. is waiting for 5:45 when it will depart from the tin city. The railroad fare costs $1.75 round trip. Special street cars will be on hand at the station to transport the fans to the Pitt stadium. The special train will leave Pittsburgh at 10:00 o'clock. The tickets for the game cost fifty cents here. At Pittsburgh they cost $1.00.

Tony Marino, Pittsburgh, entered the finals of the amateur boxing championships at Grand Rapids by beating Henry Sompolski, 112, of Grand Rapids.

Bronko Nyskurski, All-American star on last season's University of Minnesota eleven, has signed to play professional football with the Chicago Bears.

New Kensington high defeated Uniontown high 22-22, after four extra periods of basketball play last night at Pittsburgh in W. P. I. A. L. competition.

Sharon beat Sheffield 35-12 and Erie East defeated Punxsutawney, 21-18 and entered the finals of the northwestern floor tourney at Grove City.

Reports are current that the Army and Navy will resume football relations in 1932.

Three Games In Church League

Temple Israel, Third U. P., And Central Christians Take Victories

Three games were played in the New Castle church basketball league at the "Y" on Friday night.

The Temple Israel boys after getting away to a bad start in the first half of their game with the Lutherans and being held to 5 to 4 got going better in the final half and won 24 to 4. The Lutherans were held to two field goals. The entire Temple team played good basketball. The Lutherans were held scoreless the entire last half of the battle.

The Third U. P. team gave the First M. E. boys a setback 26 to 15. The score at half time favored the third U. P. team 10 to 5. It was a good game.

The Central Christians downed the Croton M. E. team 46 to 23 in the final game on the bill. The score at the half favored the Christians 23 to 13. The fine playing of A. Baumann in the final half gave the Christians a big lead. The playing of J. Solomon, Fiorelli and Nolon featured on Croton.

Al Friedman Meets Rocco Monday Night

Would Not Be Surprising Were Heavyweight Battle "Sell Out" Owing To Friedman's Spurt And Rocco's Knock-out Of Keely; Rocco Hopes To Win And Capture Friedman's Thunder; Fans Coming From Various Points To See Battle.

Fistic folk of New Castle should see a sensational duel in punch Monday night at Jolly bowl when Al Friedman, Boston and Emmett Rocco, Ellwood City, clash in a bout listed for 10 chapters. Whether the bout goes the limit depends upon the punching ability and assimilative qualities of the rivals. An upset for either will not only mean a fall in prestige but a sharp jolt to the pocketbook.

Friedman will step through light work tomorrow afternoon at Dime's gym and Rocco will do likewise at his South Mill street training quarters. Friedman is reported in the pink of condition and fans who watched Rocco batter training partners throughout the week have stamped approval on his form.

TRY FOR KNOCKOUT

Al Lippe, manager of Friedman has sent word here that Al will try to put Rocco away. He wrote: "Friedman is going over big as his recent fight with Griffiths indicates. He has to win decisively from Rocco to keep his record unsmirched. I'm going to send him out to try for a knockout with every punch."

When Al will hear this he remarked: "Rocco has had two fights beneath his belt and he is in good condition. He will exchange blows for blow with the Boston heavyweight and if Rocco hits Friedman on the chin Al will go down. Emmett is in good condition and will be able to go 10 rounds at top speed."

MANY CHOICE OFFERS

Friedman, it is reported, has been offered a bout by Tom McArdle of Madison Square garden. He is wanted to meet the winner of the Risko-Campolo bout.

Scotty Monteith has offered him a tilt with either Paolina Griffiths or Mickey Walker. Chicago has offered Carnera and Boston either Maloney or Sharkey.

Suey Welsh of Akron will be present as he is anxious to sign Rocco with Knockout Christner.

Should Emmett lay one of his ponderous punches against Al's chin, solar plexus or over the heart it will be a ten second sleep. Whether Friedman's speed and science can offset Rocco's stock and stamina is a question.

OFFICERS MAY ATTEND

Should there be no court at the Schroeder trial, it is reported that Sheriff Wright and his deputies will attend the battle as will visiting scribes. It will be something of a break in their official duties.

Rocco will step through light work tomorrow afternoon at Dime's gym and Rocco will do likewise at his South Mill street training quarters. Friedman is reported in the pink of condition and fans who watched Rocco batter training partners throughout the week have stamped approval on his form.

He will exchange blows for blow with the Boston heavyweight and if Rocco hits Friedman on the chin Al will go down. Emmett is in good condition and will be able to go 10 rounds at top speed."

MANY CHOICE OFFERS

Friedman, it is reported, has been offered a bout by Tom McArdle of Madison Square garden. He is wanted to meet the winner of the Risko-Campolo bout.

Scotty Monteith has offered him a tilt with either Paolina Griffiths or Mickey Walker. Chicago has offered Carnera and Boston either Maloney or Sharkey.

Suey Welsh of Akron will be present as he is anxious to sign Rocco

with Knockout Christner.

Should Emmett lay one of his ponderous punches against Al's chin, solar plexus or over the heart it will be a ten second sleep. Whether Friedman's speed and science can offset Rocco's stock and stamina is a question.

OFFICERS MAY ATTEND

Should there be no court at the Schroeder trial, it is reported that Sheriff Wright and his deputies will attend the battle as will visiting scribes. It will be something of a break in their official duties.

Rocco will step through light work tomorrow afternoon at Dime's gym and Rocco will do likewise at his South Mill street training quarters. Friedman is reported in the pink of condition and fans who watched Rocco batter training partners throughout the week have stamped approval on his form.

TRY FOR KNOCKOUT

Al Lippe, manager of Friedman has sent word here that Al will try to put Rocco away. He wrote: "Friedman is going over big as his recent fight with Griffiths indicates. He has to win decisively from Rocco to keep his record unsmirched. I'm going to send him out to try for a knockout with every punch."

When Al will hear this he remarked: "Rocco has had two fights beneath his belt and he is in good condition. He will exchange blows for blow with the Boston heavyweight and if Rocco hits Friedman on the chin Al will go down. Emmett is in good condition and will be able to go 10 rounds at top speed."

Chamber-Commerce Issues Publication

Volume 1, Number 1, Of "Greater Ellwood" Makes Its Appearance

ELLWOOD CITY, Pa., March 15.—Volume 1 Edition Number 1 of "Greater Ellwood" was placed in the mail yesterday to the membership of the Chamber of Commerce of Ellwood City, and the first edition of the newly rebuilt Chamber reflects the interest of the membership, and the work that the officers are doing to put across this activity in the community. Secretary Thor W. Bruce as editor, has given the edition his personality and enthusiasm that was so noticeable at the Chamber banquet last month.

The cover with the slogan—"In a dream I saw a city Invincible" and "Let us have a Vision to build for the future"—has been artistically designed, and is followed by six pages of reading matter.

The marriage service was read at 11 o'clock and the bride looked lovely in a pretty blue and white figured chiffon ensemble. Her hat was of royal blue tricot straw, trimmed in cream lace. Her flowers were designed in a corsage effect, with orchids, roses and valley lilies.

The bride's attendant, Miss Anne Rosenheimer, of Beaver Falls, was attired in a green and cream afternoon gown, with matching hat, and carried yellow roses and orchid colored sweet peas. Robert Thompson acted as best man in the wedding party.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the bride and groom left on a short wedding tour of the eastern part of the state by motor. They will be at home to their many friends on Fifth street when they return.

Mrs. Zeigler is a graduate of the Beaver Falls high school and has been a resident of Ellwood City for the past six years. A popular member of the younger set, she has been feted at several parties prior to her wedding this morning. Mr. Zeigler is a graduate of the local high school and is prominently identified with the Ellwood City Forge Company.

American Legion To Have Fish Fry

ELLWOOD CITY, Mar. 15—Members of the losing team on the recent membership contest, are hosts to the winning team tonight and all members of the Jay Wilbur Randolph Post of the American Legion and planning to go to the Sons of Columbus hall prepared to enjoy most entertainment evening.

Hugh Holliday is captain of the losers, and declares that no pains have been spared to make tonight's event one long to be remembered.

Monday night the regular monthly meeting of the Post will take place in the Legion Hall, and routine business will be transacted. Plans are being made to have a dance for members of the Legion and their friends on about April 1. More information regarding this will be announced at a later date.

MCCULLOUGH SERVICES

ELLWOOD CITY, March 15—Funeral services for Wm. McCullough, whose death occurred at his home in Burnstown on Wednesday following a short illness, were held from St. Agatha's Catholic church Friday morning.

He is survived by his widow and the following children: Harry, Joseph, Patricia, Shirley and Janice all at home.

Burial was made in St. Agatha's cemetery.

BENEFIT SOCIAL IS WELL ATTENDED

ELLWOOD CITY, March 15—The social held at the Wurtemburg school house last evening for the benefit of the Wurtemburg Community Club, was well attended.

An interesting program was rendered by the pupils of the various rooms under the direction of the teachers of the school.

The proceeds will be used for the school library.

Mayor Anthony M. Ruffo, Jr., of Atlantic City, N.J., arrested following a Grand Jury investigation of conditions at the famous resort, faces trial on fourteen counts of an indictment alleging corruption.

An interesting program has been arranged, and the address of the evening will be made by H. C. Gridland, of Pittsburgh. Mr. Gridland is state superintendent of the Adult department in the association.

Another feature of the program will be a demonstration of the 5B class in Religious Education. There will also be an election of officers for the coming year, who will also be installed on Monday evening.

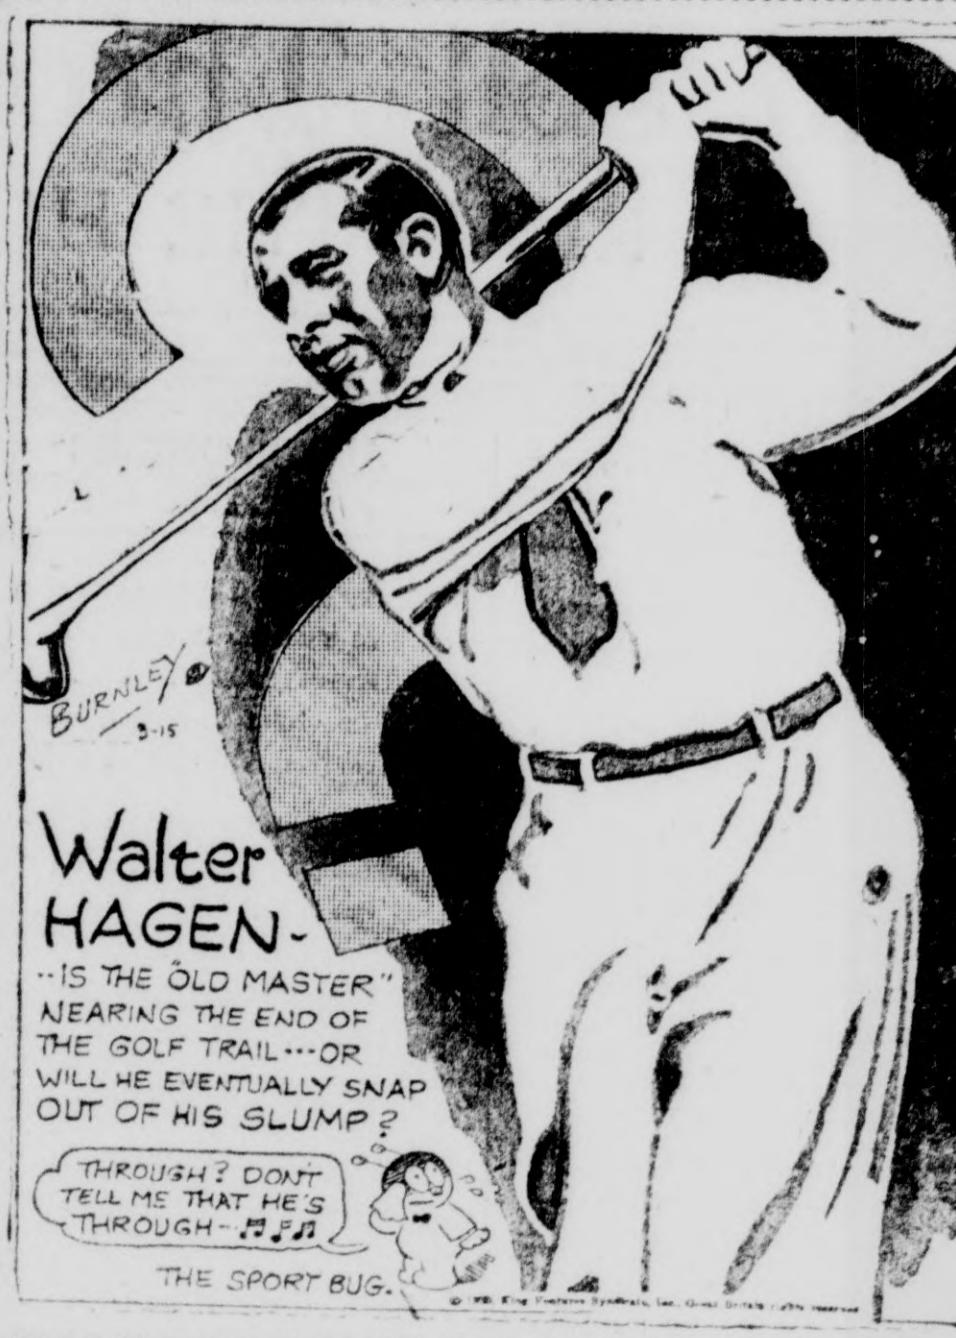

CLASS HAS MEETING

ELLWOOD CITY, March 15.—The Boys class of the Slippery Rock church conducted a monthly meeting Friday evening at the home of Samuel Welhausen of the New Castle road.

A short business meeting took place, after which a social period and lunch were enjoyed.

B. J. Bell attended the meetings of the State Highway Engineers at Harrisburg, Wednesday and Thursday.

Is "The Haig" Through?

Walter Hagen has vied with Robert Tyre Jones in personifying skill at golf for the past decade and a half. Wherever tales are told concerning extraordinary golf over a span of years, "The Haig" will always be mentioned frequently. Four times winner of the British Open Championship—oldest and grandest of all world golf classics—Hagen is assured of sporting immortality. For sixteen years Sir Walter has flamed among links masters and now they're whispering that he's slipping.

True, "The Haig" did not even get in the money on the Pacific Coast during the Winter campaign. He entered six tournaments. The $10,000 Los Angeles open afforded the rare and rather sad scene of "The Old Master" picking up his ball—not even finishing, because he was so far behind. Shortly afterwards Sir Walter sailed with Joe Kirkwood for an exhibition tour of Australia, New Zealand and Japan, announcing that he would not defend his British Open title next May because he will be unable to reach England in time.

Now mourners—usually premature in sports affairs—are lamenting what they please to term the passing of "The Haig." But don't think the latter is moved by any such melancholy, nor is he pal and manager—the astute "Bob" Harlow, nor his erstwhile exhibition partner—the youth-

The best feature about spring football is that there are no cheer leaders.

Last night's meeting concluded with a social period and games of 500.

Special Services At Temple Israel

Mrs. Dorothy Fuldheim Gives Interesting Address Friday Night

Observance of Council Sabbath at Temple Israel, Highland avenue, Friday evening, under the auspices of the New Castle Section of the Council of Jewish women was largely attended and proved of unusual interest not only to the members of the council, but also to the members of Temple Israel and their assembled friends, which filled the Temple auditorium.

Special services in keeping with the observance, and the Jewish Faith were carried out by members of the council and Rabbi J. B. Menkes and the address of the evening was presented by Mrs. Dorothy Fuldheim of Cleveland, who is well known here because of her numerous appearances at Temple Israel in the presentation of a series of lectures.

The address of Mrs. Fuldheim was a highly inspirational appeal for the elimination of wars and the training of future generations so that pride of country would take the form of honoring those achieving distinction in scientific and similar lines, rather than along lines that result from the activities of armed forces in the field of battle.

She took as her text the fourth verse of second chapter of the Book of Isaiah, in which the Prophet describes the time that will come when nation shall no longer lift up the sword against another nation and war shall be no more desired.

Her opening remarks in regard to the fact that the Jewish Nation was chosen people, not as she saw it for the purpose of gaining material wealth but because they treat others as they treat their God. She expressed the hope that it might be a member of her race that would be the leader in the elimination of wars and all their horrors.

The choir rendered special numbers during the service with most pleasing effect and the floral decorations of the occasion were presented by Miss Ida Cohen in honor of her mother Mrs. Harry Cohen's birthday and Rabbi and Mrs. J. B. Menkes in honor of their son Sherwood's birthday.

Following the service adjournment was made to the assembly room, where refreshments were served by the Hospitality Committee of the New Castle Section of the Council of Jewish Women.

The program carried out follows: Meditation; Council Opening Prayer, Mrs. E. Kaplan; Sabbath Hymn, Choir; Friday evening services, Mrs. E. Kaplan; Anthem, Choir; Bible

Reading from Esther Chapter 4, Mrs. B. Kline; Union Prayer Book Pages 58-61, Rabbi J. B. Menkes; Announcements, Mrs. Marcus Feuchtwanger; Solo, Mrs. Dresher; Introduction of Speaker, Mrs. Marcus Feuchtwanger; Address, Mrs. Dorothy Fuldheim of Cleveland; Council Hymn, by Assembly; Closing prayer, Mrs. Marcus Feuchtwanger; Benediction, Rabbi J. B. Menkes.

To Present Program At Tifereth Israel

Pupils Of Religious School To Give Program On Sunday Evening

The story of Esther, the Hebrew queen, saved her people from destruction planned for them by the scheming Haman, will be beautifully told in song and verse at the Tifereth Israel Synagogue, South Jefferson street, on Sunday night at 7:30 p. m. by a number of the pupils of the Religious School.

Every reader of the Bible will remember how Esther, at the instance of Mordecai, saved her people from the machinations of Haman, who, because of his hatred of Mordecai, would have destroyed the whole Hebrew race.

It is in honor of Esther's success in averting such a tragedy that the pupils of the Tifereth Israel Religious School will celebrate the Feast of Purim Sunday night with a delightful program.

Rabbi J. Shapo, minister of the congregation, will have charge of the program, some of the outstanding features of which will be some dances under the supervision of Miss Belle Katz, a solo rendered by Miss Ina Rosenberg, and a Purim play coached by Miss Florence Shapo.

Pleasant Hill Grange To Meet

The next regular meeting of the Pleasant Hill grangers will be Thursday, March 20, at 7:30 p. m. During the lecture hour a St. Patrick program will be presented. Roll call will be answered by Irish stories or jokes, the history of St. Patrick and myths of St. Patrick's day will be given by James McConnell and Chauncey Boots. There will be singing and recitations and a guessing contest. A full evening of enjoyment has been planned.

Killed By Fumes From Auto Exhaust

SALINEVILLE, O., March 15.—John Grant, 42, manager of the Standard Oil company, was found asphyxiated from carbon monoxide gas under a motor truck here.

His death followed an attempt to repair the machine while its motor was running in a closed garage.

First Pre-Easter Class On Friday

Rev. W. W. Sniff Conducts First Class Of Series Friday
After School

The first pre-Easter class of a series of six was conducted Friday afternoon in the Madison Avenue Christian church. Rev. W. W. Sniff is teacher. These classes are to be conducted each Friday, are for the purpose of studying the life of Christ. They are for children and young people of the Christian church and of other denominations if they care to come.

Mr. Sniff has conducted these classes just before Easter the past several years. They have always been interesting and enjoyed by the children attending. Children who could not attend the first class may still join at the second class on next Friday.

In all there will be a series of six classes. One each Friday after school. The last class will be on Good Friday.

Second Performance Of Minstrel Is Fine

The basement of the Mahoning M. E. church was again filled to capacity Friday evening for the second performance of the minstrel show. The program went over big with their audiences both Thursday and Friday evenings. Singing by the soloists and chorus was good and enjoyed. Jokes and funny stories by the end men again kept their audience laughing. All parts were well taken.

This minstrel was presented by the Men's Bible class of the church taught by J. M. Yates. The men taking part have been holding rehearsals the past several weeks. Proceeds realized from the sale of tickets will be put in the Joash chest. A Joash campaign has been conducted in this church since the second Sunday of January. The campaign ends with Easter Sunday.

Car

ROCHESTER, Pa., March 15.—Walter Empirer, 45, First avenue, New Brighton, an employee of the Beaver Valley Water Company, Beaver Falls, is in the Rochester Hospital with a fractured skull, fractures of both arms and a compound fracture of the leg. His condition is reported serious.

State highway patrolmen say the man was run down along the Freedom road by Roy R. Rhodes, postmaster at Freedom. Rhodes was released on his own recognizance pending the outcome of Empirer's injuries.

The water company had made an excavation near the Freedom Oil Works Company and Empirer was directing traffic around the ditch when the accident occurred, police say.

Rhodes is reported to have damaged his car and to have driven to Freedom for help. A passing motorist took the injured man to the hospital.

Manages Debaters On Southern Trip

FRED WILLIAMS

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., March 15.—Fred Williams, Carnegie, a member of the junior class at Westminster College, is student manager of the debate team which left here this morning for a southern tour which will take them to seven states. Eight intercollegiate contests have been arranged.

Mr. Williams, a member of Theta Upsilon Omega fraternity and a varsity debater of experience as well as member of the honorary forensic fraternity, wrote some 50 letters getting the southern schedule arranged.

He has contests carded with Waynesburg College at Waynesburg, Pa.; Western Maryland at Westminster, Md.; Erskine College at Due West, S. C.; Georgia Wesleyan at Macon, Ga.; Rollins College at Winter Park, Fla.; Southern College at Lakeland, Fla.; Spring Hill College at Mobile, Ala.; and Transylvania University at Lexington, Ky.

The men on the team are James Chambers, New Castle; Paul Campbell, Pittsburgh; and Frank Douds, Beaver. Dr. O. A. Dawson, coach, will accompany the team on the trip. The Westminster party will travel by automobile and will return April 1.

Who's Who At Westminster

Dr. R. J. Love, head of the department of Bible at Westminster, is one of seven graduates of the college now on the faculty. Graduating from Westminster in 1885, Dr. Love received his M. A. degree in 1889. He was graduated from Pittsburgh Theological Seminary in 1893.

Westminster conferred upon him a Ph. D. degree in 1894, and at the commencement exercises in 1928 honored him with a D. D. degree.

Dr. Love has had considerable experience both as a teacher and a preacher. He was principal of the normal department of Knoxville college 1890 to 1903. From 1903 to 1906 he was principal of the Oakland school, Pittsburgh. He has held pastorates in various United Presbyterian churches aggregating about 17 years.

Dr. Love came back to Westminster as professor of Bible in 1921. He has been associated with summer schools and summer conferences as student, teacher and lecturer.

Dr. Love is the author of three religious booklets, a contributor to a number of church papers, is faculty advisor of the college Y. M. C. A. and is teacher of the Men's Bible class. He is a member of the faculty committees on athletics, the library committee, and is a member of the Senior class advisory committee.

The water company had made an excavation near the Freedom Oil Works Company and Empirer was directing traffic around the ditch when the accident occurred, police say.

Rhodes is reported to have damaged his car and to have driven to Freedom for help. A passing motorist took the injured man to the hospital.

Find Driver Guilty

The house met at 12 o'clock noon.

The chaplain, Rev. James Shera Montgomery, D. D., offered the following prayer:

O God, our Father, give all of us some small, sweet way to inspire some life and send it on its way rejoicing. Make the ordinary things of each day subservient, and keep us heroic and eager by the romance of spirituality which may enter our commonest tasks. O if life is of high value to us, it must come out of the living present and must throw with the blood of our daily lives. Father of mercy, forgive our sins and blot them out, not only in Thy book of remembrance but out of our minds and hearts. Clothe us with a deep sense of our responsibility, and may we faithfully and wisely fulfill the mission Thou hast given us. In the name of Christ, our Saviour. Amen.

Pretty Pink And Registered Letters Are Most Popular, Says Local Letter Carrier

verage trend of temperatures is expected to be upward from 18 to end of month, but northern cold waves will occur during this period.

During present era of low prices for farm products, there is an especially active movement to increase the farmers income by using all possible vegetation to manufacture bi-products, such as paper and gas from corn stalks and straw. It is a question how far this movement can be carried profitably by the farmer. It must be remembered that all the best farm lands are the result of decayed vegetation, and that while artificial fertilizer increases production under normal conditions, it may not do so when the ground is robbed of all its natural fertilizer. Decayed vegetation, besides being nature's fertilizer, acts as a binder for the soil and helps to conserve moisture, very valuable action in times of drought and rainfall shortage.

Registered letter is a good synonym for alimony. Love letters are good for the heart, but no one ever heard of paying your rent with a pack of fervid love phrases.

PA NEW OBSERVES

Was set right this morning regarding the harbingers of spring, especially when it comes to Red Birds or Kentucky Cardinals as they are properly known. W. C. Kennedy of 465 Neshannock avenue, advised us that if Red Birds are a sign of early spring, that it is spring all winter long at his home. For several years there have been Red Birds feeding all winter at a small box he has placed in a convenient place in his rear yard and in which he keeps scrap feed. The Red Birds have been feeding there regularly at about 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. every day. There are two males and a female. There is also a variety of the woodpecker family known as the Sap Sucker, which feeds daily at the same box on some cue.

Regardless of the fact that seating accommodations are provided for only a few spectators at the trial now in progress at the county court house, there are large numbers who believe that they will be the ones successful in getting them. There are about twenty persons seeking each seat of the trial, a crowd of considerable dimensions surrounding the court house throughout the day.

Find Verdict Of "Guilty" In Augustine Case

Defendant Claims He had Purchased Cartons Found In His Car From Merchant

William Augustine, charged with breaking and entering the Sutton gasoline station on South Mill street, was found guilty by a jury which returned a verdict about 2:30 this afternoon. Mike Paglia had pleaded guilty in connection with the same robbery and absolved Augustine. The evidence against Augustine hinged largely on three cartons of cigarettes found in his car. He denied being in the service station. It was stated that a new trial will be asked.

William Augustine, indicted with Mike Paglia for breaking and entering the Sutton Service station on South Mill street, was taken up to court before Judge Chambers Friday afternoon. Mike Paglia entered a plea of guilty to the charge, leaving Augustine the only defendant when the trial opened.

The case was peculiar, in that it hinged largely on three cartons of cigarettes found in Augustine's car. Augustine denied that he had anything to do with the robbery. He claimed that he had stopped at the gas station for air, when the police came along and discovered Paglia in the car.

Augustine claimed that he had bought the cigarettes at a south side store. There were three brands. Three brands were also missing from the service station, but about a week after the robbery, they were found under a radiator. Employees of the station who had swept the place, claimed that there had been no cartons there immediately following the robbery.

The defense called a young woman named Ellwood, who had seen cigarette's in Augustine's car before the robbery.

A merchant was also called who testified that he had sold Augustine four cartons of cigarettes, of the same brand found in his car, and the same were missing from the gas station.

The case went to the jury about noon.

SHERIFF REPORTED ON VERGE OF DEATH

(International News Service)
DENVER, March 15.—Having eluded the grim lines of determined men thru western Kansas and eastern Colorado, the bandit trio which killed one officer and wounded three others in a mad dash to freedom after they held up twelve persons and escaped with $4,000 at the state bank of Monter, Kan., were at large today.

Although they were last seen at Colby, Kan., last night, as they sped thru the town in a stolen car, the outlaws were believed to have doubled on the trail and to have returned to Colorado by side road.

Two Youths Enter Pleas Of Guilty To Murder Charge

McDevitt And Llewellyn Make Pleas In Session This Afternoon

LIFE IMPRISONMENT SENTENCE PASSED

Dramatic Scene In Court As Youths Come Into Session To Plead

Charles Llewellyn and Jack McDevitt were adjudged guilty of murder in the first degree with life imprisonment as the penalty in a decision handed down by Judge Chambers at 3 o'clock this afternoon after he had heard evidence to fix the degree of the Clark Rea murder. Judge Chambers' decision was made after both young men had entered pleas of guilty.

In fixing the degree of the crime and the penalty Judge Chambers said that it had been clearly established by the evidence and by the pleas of the defendants themselves, that the killing of Rea was done during the commission of a robbery. That being the case the court had no discretion as to the degree of the murder.

In the time he returned Mrs. Martin had regained partial consciousness but was crying and trembling. In the meantime Martin sat down in the law library where he was joined by his wife and baby. He took the baby in his arms, kissed it again and again, while he talked to his wife in low tones. He did not break down, but appeared to be greatly agitated as was also his wife.

Mrs. Martin, Sr., became calmer, but her face was twitching and she was trembling violently. Deputy Sheriff (Continued On Page Two)

Americans And Japanese Effect Naval Com-

JAPAN OFFICIALS SCANNING DETAILS

BY HARRY FLORY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, March 15.—Although official confirmation is still unavailable, there was good reason to believe today that the American and Japanese delegations at the naval conference have come to a compromise agreement, the details of which are now before the Japanese government for approval.

The agreement gives Japan an approximate fleet ratio of 63 per cent, at three per cent increase over the 5-5-3 ratio agreed upon at the Washington conference.

It can be stated fairly accurately that the compromise provides that the United States shall have eighteen eight-inch gun cruisers totalling 180,000 tons while Japan shall have twelve such vessels totalling 108,400 tons.

In six-inch gun cruisers, it is believed the compromise provides for 144,000 tons for the United States and about 100,000 tons for Japan. In destroyers the United States would have 150,000 tons to Japan's 105,000 tons while the navies of both countries would have approximate parity of 54,000 tons in submarine.

In general, the compromise gives Japan an approximate ratio of 63 per cent in all auxiliary craft and increased the ration of her entire fleet, including capital ships and aircraft carriers from sixty to about sixty-five per cent.

These figures are arrived at from the sixty per cent ratio provided by the telephone exchange will be operated, and the day calls will be used. There will be little use of calling before 8:30 o'clock at the earliest.

THOMPSON-HANNA
ENGAGEMENT NEWSATTEND 63RD WEDDING ANNIVERSARY OF SISTER

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Hanna on North Walnut street was a pretty scene Friday evening when 32 friends gathered in their home at which the engagement of Miss Ruth Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hart F. Thompson, to Leonard Hanna, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hanna of Moody avenue was announced.

During the evening a poke of candy eggs were spilled in which a nut shell was concealed that contained a picture of the engaged couple, with the names, "Ruth and Len"—"Spring," written in clever verse, revealing the news.

Games and music were later enjoyed with a delicious lunch being served by Mrs. Alex Hanna, assisted by Mrs. Arthur Seymour, Mrs. Ray Ziegler and Mrs. James Book. Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Seymour of Hancock, N. Y., and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Makle of Ellwood City. The honor couple received many beautiful gifts.

Miss Thompson is a graduate of the local senior high school, class of '26, she also attended Slippery Rock State Teachers college and is doing substitute work in the local schools at present.

Mr. Hanna is associated with the Henderson-Johnson company of Youngstown, Ohio.

Class Elects Officers

The Mabel Ryan Class of the Christian and Missionary Alliance met Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Roy Houk, Grant street. Mrs. E. C. Anderson gave a brief talk, which the women greatly enjoyed.

Officers elected at this time were: President, Mrs. John Wink, vice president, Mrs. Charles Drish, secretary, Mrs. William Kennedy, treasurer, Mrs. Andrew Hunter and Mrs. Clyde Newton, press reporter.

Miss Jean Fulton was a special guest. At the close of the election the hostess and Mrs. B. G. McFarland served a dainty lunch.

Joint Hostesses

Mrs. Walter T. Hamilton and Mrs. Roy Beals were joint hostesses at a prettily appointed 1 o'clock luncheon in the former's home on East Lincoln avenue Friday, which marked the first of the series to be given by the ladies of the First United Presbyterian church. Covers marked for 12 guests, the places being marked in an unique manner.

Later a general social time was enjoyed. As a special guest for the occasion, they had Mrs. Lewis W. Hamilton, daughter-in-law of Mrs. Hamilton.

Suits Us Club

Mrs. Charles Eddy, Court street, charmingly entertained the members of the Suits Us Club in her home Friday evening with Mrs. Jean Smith and Mrs. Maude Sadler as special guests.

Three tables of 500 were in play and high score favors were awarded to Mrs. William Black and Mrs. Earl Wallower with the consolation going to Mrs. May McConahay. At the conclusion of play the hostess served a delicious lunch with a color scheme of green and white being carried out in the appointments and menu.

Plans were completed for a 1 o'clock luncheon which will be held at the Elks Club in two weeks.

W. C. Class Party

Mrs. Frank Dewberry, Summer Ave, received members of the W. C. class of the Wesley M. E. church in her home Friday evening. A short business session was held and the social hour was featured by a storm shower for Mrs. Margaret Grittine, with a number of lovely gifts being presented to her for her new daughter, who arrived a few weeks ago.

The hostess served an appetizing lunch with green and white being carried out in appointments. She was assisted in serving by Mrs. Gardocky. A tempting lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Miss Lena Pacelli.

Thursday, March 27, the club will meet at the home of Miss Babe Marcella on South Mill street.

St. Patrick's Party

Members of the Jolly Twelve club had a St. Patrick's party Friday evening at the home of Mrs. T. M. Moore on Park avenue. Music and games were the pastimes. At a reasonable hour delicious refreshments were served by the committee, comprised of Mrs. George Jones and Mrs. Albert Perkins. St. Patrick's suggestions were carried out in decorations and menu. Shamrocks were favors.

On March 20 the club will meet with Mrs. Frank Myers of Allen street.

F. O. Luncheon Club

Mrs. Thomas Trodden of Leasure avenue entertained members of the F. O. Luncheon club in her home Friday, with 12 present. Music and games of various sorts were enjoyed during the leisure hours with prizes being awarded to Mrs. Lydia Webster and Mrs. W. A. Wrynn. Refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, at a chosen time.

April 11 the club will meet at the home of Mrs. Lydia Webster on Front street.

M. D. O. Club

Members of the M. D. O. club enjoyed the hospitality of Mrs. Joseph McKnight on Adams street when she entertained at a prettily appointed 1 o'clock luncheon. The table was attractive in its decorations of spring flowers. Mrs. Kerr was a special guest of the club.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. George Campbell on Adams street.

O. E. S. Choir to Dine

Members of the choir of New Castle Chapter 105 of the O. E. S. will have a dinner Monday evening at 6:30 in the Elks' club. Mrs. George Hutton and Mrs. William Stritmatter are in charge of arrangements.

Monday's Clubs

The Reading Circle, Mrs. Jacob Rentz, 219 Winter avenue. Allegro Club, Mrs. Raymond George Wilkinson road. Circle of '91, Mrs. LeRoy Taylor, Fairfield avenue. T. Y. C. Club, Mrs. A. Iokes, East Linton street.

M. A. M. Club

Miss Hannah Richards entertained members of the M. A. M. club in her home on Winter avenue Friday evening with radio music and chat forming the diversions of the social hours.

Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by her sister Lena.

In two weeks Mrs. R. T. Morris of South Jefferson street will be hostess.

The next meeting will be with Mrs. George Campbell on Adams street.

SUPREME COURT CHANGES

DEATH has partially remade the supreme court of the United States, and thereby focused public attention upon that body for some time to come. Until the telltale decisions on crucial questions come down the public will ask whether the nation's highest tribunal, in its reshaping, changed in the direction of either conservatism or liberalism.

Justice Sanford voted consistently with the conservative majority, as did Chief Justice Taft. Justices Holmes, Brandeis and Stone form the liberal minority, from which issue those dissenting opinions that are as the voice of protest.

In these restless, changing times there are many citizens, not at all of the revolutionary type, who think the supreme court conservative majority was out of step with the national march. Even congress has noted this condition and called public attention to it on several occasions, even to the extent of proposing legislative veto to supreme court decisions.

Supreme court justices must be intelligent men, profoundly learned in the law, free from bias and eminently tolerant, but they ought also to be responsive to the appeal of social welfare and human rights while respecting the letter and the spirit of the constitution.

STATESMANSHIP IS NEEDED

There is at London today a task of constructive statesmanship of well-nigh immeasurable importance to the future peace and welfare of humanity; and hundreds of millions of people, who have looked to its accomplishment as a crucial step toward lasting international accord, are intent upon the final struggle of traditions and ideals which will determine the issue of success or failure. The verdict, indeed, might be failure when the record of the conference is closed; but we doubt it. There is too much at stake in the wreckage of ten years of earnest effort, and painful achievement to permit hard materialism and cynical distrust of the honor and good faith of nations to prevail.

While the delegations have argued and maneuvered over petty issues of prestige, there has been waiting the opportunity for a leadership which will surmount national vanities and jealousies and arrange a pact of real achievement. Perhaps it would have been impossible to make any progress with such leadership until the unessential had been stripped away and the conferees had come to grips with the issues that spell failure or success.

There is no mystery about those issues today. We have Italy with her insistence on parity with France and her refusal to enter seriously into the business of stating naval needs or building program—one might call it the sabotage of inertia. We have France demanding a fleet sufficient to match Italy in the Mediterranean and the possibility of a revengeful Germany in the North Sea. The British believe their navy must be substantially equal to the combined fleets of Italy and France, because the Mediterranean is the pathway to Suez and their Oriental empire. The United States has tentatively settled her problems with the British and is within sight of a settlement with the Japanese. But all this is blocked by the issues of European suspicion and fear. If Italy refuses to quote a figure, France holds to a building program so great that she believes Italy will not be able to match it. If these two rivals refuse to halt their race in the Mediterranean, the British say they will be forced to set the pace once more.

One thing to end this tension would be a pact for the stabilization of the Mediterranean—amply justified by necessity, and confirmed as practical by precedent. Such a pact now covers the naval issues in the Pacific, largest of the world's oceans. The powers concerned in it agree to consult in case of problems arising either among themselves or concerning any other power. Every nation at the London conference, except Italy, signed that pact. It is not an entangling military alliance. It was ratified by the United States senate and by all the participating nations. Why could they not duplicate it for the Mediterranean? In the door completely closed on such an agreement?

There may be other solutions as good or better. If there are, now is the time to bring them forward. The crucial stage of the London conference is at hand; and we shall soon know whether the leaders of the world's five great naval powers will be found wanting at the test—Philadelphia Inquirer.

OUR ARMY OF HUNTSMEN

It is interesting to learn that nearly six per cent of the population of the United States—or, in exact figures, 6,450,000 persons—secured hunting licenses in the 1927-28 season, showing widespread interest in this outdoor sport. The fees received for them amounted to over $9,000,000.

These figures, compiled by federal officials, show an increase of some 40 per cent over the 1924 period, when less than 5,000,000 secured licenses at a cost of some $6,000,000, while the following year they jumped to 5,168,000 and then to 5,987,000.

Delaware had the smallest number of permits in the 1927-28 season, with 1,970. Most states report comparatively few non-resident licenses, one reason probably being the higher cost of these to outsiders. To offset this is the fact that certain states provide better hunting grounds of some kinds than others.

The distinction between the fees charged is brought out sharply by comparing Pennsylvania with New York. The latter received $699,000 for 675,000 permits. The Quaker state obtained over $1,000,000 from 517,000 hunters.

Issuance of over 6,000,000 licenses throughout the country means considerably more than mere granting of permits to kill game, however.

The late bird catches the sleep.

A low moral aim oft will hit the dollar mark.

Money may get a man into trouble, but it is usually more helpful in getting him out.

We never thought much of the piano accordion until it cut into saxophone sales.

If the marathon idea was a product of ancient Greek culture, that culture has been highly overrated.

Figures compiled by the New York Board of Education show that girls in the graduating classes of public schools over there outclassed the boys, but why go to all that trouble to prove something that isn't news?

"Merely going to church," says a critic, "cannot be termed being religious. We often break one or two commandments on our way home." And frequently at least one right in church, when a lady covets some other woman's hat, or a man another chap's nifty suit.

All doctors and parents will be interested in news of a "meningitis婴儿," a 19-year old youth, William Fehiker, in the reformatory for boys at Booneville, Mo.

Five superintendents and inmates with whom he came in contact died of meningitis, showing how easily the deadly disease may be contracted.

Scout Men Guests At Local Church

Attend Oyster Supper At First Presbyterian; Business Session Held

The monthly meeting of the Lawrence county council, Boy Scout Leaders' association was held Friday evening, March 14, in the First Presbyterian church with Scoutmaster Edwin Schmid as host. There was a large attendance of scout leaders and many important matters were discussed.

At 7:30 an oyster supper was served by the host, assisted by three of his scouts, Rodger Rose, James Kirkpatrick and Herbert Christman. After the supper, a vote of appreciation was given Mr. Schmid.

A short social period in charge of Scout Commissioner Ralph F. Davis, was very enjoyable.

President Irwin Ropp then called the meeting to order and after the minutes and roll call by Secretary Sidney Smith, reports from various committees were heard.

Exposition Plans

The committee in charge of the merit badge exposition and mothers', fathers' and scouts' banquet have completed their plans. Efforts are being made to have 500 at the banquet on March 27 in the First Presbyterian church. Plans are made to accommodate the hundreds of people who will visit the merit badge exposition during March 27 and 28 in the First Christian church. A large number of local merchants and manufacturers have been asked to sponsor different exhibits. A large Indian village will be located on the public square in front of the church. This exposition promises to be the most outstanding event of the year.

The first aid jamboree committee, under the chairmanship of William H. Haley, gave a very favorable report on their plans. A silver loving cup, the R. J. Tully cup, and silver medals will be awarded the winning team.

A number of reels of motion pictures taken of Camp Phillips were shown by Sidney Smith and Glenn Montgomery which were both interesting and instructive.

Senior first aiders will receive a letter soon as to the date and place of examination. The meeting on Monday night, March 17, has been canceled owing to the fact that the official examiner will not be able to preside.

Blunt Murder Case Week Of March 24th

Case Will Come Up Before
Panel Of Jurors Summoned
For That Week

Trial of Bertha Blunt for the murder of John Henry King will not be taken up at court until the week of March 24th, according to announcement of Judge James A. Chambers at court this morning. Another jury, consisting of 60 persons, has been called for the week of March 24th.

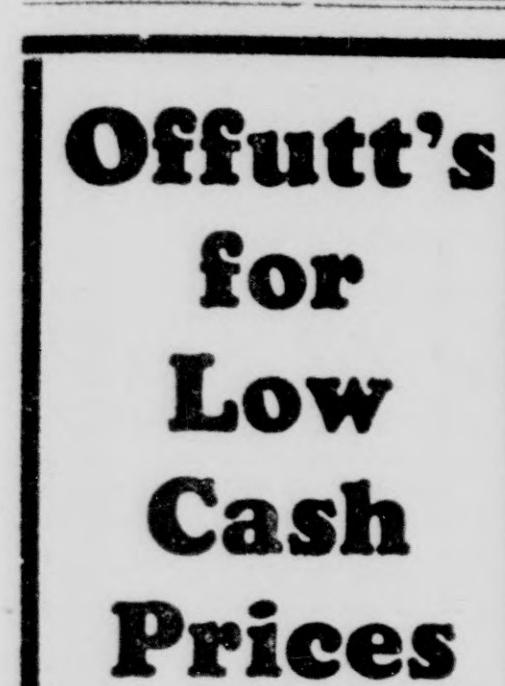

Two other juries of 60 each have been called for next week, but there are a number of other cases on the trial list which will be taken up. It is expected that they will all be before Judge Chambers, as the Schroeder case is likely to engage the attention of Judge Hildebrand all next week.

Bertha Blunt, who is to be tried during the week of March 24th, is alleged to have shot John Henry King, a colored man, at a house on Home street. She will plead self-defense. Attorneys James A. Rhodes and Gilbert Long have been appointed by the court to defend her.

Several Ordinances In Printing Office

Several ordinances are in the printing office being prepared so they can be lodged with council for final action next week.

Among them is an ordinance providing for the widening of North street and another curtail's collection of court fees by city employees.

Double Parkers Are Being Tagged

Special Campaign Now On By Police To Put Stop To Nuisance

Double parking one of the most annoying traffic violations is the cause of so many complaints, especially from the sections of North street and Washington street between East and Mill streets, that the police are now staging a special campaign against all violators of this regulation.

Quite a number of persons double parking their machines on both these much complained of streets were tagged today and required to pay the city a fine. The campaign will be kept up until there is a pronounced letup.

The contest was well attended and all the participants were congratulated on the showings made.

SHERIFF WRIGHT GIVES DETAILS OF PURSUIT OF BLONDE IN DESERT

the edge of the desert between the Salt and Gila rivers.

Q. What did you do?

A. Went to the car and ordered a search made.

Q. Did you go to the scene of the finding of the car?

A. That morning about 6:30.

Q. Then where did you go?

A. Ordered a search and ordered men out to pick up the track.

Q. What time did you go back?

A. An hour or so later.

Q. Have you been to the place where they were captured?

A. Yes it is on the southwest side of the Gila River in the Estrella mountains.

Q. Where they were found is how far from the car?

A. About 14 miles.

Q. Is there a highway near there?

A. Yes the Bankhead highway running from Tucson to Yuma and on to California.

Q. Where did you get the defendant?

A. Near the Gila River.

Q. Who had her?

A. Some of the officers. I transferred her to my car. In the car were Mrs. Schroeder, Mrs. Mott and Mr. Warner.

Q. Which seat did Mrs. Schroeder ride in?

A. In the front seat.

Q. How long did it take?

A. About an hour.

Q. What was said?

A. She asked her name, she said I could find out. I told her I had her name and Glenn Dague and Tom Crawford. I showed her name to her and she said I guess your right. A reporter asked her name and she said ask the sheriff. I asked her what kind of a gun she had referring to the murder of Brady Paul and she said she had a .38. She said they were headed for Yuma, 208 miles away.

Q. Did she make any statement about why they were going there?

A. She said they had had trouble in Texas and were going to Yuma. She also said they had had trouble in Pennsylvania.

Q. Did she say anything?

A. She said that as they arrived at Chandler they wanted to go around the town. She said at Florence an officer wanted to see her automobile papers, she honked the horn and Glenn Dague and Joe Wells came out and stuck a gun in the deputy's side and forced him into the car. He guided them wrong she said, once they were bogged down in a river bottom and they made him dig them out. She said Chapman told them there were no officers in Chandler and they could drive through all right. In Chandler they ran into more officers and had a gun battle.

Q. Do you know where Joe Chapman is?

A. Yes, in the hospital in Tucson, suffering from a gunshot wound.

Q. Were two officers shot in Chandler?

A. Yes, Lee Wright and Butterfield.

Q. Where are they?

A. Butterfield is in Arizona and Wright is dead.

Q. Were the prisoners finger printed?

A. Yes.

Q. What did Dague do?

A. He kissed Irene.

Q. When they were fingerprinted did Mrs. Schroeder sign her name?

A. No, she signed Mildred Winthrop.

Q. What did Dague sign?

A. Winthrop.

Q. Were they in each other's presence?

A. They were.

Sheriff Wright identified the guns that were taken from the prisoners. He also identified articles taken from the automobile.

Q. I show you a telegram from Gilligan and Trott, Dillon, O., addressed to Irene Schroeder. Did she take it as Irene Schroeder.

A. I don't think she did.

(This telegram was an offer from a company for her life story.)

MAN WALKS INTO RIVER

Nick Uran, aged 55, 125 Atlantic avenue, well known steel worker, shortly before four o'clock this afternoon, hung his overcoat on the iron railing at west end of the West Washington street bridge over the Shenango river, walked down the steep bank of the river near the end of the bridge and walked into the water of the river.

Those seeing him do this and believing that it might be an attempt at suicide called the police and Officers Longstreth, Lynch, Criswell and Augustine responded ready for any emergency.

By the time the police arrived, he had returned to the bank after having swum to the center of the river.

The police helped him out and up the bank. He remarked that the water was very cold.

He was removed to the New Castle hospital to receive any needed care.

PRINCIPALS IN LOVE TRAGEDY.

In her hour of need, Lila Jimerson, top, said to be the "last of the Indian princesses," has sent a letter to Henri Marchand, prominent Buffalo artist, below, asking his aid. She and Mrs. Nancy Bowen, lower right, accuse each other of murdering the artist's wife. The Indian girl, who is said to have been in love with Marchand, for whom she posed, told Mrs. Bowen that Mrs. Marchand was a "witch" and had "hexed" her family, persuading her to kill the artist's wife, according to the old squaw's story. Both are being held for first degree murder.

TWO YOUTHS ENTER PLEAS OF GUILTY TO MURDER CHARGE

Reynolds directed that a physician be called.

After Attorney Patterson had conferred with the court, Judge Chambers directed that Martin be brought back into the court room. It was announced that he had decided not to plead. Judge Chambers directed Deputy Sheriff Reynolds to take him back to jail, at the same time announcing that he would be called for trial on Monday morning. Soon after he had been taken back to jail Mrs. Martin recovered sufficiently to leave the library with the assistance of some friends.

After the Martin case had been disposed of Judge Chambers started to take testimony in the cases of Llewellyn and McDevitt to determine the grade of the crime.

Elias Rae, brother of Clark Rae, the murdered man, was the first witness called to the stand. He told about the occurrences at his home in Neshannock township on the night of Jan. 15. He said that he and his brother were warming their backs by a grate fire when they saw a flashlight at the east window. Clark Rae, his brother, picked up a chair and hurled it through the window. Shots were fired, three men entered. His brother Clark fell on the floor with a bullet in his brain. Rae's testimony regarding subsequent events was the same as in the trial of William Grimm.

Louis McAnaney told about his work in the case and of having secured confessions. Attorney George W. Muse read the confessions.

Llewellyn and McDevitt were then sworn and told the story of the hold-up and murder. They both claimed that on the way down to the Rae house they had stopped and discussed the proposed robbery. They had agreed that no shooting was to be done. Neither of them knew who had fired the fatal shot. The first that they knew that Rae had been killed was when they entered the house.

McDevitt told about taking 50 cents from Elias Rae at the point of a gun and of having taken a pocketbook, containing about $43, from Clark Rae. The money was divided on the way to town.

John Young, city policeman, told about having arrested McDevitt at Indiana Harbor.

Bo Broadway

NEW YORK, March 15.—Police Commissioner Grover Whalen

titled "Latest Song Hits." The sale of these netted him somewhere around $400 a week.

Segal's success gave the racketeers an idea. If songs which were not really hits went over as big as that, why wouldn't real Broadway smashes, similarly treated, provide a golden harvest?

A Red gets that way usually from eating too much greasy pastry, drinking too much vife coffee, dodging sunlight and exercise and ignoring the handwork of the plumber—civilization's advance agent.

Although he made a great outward show of energy, the last thing in the world a Red wants is action.

His great desire is to congregate with others as greasy and loose-minded as himself and talk—talk.

Let him talk and he's happy. Stiff his speech and he either collapses like an over-ripe squash or explodes like an over-inflated balloon.

Cracking his skull-tossing tear gas bombs at him—featuring him in front-page headlines, is endowing him with a recognition out of all proportion to his importance. After a while he begins to believe he amounts to something.

Nature brought him into the world with an inferiority complex which acts as a ball and chain. Once relieve him of that by undue notice and a harmless pest becomes a menace.

Shakespeare Of The Bowery

The New York song racket, which to date, is responsible for a five million dollar loss to music publishers, started innocently enough.

They is a chap named Henry Segal, better known as the "Shakespeare of the Bowery"—a poetic vagabond, with cauliflower ears and a pugilist's map, whose songs are known the length of the historic thoroughfare which acknowledges him as its official minstrel.

In response to numerous requests to reprint his lyrics he had a sheet of his songs compiled on tinted paper.

Detroit Woman Is Found Beheaded, Husband Suicides

Believe Husband Killed His Wife, Beheaded Her And Then Jumped To His Death

(International News Service)

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, March 17.—You could just about count on your fingers the women whose nerves are case-hardened enough to keep them from flitting when a $1,000 prize hangs on a single six-foot putt. Miss Lucille Cairns is one of them.

Miss Cairns' father offered her $1,000 if she brought her golf score down to 90. She came up to the 18th green in 88, with but a half dozen feet of greenward remaining between her and fortune. She taped the ball with professional nonchalance, and just as nonchalantly collected Pape Cairns' money.

As they came from their store they were halted by three holdup men who drew up in an automobile. One bandit covered Charles and another Joseph, who was carrying the bag which had been left at the store by his son, Frank. As bandit No. 1 said to Charles: "Give me your money or I'll kill you," bandit No. 2 seized the empty school bag and shouted: "Come on, boys, I've got it." Then they fled.

Stretched across her body was a line of playing cards headed by the king of hearts. In her hand was clutched a woman's picture.

Police believe Janczyk murdered his wife before committing suicide. Neighbors notified police when they heard breaking glass as the man plunged headlong from a window.

The three children of the couple, Sophia, 3; Frank, 13, and Harry, 3, slept through the tragedy.

ON WAY TO TRIAL

CIGARET CARTONS ARE MYSTERY IN AUGUSTINE CASE

about 3 a.m. when they saw Augustine near the gas station. They asked him what he was after and he said that he was going to get some air. They noticed the door of the gas station open and found Frank Paglia inside. Paglia and Augustine were placed under arrest.

Investigating they found that the gas station door had been broken open with a jimmy. They found the safe door open and some money bags. In Augustine's car they found some cigarettes, several cartons of cigarettes were shown witness and identified as the cigarettes he had found in the car.

Witness claimed that Paglia had said he would take the blame. Augustine claimed he was not with Paglia. The two men were sent to the police station.

Cross examined, witness said Augustine's car was about five feet from the air hose at the garage. When Augustine saw Moore he walked toward him. Moore and Thomas were talking to Augustine when Thomas saw a shadow in the gas station and they all walked over to the door. Witness saw a pinch bar on a window sill. Finding the door locked he took the pinch bar, inserted it in a crack near the yale lock and forced it open.

Witness was shown a pinch bar which was in the back compartment of my car had been borrowed during the hunting season. The car was a coupe.

Statement of Augustine at police station on the night he was arrested was read. It was substantially the same story as told by Augustine on the stand.

This closed the case for the defense. It is now with the jury.

to Ellwood with William Augustine on February 18th. They left there on February 19th about 1 a.m. Drove slowly home, stopped at home of witness and chatted until about 2:30 a.m. when defendant drove away. Witness saw cigarettes in car but did not say how many.

Defendant Testifies.

William Augustine, defendant, testified he saw Miss Patch on February 18th. He remained until about 1 a.m. February 19th. He came back with Francis Augustine, his cousin. After leaving his cousin at his home he went to the Dairy Lunch about 2:30 a.m. Starting home he stopped at the Sutton gas station to get air. He filled his tire. As he was leaving the Sutton gas station he saw a man with a shotgun which was in the back compartment of my car had been borrowed during the hunting season. The car was a

WITNESSES SHOW CAR ON GARDNER VIADUCT; LATER IN MONACA, PA.

Two Men And Boy With Irene When She Stopped in Restaurant at Monaca on December 27. Second Man Believed Tom Crawford — Dague and Mrs. Schroeder Again Identified by Witnesses — Westerners May Take Stand Today.

With the case against Irene Schroeder for the murder of Brady Paul, going into the last day of the first week of the trial, the commonwealth seems to have its case in chief about in. The main pegs upon which they hope to hang a first degree conviction have been driven, and while there is much more testimony to be offered it may be classed as secondary or buttressing evidence.

Friday evening's session brought to the stand witnesses who identified the defendant, Irene Schroeder and Glenn Dague at various points on their flight from New Castle, one on the viaduct leading out to the Beaver Falls road, one in Monaca, Pa., on the trip towards Wheeling, W. Va. Another witness, E. H. Methady of St. Louis, testified that the car in which they were riding when Brady Paul was shot, was his car that had been stolen. The balance of the session was taken up largely by the introduction and admission of exhibits in the case.

Western Witnesses Next.

The indications are that today's testimony will include William Kiessling, St. Louis policeman who escaped death in a gun battle with Irene and her pals, Sheriff Charles Wright of Phoenix, Arizona, Hans Kuhr of Phoenix and the two cell mates of Irene.

Friday night's testimony lacked the color and dramatic tinge that former sessions did, but it was most important to the commonwealth's case. One fact was developed that seems to have located the missing second man in the party, thought to have been Tom Crawford, brother of Irene.

He was in the car on the Butler road on December 27th, when Brady Paul was shot and between there and Adams street where Ray Horton's car was stolen he disappeared.

Solomon Waldman's testimony was not quite definite enough to establish the fact that Crawford was in the car when it passed over the Seventh ward viaduct, but Mrs. Beryl Miller, restaurant keeper of Monaca testified that Irene, Donnie and two men were in her restaurant between four and five o'clock on the afternoon of December 27th. Her description of the second man tallies with the description of him in Butler and on the Butler road, and either he was picked up after Irene and Glenn stole the Chrysler on Adams street, or he slipped into the car while Horton's back was turned as he was being relieved of his money.

Case Well Prepared

It is doubtful if a commonwealth case has ever been better prepared in this county than is the case against Irene Schroeder. Not a single incident seems to have been omitted, nor an occurrence bearing on the case was too minor to be overlooked, and while it has meant the bringing to New Castle of many witnesses from outside the city, every one of them had testimony relevant to the commonwealth's case.

What the defense will offer is yet a mystery. Attorneys Dickey, Powell and Jarrett for the defense have revealed nothing in the way of an indication and their repeated statement has been, "our defense will be presented from the witness stand, and not before."

All indications seem to point to the defense getting started about Monday afternoon. It is doubtful if the witnesses yet left for the commonwealth will be able to get all their testimony in by adjournment this afternoon and it probably will not be concluded before Monday at noon. This is purely conjecture and may not be borne out by the subsequent events.

The testimony presented on Friday evening follows:

and DW7338. He was asked to get his 1929 plate number.
Dague was brought into court and was identified by Horton.

Miss Elsie W. Nickum was called and testified as to the theft of Raymond Horton's automobile.

She described how she was on her way home to lunch on December 27 with Mr. Horton, leaving from the Blair Strip Steel Company. About 12 o'clock they pulled out of the driveway, a Chevrolet coach passed them and slowed down. They passed the Chevrolet which again passed the Chrysler on Adams street. The driver blew his horn and Horton stopped.

She described how Irene held up Horton while Dague took possession of the Horton car.

Her testimony corroborated that of Horton in every particular.

Cross examination failed to shade her story.

Adams Street Woman

Mrs. Emma Shifflett of 1035 Adams street was called.

Q. Did you see a Chrysler car stop in front of your home? December 27?

A. Not just in front but nearer the next door.

Q. What did you see?

A. Miss Nickum was getting out of the right side and Mr. Horton at the left. There was a lady and a man also there.

Q. What was done?

A. When I went out on the porch there was a man taking a bag and a child from the Chevrolet to the Chrysler. The lady was standing close to Mr. Horton.

Q. Did you know Mr. Horton?

A. No.

Q. Did you know Miss Nickum?

A. Yes.

Q. The other woman on the street would you be able to recognize her?

Identifies Irene

A. Yes there she is (pointing to Irene).

Q. Notice the Chevrolet?

A. Yes there were holes in the windshield.

Q. Were there many people around the car?

A. Yes, many people.

Little cross examination.

Raymond Horton was recalled and said that his 1929 license plates were number Pennsylvania 154-142.

Deputy Sheriff Called.

Deputy Sheriff William McK. Reynolds took the stand.

Q. What position did you hold in December, 1929?

A. Chief deputy sheriff.

Q. Did you get a call on December 27, 1929, relative to the shooting of the Horton holdup?

A. My first call was a double murder report from City Officer Steiner. The call was to the Butler road. I called officers and sent them to the scene. Then I got a call from Mr. Horton asking why he couldn't get service. He said a woman and a man had stolen his automobile. I went to Adams street and found Mr. Horton. Many people were around and a number of automobiles.

Q. What was inside the car?

A. Two pocketbooks, golf balls, one toy victrola, several toy animals, a cake of soap, some child's clothing, a pair of short knee pants, a waist and I believe two pairs of small under panties.

Q. What was done with the clothes?

A. Given to Parole Officer Jack M. Dunlap to be worn by Dennis Schroeder.

Q. What was done with the toys?

A. The victrola was given to Dennis Schroeder.

Q. What was the condition of the windshield?

Bullets Fired From Inside.

A. There were bullet holes in them indicating three bullets had been fired from the inside.

Q. At the time you saw the car on Adams street how much space would each hole cover? Was any glass on right hand side broken except where holes were?

A. No.

Q. Any other holes?

A. There was one on the driver's side entering into the car. That bullet entered the roof.

Q. Any bullet mark on the shell of the radiator right side. This bullet hit the shell, deflected and hit the headlight.

Q. Would you say the same bullet made both marks?

A. I would say it was.

Q. There are at least four different marks?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you observe the hole in the windshield and on the right hand side of the car?

A. Yes.

Q. Were you present when Mr. Rutter took some photographs?

Evening Session

Raymond C. Horton was recalled to the stand and for the purpose of giving his motor and serial number of his Chrysler car. They are A-2700290

A. Yes.

Q. Holes in same condition?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. As to windows, any broken?

A. Yes, the right front window in the door. There was only two jagged pieces in the door.

Q. Did you get the pocketbooks or do you have them?

A. Yes, in the safe in the sheriff's office.

Q. Who handed them to you?

A. R. C. Horton.

Witness produced the articles mentioned above, identified them and they were admitted into evidence.

State Police Officer

Lieutenant Thomas M. Boettner of Troop D State Police was called.

Q. Are you the prosecutor in this case?

A. I am.

Q. Were you engaged in the investigation of the case on December 27?

A. I was.

Q. What time did you come to New Castle?

A. About 12:15.

Q. Did you see Deputy Sheriff Reynolds?

A. Yes, about 3 o'clock.

Q. Did you obtain any articles from the automobile?

A. Some newspapers (the produced them).

Q. The newspapers you produced are the Wheeling Register, News and The Intelligencer, are they not?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. What else did you get?

A. A road map, a Smith & Weston box, some cardboard.

Q. Did you find a Colt automatic pistol box?

A. Yes.

Q. Did you obtain a purchase slip?

A. I found one in the car but not at this time. I found it in the car.

Q. You have produced a purchase slip of the Hub Store in Wheeling marked 731-47. Where did you get it?

A. In the Chevrolet back of the seat?

Q. Did Deputy Sheriff Reynolds give you a notebook?

A. Yes, (he produced it.)

Q. Who has had custody of those articles since you obtained them?

A. I have.

No cross examination.

Margiotti put into evidence the articles mentioned above. The defense started to object to the admission of a little red notebook, but admitted it without argument. Margiotti then showed the exhibits to the jury. One of the papers, the Register, bore the date of December 26, 1929.

Leo Sheridan of the Associated Press was called and said that the Westfield Grange hall was a morning paper.

Defense objected to Sheridan's testimony on the ground that it was immaterial. His testimony was admitted.

Q. What time do the wires close for a morning paper?

A. They open at four o'clock in the afternoon and close at two o'clock in the afternoon.

Q. Do you know what time this paper goes to press?

A. I can't say.

Q. What edition is this?

A. I would say that it was the third edition, coming out at midnight.

Cross-examined.

Q. Do you know of your own knowledge what time this paper goes to press?

A. No.

Q. That's all.

Solomon Waldman

Solomon Waldman was called.

Q. Where were you on December 27 about noon?

A. Near the viaduct in Mahoningtown.

Q. Did you see a Chrysler roadster going across there?

A. Yes.

Q. What color was it?

A. Yes, it was blue with wire wheels.

Q. Was the righthand door open?

A. Yes.

Q. How close did this car come to you?

A. About four feet.

Q. Did you know whose car it was?

A. Yes.

Scout Executive At Easton Here For Conference

Arrives From East Today;
Meetings With Council
Leaders Are Slated

CANDIDATE FOR POST
OF EXECUTIVE HERE

Herbert G. Horton, present chief executive of the Boy Scout council at Easton, Pa., arrived in New Castle shortly before noon today for a meeting with local scout officials this afternoon, in the role of prospective candidate for the post of chief executive here, a position left vacant when J. Lee Calahan left to assume a regional directorship more than a month ago.

Immediately on reaching here Mr. Horton went into conference with Louis B. Round, Pennsylvania Power company official and chairman of a special committee named to secure a successor to Mr. Calahan. A visit to Boy Scout offices and brief conferences with leaders of the Lawrence county council are scheduled for Mr. Horton's stay this afternoon. He will remain here over Sunday.

According to Mr. Round the local committee decided to call Mr. Horton at the suggestion of Regional Scout Director Roy F. Seymour, shortly before the latter departed after a meeting with committeemen here. Major Seymour wired him at once and he replied that it was possible for him to come.

Mr. Horton comes highly recommended both by Major Seymour and the record of his past accomplishments at Easton. He has been one of the outstanding scout executives in attendance at the national scout training school and during his service in the eastern Pennsylvania city has proved himself well qualified as an executive and leader.

The local officials will concur on the matter of making a selection some time during the latter part of next week, it was announced. Summer time, meaning camp time for the local Boy Scout council is rapidly nearing and it is urgent that a successor to Mr. Calahan be named in the immediate future.

Benefit Lecture For Union Baptist

Rev. George M. Landis Of The First Baptist Church Will Give Lecture

One hundred beautifully colored lantern slides on Bunyan's great book, "The Pilgrim's Progress" will be given Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday evenings of next week, (March 17, 18, 20, 21) at the Union Baptist church on W. Grant street. Admission will be free, but an offering will be received each night. This is another effort to help this needy church to get on its feet financially. Everybody, regardless of age or color, is cordially invited. A special invitation is given to the boys.

These pictures were selected by the celebrated children's evangelist, Alfred P. Gibbs of Johannesburg, So. Africa, who searched the libraries of England, Africa and America for the best pictures illustrating Bunyan's great work. A number of the pictures were drawn by a noted commercial artist to fill up gaps in the story which no other artist had covered. Mr. Landis has given these lectures to large audiences in this and other cities. All services are gratis.

GARDNER

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McGary and children of Gardner spent Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cannon of Adams street in New Castle, where a little stranger arrived recently.

Mr. Johnson of Pittsburgh, who spent some time with his relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smith, of Gardner, went to his home last Saturday. Mrs. Smith is spending this week at the home of their daughter in New Castle, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Connor, where a little grandson has arrived.

Gardner is in luck again. Mr. and Mrs. Philip Moore are the proud parents of a lovely daughter, who can prove her claim to the five dollar gold piece generously bestowed on every child in Lawrence county, if born on March 12th, the birthday of the donor, Mr. Fred L. Rentsch, the president of the News Company. Last year Beverly June Trimble of Gardner received the prize.

The Kirkwood family of Gardner drove to Warren, O., last Saturday and found that Robert Kerr was so much improved that he had left the hospital. Mrs. Kirkwood went to Wampum on Thursday evening to the family where Mrs. Cameron, the wife and mother, was burned to death in the fire which destroyed their home.

There was no preaching service at Gardner Chapel last Sunday. Jack Wimer will lead the young people's meeting next Sunday night.

Sylvester Badger of the old Pittsburg road has been seriously ill for some time and is not improving.

Many Veterans Filing Claims For Compensation

April 6 Is Last Day Under Present Law For Seeking Aid For War Injuries

Many local war veterans, who are disabled because of injuries or illness which can be traced to their war service, are now filing claims for compensation through the Lawrence County Chapter, American Red Cross. Claims are coming in on an average of one or more a day, necessitating considerable work in getting the papers filled out and the necessary information gathered.

Local veterans are urged to present their claims at once so that there will not be a tremendous rush on the last few days remaining for this purpose.

After April 6, veterans will not be able to seek redress from the Veterans Bureau under the present law, and it is doubtful if the time will be extended for this purpose.

In order to secure compensation, a veteran must be able to prove service connection, and to have been treated for his disability between the time he was discharged and January 1, 1926.

Those who come under this qualification and are not disabled to an appreciable extent at the present time, should file their claim anyhow, as disability of a permanent degree might strike them later on, and not having their claim filed, would disqualify them from receiving assistance from the government.

Secretary Allen of the Red Cross will be glad to assist all Lawrence county veterans, who call between the hours of 3 and 6 p. m. at the local Chapter offices.

Ohio Workers Lead Campaign At Christian Church

The Central Christian church of this city has secured J. Marion Small of Brilliant, and Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Hess, of Findlay, Ohio, who are busy with the many calls coming to them for immediate service, to lead them in a great Pentecost campaign, which begins Monday, March 17.

The Hesses have been regularly engaged in evangelistic work for the past five years, during which time they have worked in nine states, including all those between Pennsylvania and Oklahoma.

All Day Services At Simpson M. E.

Evangelistic Campaign Of Two Weeks Will Be Brought To Close Sunday

Sunday will be marked by all day services at the Simpson M. E. church of which Rev. H. L. Johnson is pastor. The meetings will begin with a sermon at 10 a. m. by Evangelist Mark Smith, who has been conducting services here for the past two weeks.

Sunday school will be at 11 a. m. and an afternoon service at 2:30 with the pastor presenting one of his masterful sermons on "Body, Soul and Spirit," is there a difference between Soul and Spirit and if so what?" An old fashioned class meeting will be held in the afternoon and the evening service at 7:30 will bring to a close the evangelistic campaign with Rev. Mark Smith bringing the message.

There will also be baptism of infants and adults, either by sprinkling or immersion.

Potter Returns From Hospital

Orville Potter, of Huey street, past commander for Harry L. McBride post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, returned from Washington, D. C., yesterday where he has been in the Walter Reed hospital for the past six weeks, following a serious operation.

Mr. Potter is able to get around but has not entirely recovered from the effects of the operation as yet. Sunday, he had the rare privilege of meeting the famous Ross, Ames and Andy and Graham McNamee, who visited the Walter Reed hospital and entertained the veterans confined there.

Reformed Church To Hear Missionaries

Rev. and Mrs. A. I. Seymour, who are home on furlough from Africa, will be the speakers in the Reformed Presbyterian church Sunday evening at 7:45.

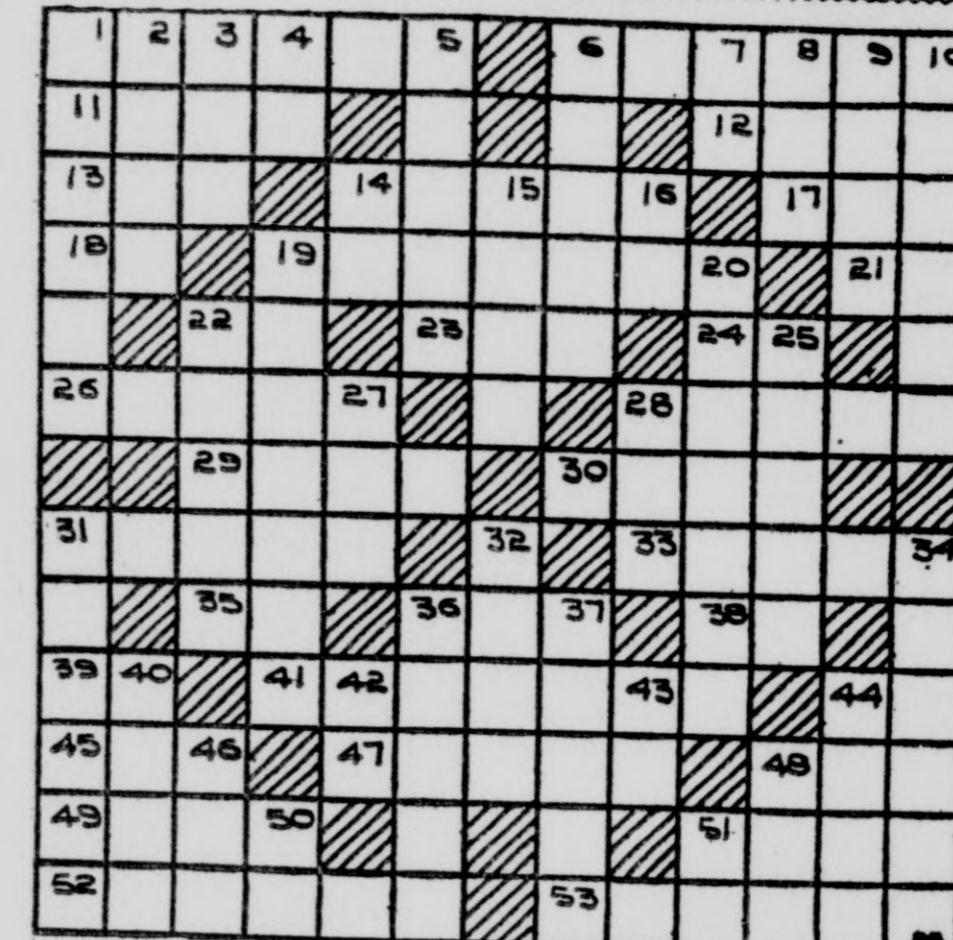

The Seymour's field of labour is in French Equatorial Africa and the mid-African mission in which they are employed is a thousand miles inland and a journey of six weeks is required to reach here from the coast. They have had many thrilling and interesting experiences during the duration of their service and they will tell of these in their discourse.

Employes six tubes, three of them Screen Grid and an extra size Electro-Dynamic Speaker.

Douglas McElvenny Suffers Stroke

Douglas McElvenny is seriously ill at the home of his sister, Mrs. Hettie E. Gibson, 1819 East Washington St. Mr. McElvenny suffered a stroke on Tuesday afternoon and has not as yet regained consciousness. Grave doubts are held as to his recovery.

R. F. D. Boxes In Need Of Repairs

Some Must Be Re-set, Others Re-painted, After Freezing Winter Period

ANNUAL INSPECTION SCHEDULED FOR MAY

Rural mail boxes, after a winter such as the one just past, are more or less in need of repair, and it is the request of Postmaster E. W. Crawford that all patrons co-operate to restore their proper appearance where necessary.

The postmaster announced today that the annual inspection of country mail routes will be made early in April, and attention will be paid to the condition of the boxes as well as other matters.

During the freezing winter weather the boxes are often shoved out of place, over to one side too far and sometimes too far out, making it hard for the carrier to dispatch the mail with promptness.

When the check-up is made in May notice will also be paid to the paint, and should they need a fresh coat the patron will be so informed. This is the time of the year however when painting should be done. The name of the patron is also required on the box, but no R. I. D. address.

Numerous patrons will undoubtedly have to replace their present boxes this year, the postmaster said. Postal laws and regulations require that the new type, No. 2, be purchased for use. No. 2 provides ample space for both letters and parcel post.

Former Governor Martin Brumbaugh Fatally Stricken

Heart Attack Fatal To Former State Governor At Pinehurst, North Carolina

(International News Service) HUNTINGDON, Pa., March 15.—The body of Dr. Martin Grove Brumbaugh, educator, author and ex-governor of Pennsylvania, is expected to reach here, accompanied by Mrs. Brumbaugh, at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

According to word received here, the funeral party at 8 o'clock last night left Pinehurst, N. C., where a sudden heart attack shortly after noon yesterday had proved fatal to Dr. Brumbaugh an hour later.

Another Big Crowd Attends Hospital Show

REALIZE NEAT SUM FOR INSTITUTION

With another big crowd in attendance, and the experiences of the first evening behind them, members of the cast in the Minstrel and Revue, which was staged in the Cathedral auditorium for the benefit of the Jameson Memorial hospital, presented a finished performance last evening.

There was not a flaw that could be picked in last night's show. In spite of the fact that identically the same numbers were presented by the casts, it was given with a snap and precision which would have done credit to a professional organization and the final curtain was dropped at 11:15, the hour that had been promised by its conductors.

Messrs Reed McCullough and David Fisher, who have been responsible for the production for the benefit of the hospital, stated this morning that more than $1,000 had been realized from the two performances. Expenses this year were heavier than before because of the fact that a considerable amount of money had to be spent on costumes and stage setting.

During the course of the performance, Howard C. Richards called the attention of the audience to the fact that the Jameson Memorial hospital was given to the citizens of New Castle as an outright gift to them by the late David Jameson and his wife and daughter, and that a deeper appreciation of this gift should be shown by them of this fact.

Members of the committee and the hospital authorities are grateful to all those who have cooperated in making the show the splendid success that it was, and take this means of publicly expressing their appreciation. They are especially grateful to the members of the casts who have given their time and effort to this end.

It was announced today that a dinner and dance will be given for all the members of the cast in the Cathedral in the near future. Not one cent of the money for this purpose will be taken from the proceeds of the show.

Tells Croton Men That Church Must Recognize Power

Dr. Clarence E. Allen Of Erie, Says That Church Must Renew Its Position

Dr. Clarence E. Allen, pastor of the First M. E. church of Erie, speaking before the Second Mile Brotherhood of the Croton M. E. church last evening, told the men of the church that peace and prosperity in this country would not return until the church had recognized the needs of the present day and asserted itself in the manner that it should.

Dr. Allen's address on the subject of "The Church" showed that he has made a most searching inquiry into present day conditions and remedies which should be applied to correct them.

He stated that the church today was being looked upon by all classes of society with a searching eye, and that society wanted the church to be right. He stated that the church was an ideal institution, founded by Christ, the greatest idealist of all time.

He said that the two greatest powers in the world today for moulding public opinion are the press and the church. In spite of the fact, however, that most of the newspapers of the country are dry, there were a few great newspapers in metropolitan areas who have earned the sobriquet of the "wet press" who were endeavoring to speak for the majority of the people of the United States.

Dr. Allen stated that Congress had never been drier than at the present time, and that the good people of the United States have no reason to be alarmed over the present discussion of the eighteenth amendment, because it never will be repealed.

Referring to unemployment in the United States, Dr. Allen asserted that he felt the people of this country were adopting the wrong attitude in trying to suppress these people in their demonstrations. He said that there were more unemployed in the United States today than in either England or Russia, and that those Communists who were trying to stir them up were only encouraged by the opposition which they are encountering.

England, he felt, has the right idea in this matter. He stated that a man could get up in Hyde Park, London, and denounce the government and its institutions to their hearts content, but that these very people were doing this only earned the ridicule of right-thinking people, and the minute any lawlessness resulted from such meetings and speeches, the leaders were held responsible.

This has resulted in a wholesome respect for the law and has eliminated rioting and bloodshed.

"The church today stands supreme," in conclusion, he said, "but it must regain its spiritual authority in order to regain its commanding influence."

TWO KILLED WHEN CABIN PLANE FALLS

Photographer, Late For Trip, Escapes Death Near Cleveland, O.

CLEVELAND, O., Mar. 15.—Because of a delay in gathering his equipment, Lieut. Clyde Butler, aerial photographer of the 112th Observation Squadron, O. N. G., is alive today, while Richard R. Braggins, of 2945 Euclid Heights boulevard, Cleveland Heights, and David Bunnin, 732 East 105th street, who were to accompany him on a flight to Warren, O., yesterday, are dead.

Braggins and Bunnin, a salesman for the Curtiss Air service, were killed on Friday when the Curtiss Robin plane which Braggins was piloting fell into a tail spin and crashed 1,500 feet to land in the orchard of John Kaminsky's farm on Cedar Point road, just west of Rocky River, in the Metropolitan Park territory.

Both men were mangled unrecognizably and the plane was reduced to scrap of tangled wire and steel. The engine was buried five feet in the ground. The plane plunged between two apple trees, not more than 30 feet apart, breaking only a few twigs from one tree.

The plane had flown over from Hennick airport to pick up Lieut. Butler, also a Curtiss employee, who was to fill a contract for aerial photographs at Warren. When Butler failed to appear on time Maj. John Berry, airport superintendent, said Bunnin suggested they go up for a short spin while waiting for a short spin while waiting for a

SANDUSKY, O., March 15—Commercial fishermen throughout the Sandusky, Huron, Vermilion, Lakeside and Lake Erie Islands regions were all set last night for the opening of the spring fishing season at midnight.

Arrangements for getting the fleet into the lake fishing grounds with the coming of daylight tomorrow were said to be complete.

Gill netters promise first returns Sunday if weather conditions remain favorable.

The trap netters do not expect to haul their twine before late Monday or Tuesday.

The opening at hand is the most auspicious of recent years. Except between Kelley's Island and Put-in-Bay there is little ice.

More than 1,000 men will be afforded employment or benefited otherwise by the opening of the fishing season, according to estimates to-night.

MERCER NEWS

A memorial service will be preached in the Presbyterian church Sunday evening by Dr. O. H. L. Mason in memory of the late William Howard Taft, former President and chief justice. A cordial invitation is extended to the public to assist in paying tribute to this great man.

The meeting of the borough council is to be held this evening with a discussion of the borough finances. The committee is making a study of the situation before making out their budget for the year. The financial condition is rather poor now due to the large amount of money used last year in the extensive street work. However, all this work was necessary and was a benefit to the whole community. Rigid economy will be practiced by the council this year.

W. A. Boyd, for many years a member of the board of directors of the Stoneboro Fair Association, was honored by the Pennsylvania State Association of County Fairs when they named him a member of the executive committee at the annual meeting held in Harrisburg on Tuesday.

The members of the boys' basketball team were entertained Thursday evening at dinner by Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Richardson, "Bill" Richardson, their son, played forward on the team throughout the season and is in the graduating class this year. The basketball squad was there and Coach H. L. Kelly. Following the dinner a few speeches were made and a pleasant evening followed.

Dr. and Mrs. Gaylord Buchanan and daughter Betty returned home Wednesday evening after spending the winter in Magnolia Springs. They report a wonderful time, with many great experiences. On their way home they missed a hurricane by a few minutes.

LANSING, Mich., March 15.—If the Beach Manufacturing Co. of Charlotte, Mich., so desires it may have the entire township of Sheridan, in Gladwin county, in payment of a claim of $500 for road machinery against the township.

Emerson R. Boyles, deputy attorney general, has so informed the company, but he added the stipulation that acceptance of the offer meant assumption by the company of a bonded indebtedness of $10,000 of the township and the liability of paving taxes on the property.

Only one family now lives in the township and it may move out at any time. There is no money in the township treasury and, in fact, there is not even a treasurer.

NEW CHRYSLER SIX

$845

3-WINDOW 4-DOOR ROYAL SEDAN

The Lowest-Priced six ever to bear the Chrysler name

Chrysler today introduces a brand-new Chrysler Six—priced from $795 to $845—the lowest-priced six ever to bear the Chrysler name.

Here is Chrysler engineering—with such progressive developments as internal-expanding 4-wheel hydraulic brakes; 62-horsepower high-compression engine mounted on rubber; Iso-therm pistons; fuel pump instead of a vacuum tank; low-swung chassis; special-type spring shackles and hydraulic shock absorbers; small base wheels with large balloon tires; typically Chrysler-styled all-metal bodies of new design and rigid construction.

Here is Chrysler craftsmanship—that precision craftsmanship characteristic of Chrysler Standardized Quality.

$795

F. O. B. Detroit (Special Equipment Extra)

Here is Chrysler performance—all of that snap, speed, smoothness and stamina for which Chrysler has been famous ever since its beginning.

Inspection, trial and comparison inevitably lead to the one positive conclusion that by all current measurements of performance, smartness, comfort, safety, economy and quality, the new Chrysler Six takes its place as the greatest six-cylinder value in the world.

We are eager to place a new Chrysler Six at your disposal—today.

The Parent Problem

by GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Build Sissy Type Of Boy Physically

Poor Sam; he is a sissy. He has no friends among the children of his age. He has many troubles, many sorrows—a very unhappy child.

Not all "sissy boys" are frail and under weight, but most are. The sissy rarely feels competent to take his part in the open. When overwhelmed or intimidated by another child he cries and runs complaining to his mother who generally appears in his defense. She almost always fights his battles for him, assures him that he is in the right.

He tries to get even with his antagonist by attacking in ambush and by taunting things when he feels himself completely safe. He tries to get other children into trouble by tattling on them and, if it seems necessary to him, to lie about them.

He plays up to adults for their approval, and strives to excel in conforming to the grown-up conventions in which the average child ranks low.

Other children see through Sam's strategy and make fun of him. When they tease him he usually flies into a fit of crying rage, making himself appear more ridiculous, only to be laughed at more.

In order to help Sam, build him up physically. Perhaps he needs more sleep, more cod liver oil, more milk. Your doctor will advise you on such matters. Bring up his weight. A powerful motive to increase his appetite for proper quality and quantity of foods will seize him if you can help him see that as he grows heavier and stronger he will be better able to defend himself.

Strive to make him rugged. Praise him for every evidence of courage in respect to pain and readiness to "rough it." Never fight his battles for him. Let him learn to settle his own quarrels. Find some one to teach him boxing lessons. Once he feels that he can defend himself when attacked by another boy of his age he will acquire new confidence and the joyous experience of self-respect.

Two Robber Bands Held At Meadville

MEADVILLE, Mar. 15.—Two groups of boys and young men, one numbering 14 youths ranging between the ages of 9 and 15 and the other consisting of four between the ages of 18 and 22, were before Chief of Police L. M. Hays for investigation into their activities of petty thieving.

The younger boys were charged with pilfering tool boxes belonging to the Keystone Construction company in the remodeling of several houses on Columbia avenue. The boys were members of a fifth ward "gang," ambitious toward the building for themselves of a "bunk house."

A half dozen hatchets, several hammers, steel tapes and flashlights were among the articles taken, most of which were recovered.

ST LOUIS OFFICER TELLS OF HIS FUTILE EFFORT TO CAPTURE FUGITIVES

Stopped Irene And Dague In St. Louis On January 4, But They Opened Fire On Him And Made Getaway—Irene Was Dressed As Boy—Identifies Both In Court Here Today

Only the whimsy of a kindly fate spared Patrolman William Kiessling of the Missouri Highway Patrol from same death meted out to Corporal Brady Paul and Deputy Sheriff Lee Wright of Phoenix, Arizona, it developed in this morning's session of the case against Irene Schroeder which has been on since Monday in the Lawrence County Court House.

Three times the doughty officer was fired at point blank, as he struggled with Glenn Dague and twice from the rear by Irene Schroeder, and three times the bullets miraculously went through his clothes without scratching him. With the Trigger Blonde at his back attempting to drill him with lead, with Dague in front of him attempting to blow his brains out, Kiessling, a slightly built officer tried to handle them both but the infuriated pair of police killers were too much for him and he was felled by a blow to the chin.

Steal His Gun

As he sank to the sidewalk, dazed, Dague stole Kiessling's gun, but in a moment the St. Louis man recovered, jumped to his feet and started firing with another gun he had with him. The bandits were fleeing up the street in their stolen car by that time and escaped.

Kiessling's testimony was a tensely dramatic tale, recited in a matter-of-fact voice. Such a story needed no inflection, no gesticulation, no artificial color, for as he testified the mind's eye instinctively caught sight of a pair of desperadoes, trying for the life of an officer, struggling in a narrow street, and in cowardly fashion which marked the killing of Brady Paul, attempting to lay Kiessling away.

For the first time since the trial opened, Irene's expression changed as Kiessling testified. She was amused at the selection of the jury, she grinned as Ernest Moore re-enacted the murdering of Paul, she was bored as Mrs. John A. Crowl told of Paul's dying as he lay on the operating table, but with Kiessling's testimony it was different.

Fear In Her Eyes.
Fear mingled with defiance as sighted down on Brady Paul, on Kiessling, on Lee Wright, fear that might have been born of an awakening to the fact that the shadow of the electric chair is hovering over her at the present time. For a time she attempted to brazen it out by staring at Kiessling, but that cool, matter-of-fact testimony of the St. Louis officer, that absolute lack of bravado as he told of the murderous attack upon him by Irene and Glenn was too much for even her and she dropped her eyes, to escape the cold rage that was in the eyes of Kiessling. Her face flushed, she became nervous, and while she did not break, it was the first sign of any crumbling of that marble fronted composure of hers that has carried her through up to this point.

Dague Flushes.

Charles Crowl was recalled as the first witness of the day. He testified that he had received Brady Paul's cartridge belt. No cartridges were extracted. The belt was placed with the storm coat. Later it was placed on the body of Brady Paul and buried with him. The testimony of this witness was to explain to the jury where the belt was.

Sergeant W. J. Beynan of the highway patrol was recalled. He testified to taking the belt of Brady Paul up to the patrol headquarters, polished the belt and cartridge holder before the belt was placed on Brady Paul's body for burial. He saw that the ornaments, badge and cartridges had been chromium plated, a custom among patrolmen for neatness. He found no bullet holes or intentions in the belt.

Ex-Sheriff Reynolds.

Ex-Sheriff H. M. "Buck" Reynolds was called.

On December 27, 1929, were you the sheriff?

A. Yes.
Q. Did you see the Chevrolet car in question?
A. I did.

Picture offered in evidence and submitted.

Clark Rutter was called but did not answer.

Deputy Sheriff Reynolds was recalled to the stand.

Q. On Feb. 20 last when Rutter the photographer, took pictures of the Chevrolet, were you present?
A. Yes.

Q. Were you there when the photographs were taken?
A. Yes.

Today it came to light with all its sordid features and as Kiessling related his story the jury sat horror stricken as they heard how this pudgy, characterless, 21 year old blonde tried to shoot him down from the back, and only failed because Kiessling's Guardian Angel seemed to be on the job that night.

Comes To Light.

Today it came to light with all its sordid features and as Kiessling related his story the jury sat horror stricken as they heard how this pudgy, characterless, 21 year old blonde tried to shoot him down from the back, and only failed because Kiessling's Guardian Angel seemed to be on the job that night.

The testimony of the officer sobered the Crawford family sitting on the front seat of the court room directly in back of Irene. They came here to help save their baby sister according to a statement sometime ago of one of the sisters, and today they learned just how their "baby sister" learned when policemen tried to apprehend her.

Previously they had heard witnesses describe how their "baby sister" had poured a rain of leaden

A. Yes. Telegrams were sent out over the country.
Q. Any messages sent outside Pennsylvania?
A. Yes. One to St. Louis, Mo., to the captain of detective.
Q. Do you have a copy of the telegram?
A. Yes.
Jarrett objected at this point over the way Margiotti was examining to which Margiotti replied: "The trouble, Mr. Jarrett, is that I know my case and you don't know anything about it."

Witness identified a telegram sent to St. Louis. He produced a copy of a circular sent out.

Q. Were the defendants named in the circular?
A. Yes.
Q. What names did you use?
A. Glenn Dague, Tom Crawford and Irene Crawford.

Q. Did the newspapers carry accounts of persons wanted?
A. Yes.
Q. Had you obtained pictures of any of the three?
A. We did.
Q. Whose pictures?
A. Glenn Dague and Irene Crawford or Irene Schroeder.

Cross-examination.

The telegram was offered for evidence but the offer was withdrawn.

Q. Find any other car at about the same place?
A. No, just my uniform.

Shows Coat.

Q. How was Mrs. Schroeder dressed?
A. Like a boy in from the country in overalls, a man's coat and a man's hat.

Q. Would you know that gun if it was shown?
A. If it was mine I would know it.

Q. Gun shown to witness and after examining it he said "That gun belongs to me."

Q. What identifying marks are on it?
A. This rubber and the block of wood.

Q. What is the number of your gun?
A. 568.517.

Q. Is that number on the gun?
A. It is.

Q. When did you next see this gun?
A. Just now.

Q. Was this a business or residence section of St. Louis?
A. It was in the jewelry section.

Q. Do you know if the woman shot?
A. I don't know.

A. Yes, I believe they were.

Q. Any question that these are the people?
A. None whatsoever.

Cross-examined by Jarrett:
Q. What time did you say you first saw them?
A. About 9:45.

Latest

GLENN DAGUE

Latest picture of Glenn Dague charged with Irene Schroeder with murder of Corporal Brady Paul.

A. Not more than 30 minutes later. Commonwealth offers in evidence the part of the indictment referring to Irene Schroeder and Glenn Dague.

Saw Irene

Q. Where were you when you saw the defendant?

A. I was patrolling the street.

Q. What part of St. Louis?

A. On Morgan street, between 6th and 7th.

Q. How was your attention attracted?

A. Saw car going west less than ordinary speed.

Q. What about it attracted attention?

A. One of the party was trying to conceal themselves.

Q. Who was driving?

A. Dague.

Q. Who was trying to conceal himself?

A. That woman.

Q. When you observed this car did you have an automobile?

A. No.

Q. What did you see?

A. I saw the man driving, saw he had a mustache and recalled the bullet. I saw them again. They had travelled for about a block and passed me but at a distance. I requested a passing motorist to drive me up to them.

Q. What did you do?

A. I approached this machine and got within 10 feet and blew my whistle and commanded the driver to stop. He did and when I got within 5 or 6 feet the man stepped out of the automobile. I said Buddy I want to question you. His feet were almost on the ground. His hand was concealed but his elbow and arm were inside the car. Suddenly I was confronted with a gun and he shot directly at my heart. I stepped in on him and threw his aim off. Here the witness illustrated the fight using Margiotti as a foil.

Shots Follow

"His shot went along my arm and I tried to get an arm lock on him. I heard several clicks of a gun followed by two shots. I didn't see the gun but I heard it. It was jammed right into me."

We scuffed and I thought I might get the man. I believe he was weakening, he was going down. Then the woman left the car with a weapon pointed at me.

Q. Did anything else occur?

A. I tried to scuffle him between her and I so in case she fired he would be between us.

Q. What else occurred?

A. I reached for my gun, but before I could do so I was hit. Dague gave me a rap on the jaw then took my gun from me.

Q. Did the blow day you?

A. It did. I got up and reached for my other gun and fired at them.

Q. How far away were they?

A. Forty or fifty feet.

Q. How was the man dressed?

A. Dark clothing.

Dressed Like Boy.

Q. How was Mrs. Schroeder dressed?

A. Like a boy in from the country in overalls, a man's coat and a man's hat.

Q. Would you know that gun if it was shown?

A. If it was mine I would know it.

Q. Gun shown to witness and after examining it he said "That gun belongs to me."

New Castle—Duquesne Play In Semi-Final

Schoolboy Teams Clash Tonight In Battle For Crown

New Castle High Confident Of Good Showing At Pitt Stadium Tonight

Is Fourth Meeting Between Dukes And Red And Black In Tourney

Play

THE undefeated New Castle high school basketball team, after being idle for one week will again don their red and black uniforms to clash in the semi-finals of the W. P. I. A. L. schoolboy tournament at Pittsburgh against a fast and smooth Duquesne high school quintet this evening at the Pitt Stadium. The whistle to start the tilt will blow exactly at 8:00. One of the best games played so far in this tourney is expected to be enacted.

Fourth Meeting of Teams

Duquesne and New Castle have clashed against each other three times in the past five years. Tonight will mark the fourth time that these two schoolboy floor teams from the two institutions will play in the annual schoolboy tourney. Duquesne defeated New Castle twice while the Lawrence Countians hung one defeat on the necks of the steelers.

The teams met for the first time in 1927. New Castle had the Duquesne lads licked until the final few minutes when they were nosed out by two points. The following year saw these two teams on the same floor again. This time it was a different tale. The red and black uniformed boys trounced their rivals 17-14 and won the schoolboy trophy.

The next year New Castle met Duquesne in the semi-finals and the game turned out to be rout. Duquesne got revenge for that defeat administered the year before. They won by 31 points. This year they meet again in the semi-finals. The winner will advance to the finals while the losers will go home broken hearted.

Duquesne had a rather tough time entering this scramble for honors. They first nosed out Rankin to win the sectional laurels. In the first round they finished a nose ahead of Swissvale. The score was 28-26. Last night realizing that a win would place them in a condition of meeting none other than their rivals New Castle they came in front by another small margin. They took the measure of North Braddock 27-24.

Captain Bridenbaugh predicted that Duquesne would be the team his cohorts would meet. As a result he has been drilling his lads for the past week. Friday afternoon was the final rehearsal and Bridenbaugh stated that his passers are all set for the go. New Castle is going down to Pitt Stadium with 18 straight victories on the winning column. They have never been defeated this season. Will Duquesne be the first team to turn the trick? Tonight will tell the tale.

Statistics from Duquesne show that the Steelers are in the best condition for this game and feel confident of sending the local high boys home with the first defeat. Both teams are evenly matched. Beck and Harapas are the forwards who have been going great guns on the floor this season for Duquesne. These two will have to be guarded like leaches. They were the ones responsible for North Braddock's defeat. Mr. Regis McAuley and Nick Uram the local two lads who see that the defense harmonizes and that the forwards from the opposing team do not score too much will take care of Beck-Harapas and company.

Captain Alexander will take care of Dorik spectacular pivot man. Francis Wainio and Russell will do their stuff at forward for the locals. Luther Rowe who has been impressive in workouts of late will be ready to enter the fray at any time.

Large Crowd Expected

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner said today that the plans for the game are all "O. K." The special train to leave the West Washington street station from the P. and L. E. is waiting for 5:45 when it will depart from the tin city. The railroad fare costs $1.75 round trip. Special street cars will be on hand at the station to transport the fans to the Pitt stadium. The special train will leave Pittsburgh at 10:00 o'clock. The tickets for the game cost fifty cents here. At Pittsburgh they cost $1.00.

Due to the rivalry between the teams and the past performances of both quintets, the largest crowd to witness a tournament game so far is expected to witness this fracas.

The local basketball squad which includes Rowe, Captain Alexander, Wainio, Hannon, McAuley, McKisick, Nick Uram and John Uram, Andrew Lasky, Winter, Marvin and Shaffer left this afternoon at 2:55. Accompanying them were, Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner, Head Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh, Assistant Coaches Thomas and Klee, Principal F. L. Orth of the high school, Assistant Principal E. R. Patterson, Charles Landolt of the News, Student Manager William Long and Assistant Manager Jack Ward.

Three Games In Church League

Temple Israel, Third U. P., And Central Christians Take Victories

Three games were played in the New Castle church basketball league at the "Y" on Friday night.

The Temple Israel boys after getting away to a bad start in the first half of their game with the Lutherans and being held to 5 to 4 got going better in the final half and won 24 to 4. The Lutherans were held to two field goals. The entire Temple team played good basketball. The Lutherans were held scoreless the entire half of the battle.

The Third U. P. team gave the First M. E. boys a setback 26 to 16. The score at half time favored the Third U. P. team 10 to 5. It was a good game.

The Central Christians downed the First M. E. team 46 to 23 in the final game on the bill. The score at the half favored the Christians 23 to 13. The fine playing of A. Baumann in the final half gave the Christians a big lead. The playing of J. Solomon, Fiorelli and Nolen featured for Croton.

Al Friedman Meets Rocco Monday Night

Would Not Be Surprising Were Heavyweight Battle "Sell Out" Owing To Friedman's Spurt And Rocco's Knockout Of Keely; Rocco Hopes To Win And Capture Friedman's Thunder; Fans Coming From Various Points To See Battle.

Fistic folk of New Castle should see a sensational duel in pugil Monday night at Jolly bowl when Al Friedman, Boston and Emmett Rocco, Ellwood City, clash in a bout listed for 10 chapters. Whether the bout goes the limit depends upon the punching ability and assimilative qualities of the rivals. An upset for either will only mean a fall in prestige but a sharp jolt to the pocketbook.

Friedman will step through light work tomorrow afternoon at Dime's gym and Rocco will do likewise at his South Mill street training quarters. Friedman is reported in the pink of condition and fans who watched Rocco batter training partners throughout the week have stamped approval on his form.

TRY FOR KNOCKOUT

Al Lippe, manager of Friedman, has word here that Al will try to put Rocco away. He wrote: "Friedman is going over big as his recent fight w/ Griffiths indicates. He has to win decisively from Rocco to keep his record unsmirched. I'm going to send him out to try for a knockout with every punch."

When Al Zill heard this he remarked: "Rocco has had two fights beneath his belt and he is in good condition. He will exchange blow for blow with the Boston heavyweight if Rocco hits Friedman on the chin Al will go down. Emmett is in good condition and will be able to go 10 rounds at top speed."

MANY CHOICE OFFERS

Friedman, it is reported, has been offered a bout by Tor McArdle of Madison Square garden. He is wanted to meet the winner of the Risko-Campolo bout. Scott Monteith has offered him a tilt with either Paolina Griffiths or Mickey Walker. Chicago has offered Carnera and Boston either Maloney or Sharkey.

Suey Welsh of Akron will be present as he is anxious to sign Rocco for the semi-final should be an exciting battle and whether it goes six rounds will be up to Ralph Caution, colored middleweight of Cleveland who has challenged Henry Firpo and Henry Attel. Caution is said to be some pumpkins as a boxer.

Don Morse of Jamestown, N. Y., a 122 pounder of whom little is known excepting he has won his last six fights will take on Frankie Lands, a flashy South Sider and in the opening six rounder Tommy Arnold and Billy Murphy, West Side welterweights will determine supremacy.

Commissioner Havey Boyle will not designate the referee and judges until Monday night. The doors will be open at 7:15 p. m. and the first preliminary will start promptly at 8:30 p. m., regardless of weather conditions. Predictions are that the biggest crowd of the year will be present.

May Be "Sell-Out"

The semi-final should be an exciting battle and whether it goes six rounds will be up to Ralph Caution, colored middleweight of Cleveland who has challenged Henry Firpo and Henry Attel. Caution is said to be some pumpkins as a boxer.

Should there be no court at the Schroeder trial, it is reported that Sheriff Wright and his deputies will attend the battle as will visiting scribes. It will be something of a break in their official duties. Owing to the positions Rocco and Friedman occupy in their following hundreds will come from out of town.

Reports from various towns say that delegations are being arranged. One crowd from Pittsburgh will come here in a bus. Advance reservations have been ordered for 25. Ellwood City will send at least 300 fans and Youngstown where both are popular will be represented as will Mercer and Beaver county towns.

Is "The Haig" Through?

Library Has New Books Here

New Books Labeled As Part Of "Reading With A Purpose" Series Of Volumes

ELLWOOD CITY, March 15.—Mrs. Catherine Charles, librarian of the public library, announces that several new books have been added to the ever-growing collection of fine fiction and history in the library.

With the interest of the world focused on the London naval conference, the movement toward international peace is again the center of speculation. The library has a booklet by George H. Locke on "English History" which throws much light on the situation today. "What the world needs in its critical situation today," Dr. Locke declares in the opening pages, "is more knowledge of its neighbors, their origin, their struggles and their ideals." Dr. Locke has for 21 years been chief librarian in Toronto. His course on reading with a purpose is very popular and more than 600,000 copies of the courses are reaching the readers in industries, schools, colleges and clubs.

W.C.T.U. Furthering Plans For Pageant

ELLWOOD CITY, March 15.—The regular monthly meeting of the W. C. T. U. took place Friday evening at the home of Mrs. J. E. VanGorder of Line avenue.

There was a good percentage of members in attendance and Mrs. Robert Grandey reported that progress was being made on the preparation of the pageant "Miss Liberty Bell" that will be presented in April.

Later nice refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. William Brennen and Mrs. Ray VanGorder.

Orange Ladies Plan Social Meeting

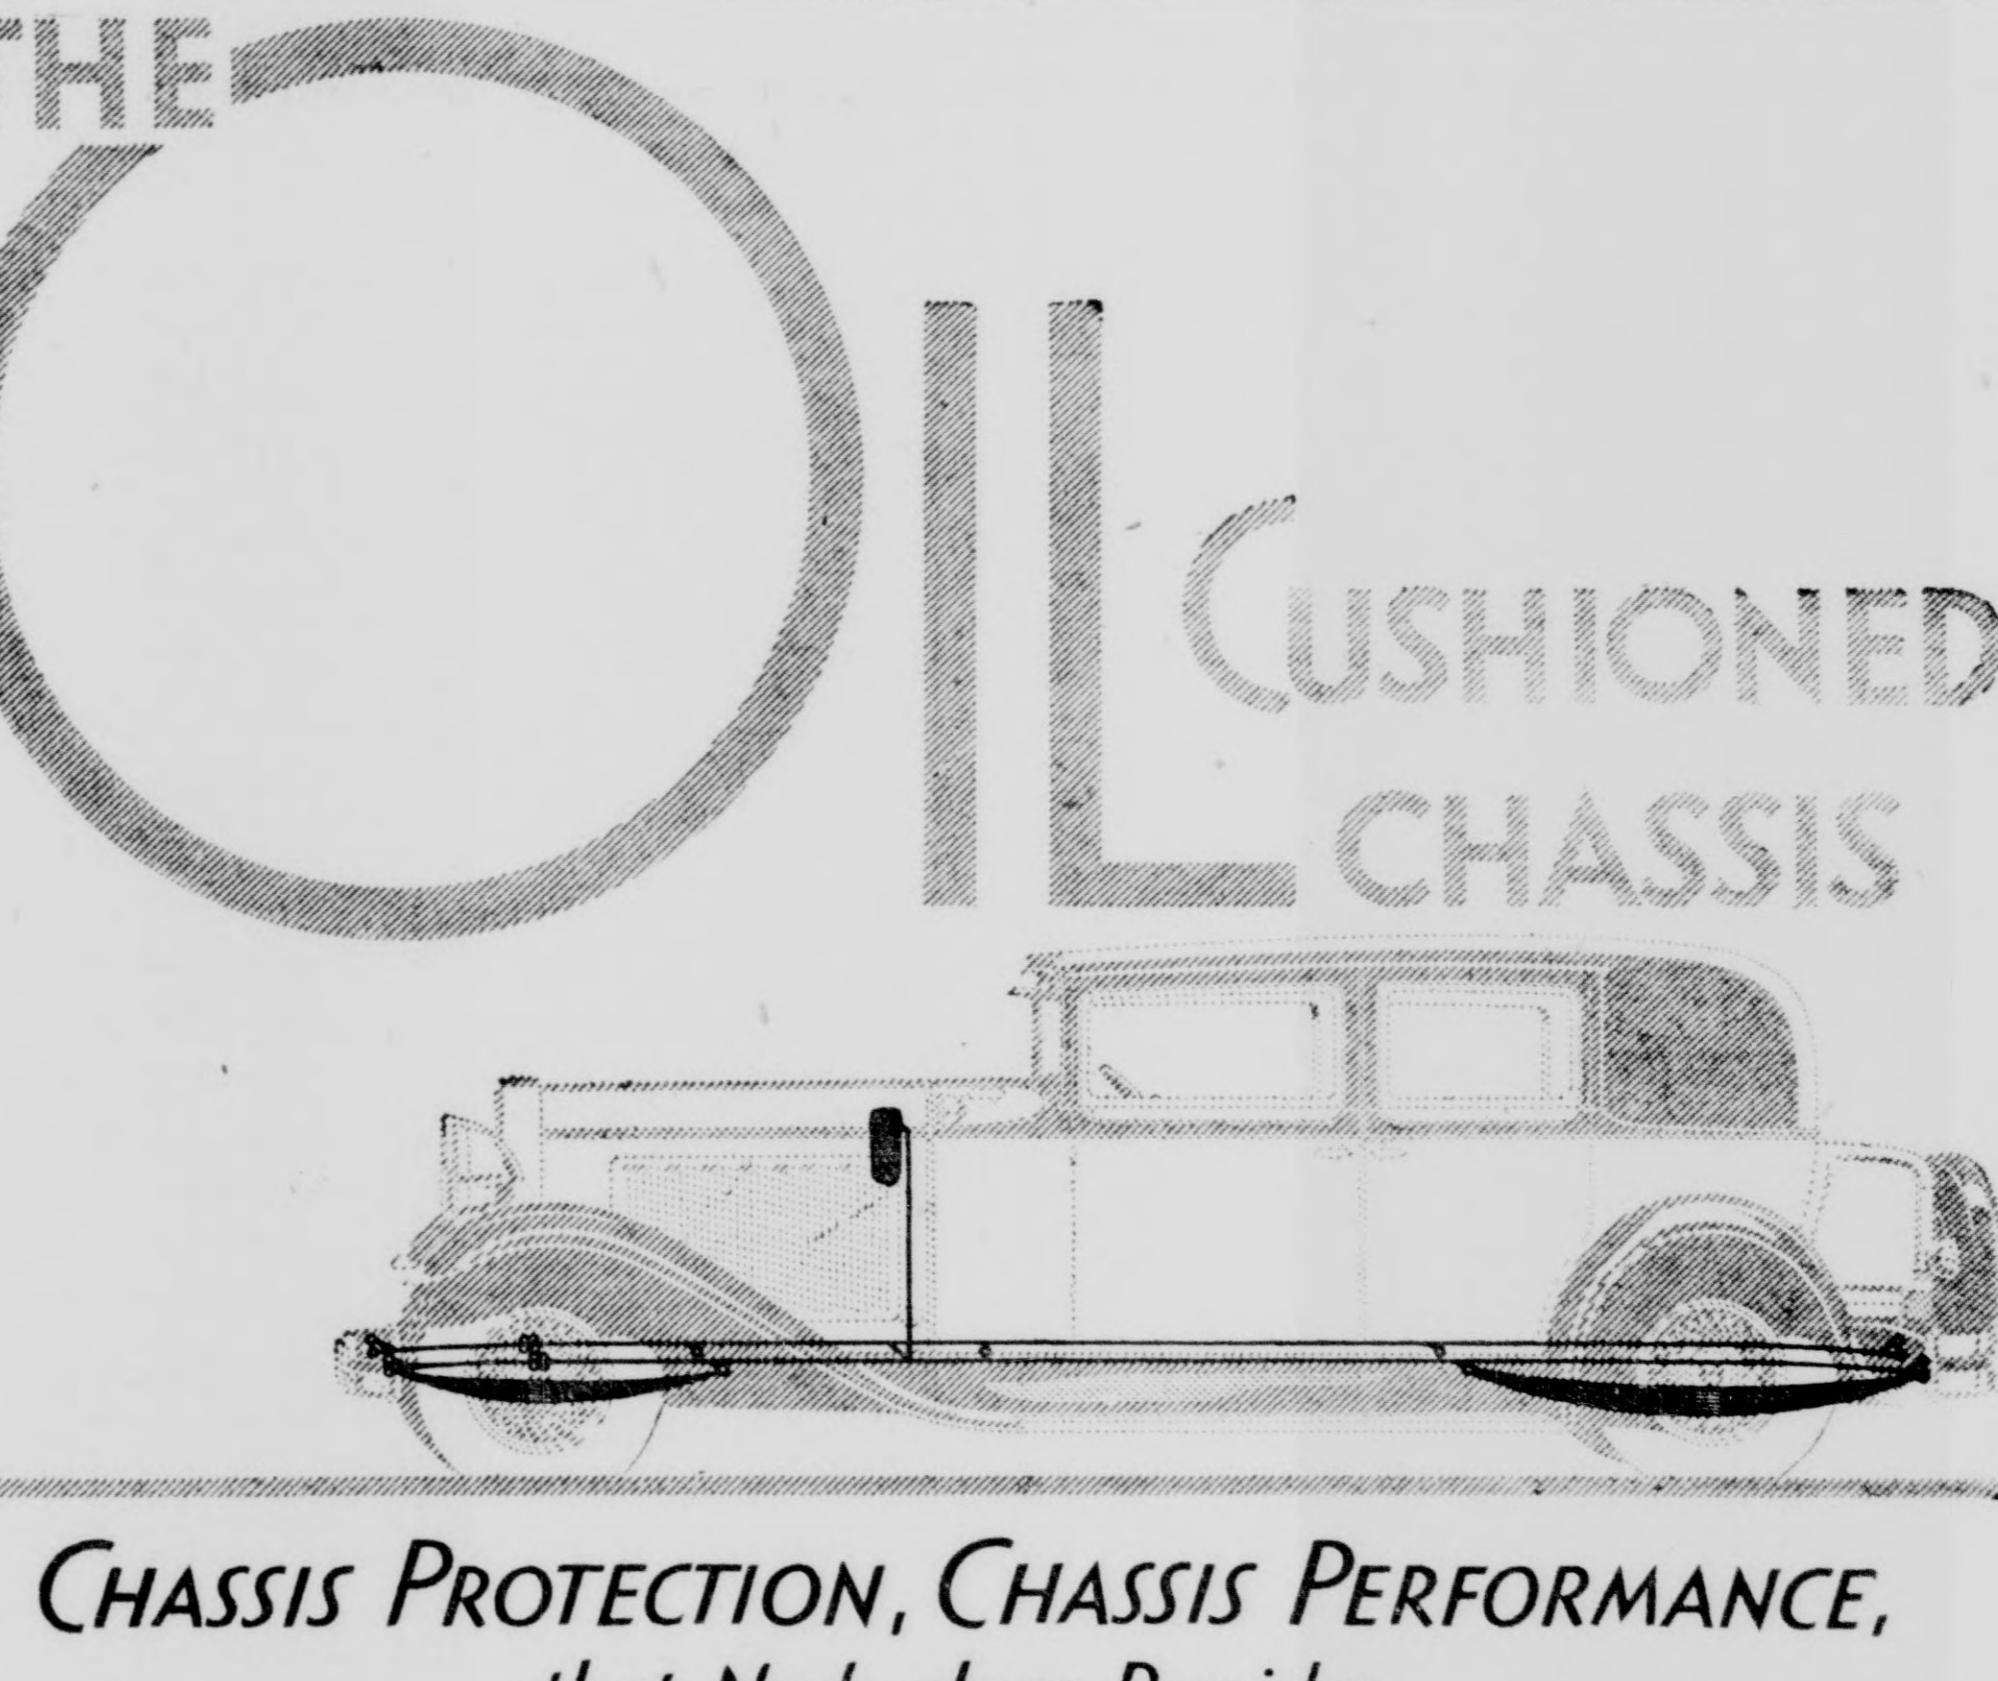

ELLWOOD CITY, March 15.—Forty members of the Orange Ladies Lodge enjoyed a tureen meeting Friday evening in their rooms in the Sheweller building.

Hockey goalie has introduced a new nose guard for protection. How about a suit of armor for the spectator.

Wilbert Robinson says he will count on his pitchers—in other words he hopes other teams won't count off them.

The best feature about spring football is that there are no cheer leaders.

Last night's meeting concluded with a social period and games of 500.

Special Services At Temple Israel

Mrs. Dorothy Fulheim Gives Interesting Address Friday Night

Observance of Council Sabbath at Temple Israel, Highland Avenue, Friday evening, under the auspices of the New Castle Section of the Council of Jewish women was largely attended and proved of unusual interest not only to the members of the council, but also to the members of Temple Israel and their assembled friends, which filled the Temple auditorium.

Special services in keeping with the observance, and the Jewish Faith were carried out by members of the council and Rabbi J. B. Menkes and the address of the evening was presented by Mrs. Dorothy Fulheim of Cleveland, who is well known here because of her numerous appearances at Temple Israel in the presentation of series of lectures.

The address of Mrs. Fulheim was a highly inspirational appeal for the elimination of wars and the training of future generations so that pride of country would take the form of honoring those achieving distinction in scientific and similar lines, rather than along lines that result from the activities of armed forces in the field of battle.

She took as her text the fourth verse of second chapter of the Book of Isaiah, in which the Prophet describes the time that will come when nation shall no longer lift up the sword against another nation and war shall be no more desired.

Her opening remarks in regard to the fact that the Jewish Nation was a chosen people, not as she saw it for the purpose of gaining material wealth but because they treat others as they treat their God. She expressed the hope that it might be a member of her race that would be the leader in the elimination of wars and all their horrors.

The choir rendered special numbers during the service with most pleasing effect and the floral decorations of the occasion were presented by Miss Ida Cohen in honor of her mother Mrs. Harry Cohen's birthday and Rabbi and Mrs. J. B. Menkes in honor of their son Sherwood's birthday.

Following the service, adjournment was made to the assembly room, where refreshments were served by the Hospitality Committee of the New Castle Section of the Council of Jewish Women.

The program carried out follows: Meditation; Council Opening Prayer, Mrs. E. Kaplan; Sabbath Hymn, Choir; Friday evening services, Mrs. E. Kaplan; Anthem, Choir; Bible

Reading from Esther Chapter 4. Mrs. B. Kline; Union Prayer Book Pages 34-35. Rabbi J. B. Menkes, Announcements, Mrs. Marcus Feuchtwanger; Solo, Mrs. Dreher; Introduction of Speaker, Mrs. Marcus Feuchtwanger; Address, Mrs. Dorothy Fulheim of Cleveland; Council Hymn by Assembly; Closing Prayer, Mrs. Marcus Feuchtwanger; Benediction, Rabbi J. B. Menkes.

To Present Program At Tifereth Israel

Pupils Of Religious School To Give Program On Sunday Evening

The story of Esther, the Hebrew queen, saved her people from destruction planned for them by the scheming Haman, will be beautifully told in song and verse at the Tifereth Israel Synagogue, South Jefferson street, on Sunday night at 7:30 p.m. by a number of the pupils of the Religious School.

Every reader of the Bible will remember Esther, at the instance of Mordecai, saved her people from the machinations of Haman, who, because of his hatred of Mordecai, would have destroyed the whole Hebrew race.

It is in honor of Esther's success in averting such a tragedy that the pupils of the Tifereth Israel Religious School will celebrate the Feast of Purim Sunday night with a delightful program.

Rabbi J. Shapo, minister of the congregation, will have charge of the program, some of the outstanding features of which will be some dances under the supervision of Miss Bella Katz, a solo rendered by Miss Iris Rosenberg, and a Purim play coached by Miss Florence Shapo.

Pleasant Hill Grange To Meet

The next regular meeting of the Pleasant Hill grangers will be Thursday, March 20, at 7:30 p.m. During the lecture hour a St. Patrick program will be presented. Roll call will be answered by Irish stories or jokes the history of St. Patrick and myths of St. Patrick's day will be given by James McConnell and Chauncey Boots. There will be singing and recitations and a guessing contest. A full evening of enjoyment has been planned.

Killed By Fumes From Auto Exhaust

SALINEVILLE, O., March 15.—John Grant, 42, manager of the Standard Oil company, was found asphyxiated from carbon monoxide gas under a motor truck here.

His death followed an attempt to repair the machine while its motor was running in a closed garage.

The ideal naval conference would be one in which each nation was allowed to designate the class of ships it wanted everybody to scrap; this would result in total disarmament—New York Times.

First Pre-Easter Class On Friday

Rev. W. W. Sniff Conducts First Class Of Series Friday After School

The first pre-Easter class of a series of six was conducted Friday afternoon in the Madison Avenue Christian church. Rev. W. W. Sniff is teacher. These classes to be conducted each Friday, are for the purpose of studying the life of Christ. They are for children and young people of the Christian church and of other denominations if they care to come.

Mr. Sniff has conducted these classes just before Easter the past several years. They have always been interesting and enjoyed by the children attending. Children who could not attend the first class may still join at the second class on next Friday.

In all there will be a series of six classes. One each Friday after school. The last class will be on Good Friday.

Second Performance Of Minstrel Is Fine

The basement of the Mahoning M. E. church was again filled to capacity Friday evening for the second performance of the minstrel show. The program went over big with their audiences both Thursday and Friday evenings. Singing by the soloists and chorus was good and enjoyed. Jokes and funny stories by the end men again kept their audience laughing. All parts were well taken.

This minstrel was presented by the Men's Bible class of the church taught by J. M. Yates. The men taking part have been holding rehearsals the past several weeks. Proceeds realized from the sale of tickets will be put in the Joash chest. A Joash campaign has been conducted in this church since the second Sunday of January. The campaign ends with Easter Sunday.

JOINT MEETING

Sabbath school classes of the Madison Avenue Christian church taught by Mrs. J. W. Jones, Mrs. E. M. Jones and Mrs. J. G. Moore had their joint class meeting Friday evening at the home of Bernice Hammond of Lafayette street. Twelve were present. The hours were enjoyed spent in playing games. At a seasonable hour refreshments were served by Mrs. Charles Hammond and daughters Frances and Bernice Hammond.

STATIONS OF THE CROSS

The second of the Stations of the Cross services was conducted Friday evening in St. Margaret's church. There will be Sunday evening in the church. Special Lenten services are being conducted each Friday and Sunday evening.

Crash May Be Fatal To Man

Man Directing Traffic Is Hit By Postmasters Car

ROCHESTER, Pa., March 15.—Walter Empire, 45, First avenue, New Brighton, an employee of the Beaver Valley Water Company, Beaver Falls, is in the Rochester Hospital with a fractured skull, fractures of both arms and a compound fracture of the leg. His condition is reported serious.

State highway patrolmen say the man was run down along the Freedrom road by Roy R. Rhodes, postmaster at Freedom. Rhodes was released on his own recognition pending the outcome of Empire's injuries.

The water company had made an excavation near the Freedom Oil Works Company and Empire was directing traffic around the ditch when the accident occurred, police say.

Rhodes is reported to have damaged his car and to have driven to Freedom for help. A passing motorist took the injured man to the hospital.

Find Driver Guilty Of Killing Woman

EBENSBURG, March 15.—Peter Kober of Patton was found guilty on charges of manslaughter and operating a car while under the influence of alcohol, but was not sentenced pending the outcome of a motion for a new trial. Kober's machine collided with another January 13, resulting in the death of Mrs. Mary Lehman, aged 68 years.

Manages Debaters On Southern Trip

FRED WILLIAMS

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., March 15.—Fred Williams, Carnegie, a member of the junior class at Westminster College, is student manager of the debate team which left here this morning for a southern tour which will take them to seven states. Eight inter-collegiate contests have been arranged.

Mr. Williams, a member of Theta Upsilon Omega fraternity and a varsity debater of experience as well as a member of the honorary forensic fraternity, wrote some 50 letters getting the southern schedule arranged. He has contests carded with Waynesburg College at Waynesburg, Pa.; Western Maryland at Westminster, Md.; Erskine College at Due West, S.C.; George Wesleyan at Macon, Ga.; Roiling College at Winter Park, Fla.; Southern College at Lakeland, Fla.; Spring Hill College at Mobile, Ala.; and Transylvania at Lexington, Ky.

The men on the team are James Chambers, New Castle; Paul Campbell, Pittsburgh; and Frank Dowd, Beaver. Dr. C. A. Dawson, coach, will accompany the team on the trip. The Westminster party will travel by automobile and will return April 1.

Who's Who At Westminster

Dr. R. J. Love, head of the department of music at Westminster, is one of seven graduates of the college now on the faculty. Graduating from Westminster in 1885, Dr. Love received his M. A. degree in 1889. He was graduated from Pittsburgh Theological Seminary in 1903.

Westminster conferred upon him a Ph. D. degree in 1904, and at the commencement exercises in 1923 honored him with a D. D. degree.

Dr. Love has had considerable experience both as a teacher and a preacher. He was principal of the Knox college from 1890 to 1903. From 1903 to 1906 he was principal of the Oakland school, Pittsburgh. He has held pastorate in various United Presbyterian churches aggregating about 17 years.

Dr. Love came back to Westminster as professor of Bible in 1921. He has been associated with summer schools and summer conferences as student, teacher, and lecturer.

Dr. Love is the author of three religious booklets, a contributor to a number of church papers, is faculty advisor of the college Y. M. C. A. and is teacher of the Men's Bible class. He is a member of the faculty committees on athletics, the library committee, and is a member of the Senior class advisory committee.

The house met at 12 o'clock noon. The chaplain, Rev. James Sheram Montgomery, D. D., offered the following prayer:

"God, our Father, give all of us some small, sweet way to inspire some love and send it on its way rejoicing. Make the ordinary things of each day subservient, and keep us heroic and eager by the romance of spirituality which may enter our commonest tasks. O if life is of high value to us, it must come out of the living present and must throw with the blood of our daily lives. Father of mercy, forgive our sins and blot them out, not only in Thy book of remembrance but out of our minds and hearts. Clothe us with a deep sense of our responsibility, and may we faithfully and wisely fulfill the mission Thou hast given us. In the name of Christ, our Saviour. Amen."

No doubt th' undertakers get some cheer out o' th' thought that though th' thin ice season is passin', th' mushroom season'll soon be here.

Pretty Pink And Registered Letters Are Most Popular, Says Local Letter Carrier

Thick letters in pretty pink and blue envelopes are the kind most young men and women look forward to receiving, according to Ted Clark, local letter carrier.

After delivering letters day after day, a mail carrier gets so that he knows just about what is in every letter.

This knowledge is obtained not by opening the letters and taking a peak, nor by holding them up to the light, and reading through them—maiden are not that curious. They may be written in ink, or in pencil, or in ink.

Then a silent satisfaction, if the hoped for letter arrives. And if the letter doesn't arrive, well, the young ladies have decided what to think, long before.

Next in popularity, according to Clark, are registered letters.

Upon second thought, Clark thinks these letters are just as popular as the pink letters. And upon third thought, they may be a trifle bit more popular.

Registered letter is a good synonym for alimony. Love letters are good for the heart, but no one ever heard of paying your rent with a pack of valentines.

When the letter carrier arrives at the doors of many houses, the young ladies of the homes are there on the spot, to get their mail. There is a look of expectancy on their faces, and erage trend of temperatures is expected to be upward from 18 to end of month, but northern cold waves will occur during this period.

During present era of low prices for farm products, there is an especially active movement to increase the farmers' income by using all possible vegetation to manufacture bi
